REAT RUSH TO GET LEASES

Sorts of Excitement Over Beaver and Hancock Oil Fields.

NUSES BEING OFFERED

the Envilege of Putting Down Test Wells in the Territory.

EASES ARE HARD TO OBTAIN

There is now all sorts of excitement Beaver and Hancock counties over prospect of a number of good oil ls coming in soon, and the field is racting no little attention. Big ney is being paid for leases and st sized bonuses are being given ely, just for the privilege of locat a well.

The Mike Finnicum well on the Al t Ferguson farm is now ready to pumped, and the oil from this well l be sold to the National Transit pany, which is the term applied to Southwest division of th Standard company. It was expected that aping from the Finnicum well uld start yesterday afternoon, as connections had been made, both he well and at the tanks.

V. C. Stewart, of Buffalo, N. Y., rominent oil man of that state, is latest arrival in the new oil field. is interested in a well being drill on the Spence farm. At this well Saturday, when a depth of about or more feet had been reached, the ie broke, allowing the tools to t to the bottom. There is a fishing on tap now, but drilling is ex ted to start again within a very rt time. A. Mr. Jennings, of Pitts g, and Mr. LeComte are bidding ainst each other for the Dr. Frank ughlin farm near Georgetown. Conences have been held in this city this purpose, and as yet the farm s not been leased.

The offering of a bonus to locate lls on farms in the vicinity of rgetown is increasing. Homer wson offered $1,000 to Tom Swearen last Friday for the right to ate a well on his farm of 50 acres, the offer was accepted. It must remembered that the one-eighth inest in the oil found is also addin to the monetary consideration. well was located on this farm terday and drilling is expected to rt soon.

On the Nathaniel Wright farm a bo s of $200 was given to locate a well a four-acre territory. The outlook this new field is most promising. Stanton Chapman, the oil operator, o has been leasing land in the ntry four miles south of Chester, ived in the city this morning from lliant, and went at once to the dis t in which he desires to put down t wells.

Mr. Chapman takes a very different w from the land owners and thinks outlook for development is anyng but bright, and unless owners of land in that vicinity nge their tactics considerably re will be no tests made soon.

The gentleman told a News Review porter this morning that he was ving difficulty in persuading the ners of land there to let it go. In ny cases but a few acres of an enre farm can be secured, and even n they insist upon a lease of but r months, which, according to Mr. apman, is not enough. He says it ll take all of that time to do the lling, and in many cases the rigs not in shape to place in operation short notice. On the present trip Chapman hopes to take up sufficnt land to justify him in bringing drilling apparatus to this section.

MISSING FOR YEARS

MAN LONG ABSENT THOUGHT TO BE IN THIS CITY.

West Virginian Whom Chief Thompson Is Asked to Find.

Chief Thompson is searching the city for Scott Morrison Sturm, who left his home at Virora, Harrison county, W. Va., about eight years ago and who according to a letter received from a brother has not been seen since that time. The letter which follows gives the story of his disappearance:

"About eight years ago my brother, S. M. Storm, disappeared from his home here, near Fairmont, W. Va., since which time no trace of him has been had until recently I am informed that he is in your town. Any information you can give me will be liberally rewarded.

"The following is a description of him: Weight, about 160 pounds; height, 4 feet 9 or 10 inches; red hair, very thin on front part of head and may be nearly or quite bald by this time; has a habit of snuffing his nose and keeps his finger nails chewed off very close; red moustache, not very heavy; about 48 years of age; has been a teacher of schools in this state, also a reader of music.

"At the time he left he was employed in digging coal in one of our mines. He may be engaged in the same business there if you have any mines, or he may be employed in or about some of the mills. I am informed that he owns property there and keeps one or two cows. His wife is small and of dark complexion. I would be glad to hear from you, and if you can find this man I will come and see you at once. Wishing you success, I am, yours truly,

"ARTHUR STURM."

HUSBAND WON'T WORK

The Complaint Which a West End Wife Lodged Before a 'Squire.

Living on promises for over a year caused Mrs. Isaac Art to appear in Squire McLane office this afternoon and make complaint against her husband. She lives in the extreme west end of the city and walked to the office of the 'squire, dragging her little girl along, for the purpose evidently of making a stronger hit with the man who metes out justice.

Many times, she stated, her husband had promised to go to work and earn her and her child food. He has done that regularly for over a year. "I am tired of it," she said, "and if you don't make Ike work I am going to leave him." The 'squire told her that he could not see how he could make her husband work if she can't and dismissed the case. She went in search of other means by which she can make the man come to time."

TRIED TO KILL HERSELF

Insane Woman of Columbiana Took Carbolic Acid, Intending Suicide.

Lisbon, Aug. 19—(Special)—Mrs. Agatha Randall of Columbiana, was taken to the asylum at Massillon today. She was taken before Judge Boone last night after she had attempted to take her life by means of carbolic acid. She was prevented from swallowing any of the liquid although she was considerably burned.

She suffers under the hallucination that her friends and relatives have forsaken her. The supposed cause of her insanity is financial trouble. She is 56 years old.

Small Suit Appealed.

Lisbon, Aug. 19, (Special.)—H. I. Hughes, of Salem, sued Warren Hawley in Justice Reed's court for $3.50, claimed due him for rent. The case was heard last month when judgment was rendered for the full amount. Hawley appealed to common pleas court today.

LEADERS OF OPPOSING FACTIONS IN THE IMPENDING RAILROAD WAR OF RATES.

Andrew J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, is generally looked upon as the leader of the faction opposed to George Gould and his Missouri Pacific interests. For some time it has been currently reported that a clash likely to result in a disastrous war of rates was imminent. To an impartial observer the strength of the opposing factions seems about equal, and an open rupture would force an alliance on roads now friendly to both interests which would inevitably bring about an unprecedented cutting of the freight tariff between eastern and western points. The Inter State Commerce law would naturally be expected to prevent such a consummation, but that this may be evaded successfully has been frequently demonstrated.

LISBON AND CHESTER MILLS ARE IN LUCK

Lisbon and Chester tin mills of the American Tin Plate Company are among the fortunate ones. The Chester is in operation and the Lisbon mill, which was ordered shut down last week, received orders to start immediately, and was in operation today.

The following is a complete list of the tin mills ordered idle following the refusal of the tin plate mill workers to accept a reduction in wages, says the American Manufacturer:

La Belle, at Wheeling, 10 mills; Shenango plant, New Castle, 30 mills; Pittsburg plant, New Kensington, seven mills; Pennsylvania plant, Middletown, Ind., six mills; Laughlin plant, Martins Ferry, 22 mills; Niles plant, Niles, O., six mills; Anderson plant, Anderson, Ind., seven mills; Gas City plant, Gas City, Ind., eight mills; Canonsburg plant, Canonsburg, Pa., five mills; Ellwood City plant, Ellwood City, Pa., six mills; Johnstown plant, Johnstown, Pa., two mills; Great Western plant, Joliet, Ill., four mills; Atlanta plant, Atlanta, Ind., six mills.

It will be seen that but 145 will be left in operation with many of these no doubt designed to shut down soon. Of the mills in operation 74 are nonunion as follows: Cambridge works, Cambridge, O., six mills; Chester works, Chester, W. Va., seven mills; Crescent works, Cleveland, O., six mills; Monongahela works, Pittsburg, Pa., 14 mills; Star works Pittsburg, Pa., six mills; United States works, Demmler, 11 mills; and the National works, Monessen, two mills. In addition it is reported that the two Sharon works of the Sharon Tin Plate Company at Sharon, are soon to be closed.

MANY ARE EAGER TO SELL STREET SIGNS

Since the intimation of council that street signs will decorate the corners of all streets within the city and the appointment of a committee to confer with agents as to prices and quality of signs at least 20 men have visited City Clerk Davidson with a bundle of signs under their arms. Signs of every description have been presented for inspection. Among them are some very neat ones. In fact any sign yet presented would be a great improvement. There will be but one obstruction to the committee agreeing upon a certain design.

The agents are maintaining prices almost too high to be considered in designs that would be acceptable. The prices range from 30 cents to 80 cents. The designs on those lurking around the latter figure are elegant enough, the same kind being used in all the larger cities of the United States.

The cheaper ones are just as pretty and possibly as neat but they will not stand the weather. Nothing definite has been done by the committee further than instructing the agents to present sealed bids for the furnishing and placing of signs to council at the next regular meeting.

PROMOTER U. J. SMITH HAS A NEW SCHEME NOW

Promoter U. J. Smith, of the cross county railway fame, was in the city yesterday and from the mystery surrounding his actions, it is thought he has new schemes to develop. To a News Review reporter he said:

"The cross-county railway is by no means a dead issue. We are only waiting for a few matters closely related to the project to develop when the line will go through as originally planned. However, I am not here on that account and have something in prospect at present that will discount the railway in magnitude. If our plans do not miscarry the enterprise we are now working on will mean much to East Liverpool and her industrial interests."

It is said that Mr. Smith endeavored to interest local capital in a scheme of his own conception, but failed to surround the picture with sufficient attractions to fascinate any of them. Many of the East Liverpool men who have money to invest and who would not hesitate to put it into anything practical, claim that Smith has little substantial backing and are not disposed to take him seriously.

LABOR DAY PARADE TO HAVE 4,000 IN LINE

The Labor day committee is hard at work preparing the program for the parade and arranging the several events in the line of sports.

The entire program will be completed and in the hands of the printer by the latter part of the week.

The chief marshal has about completed the list of aids, and the positions of the locals in the line has been arranged. It is estimated that at least 4,000 men and women will be in line. All of the ladies' organizations have arranged to turn out and every available conveyance in the city has been engaged for the occasion. There are about 12 lady representatives in Trades Council and carriages have already been secured for their accomodation.

FOR A $25 PRIZE

Two Well Known Carpenters Will Engage in a Foot Race Soon.

A match foot race has been arranged between two local carpenters, A. H. Underwood and Harry Woods, for a purse of $25, to be run at Rock Springs park some evening this week.

Y. M. C. A. SOCIALS

A Variety of Entertainment to Be Arranged for Members for Next Winter.

Secretary M. C. Wright has sent letters to every member of the Y. M. C. A. asking that they be present at a meeting this evening for the purpose of making arrangements for a series of social functions during the coming winter. It is the purpose of Mr. Wright to make this a predominating feature of the association. He has learned from observation among other association that it is the only way to keep the members in close touch with each other.

The first social to be held will be during September, and it will be the formal opening for the winter entertainments and pleasures. If possible a social of some sort will be held every month until spring. A committee will be appointed this evening to oversee and conduct the plans. It will be the aim of the committee to have a variety in the way of entertainment.

DEATH WAS FIRST

CAPTURED MAN FOR WHOM SALEM POLICE WERE LOOKING.

James A. Sheen, Wanted for Assault, Died Suddenly at Homestead.

Salem, August 19.—(Special)—The police of this city have been looking for James A. Sheen since June 7, but death caught him first. Word was received here today by his parents that he had died at Homestead, Pa., last night of cramps.

Smith was 36 years old and a native of England. He had been in the employ of the Pittsburg & Allegheny Telephone company.

On June 7 Smith went to the home of his divorced wife, in this city, and finding Mark Smith there, became enraged, and attacked him with a pair of wire pliers, inflicting wounds that for a time, it was thought, would prove fatal. No word had been received from him since that time.

NO SUIT LIKELY

Claims of McDevitt Heirs Will Probably Be Settled Without One.

It is likely that the claim of the McDevitt heirs against the city will be settled without a law suit. The damage wrought by a flood four years ago is the basis of the claim.

The estate owns considerable property on West Market street, and the particular lot where the damage is alleged to have been suffered is situated on the west side of the street. This property is peculiarly situated, in that there is or was a stone wall in front at least six feet high. During a storm in the spring of 1898 the water came down the hill and across the street in such quantities that a portion of the wall was washed out. The pavement was also damaged, and since that time has become so bad that when notices were served upon property owners to repair bad sidewalks that in front of the McDevitt property was included among the number. Those in charge of the estate objected to paying for the improvement, or that portion of it which adjoined the wall. The city was asked to settle, and a committee, consisting of Messrs. Bullock, Johnston and McConnell was appointed to endeavor to make terms.

A conference was held last night, and it is probable the claim will be settled in the manner decided upon at that time. At least the committee will make a recommendation along that line. It is proposed that the city rebuild the wall, the material, which is still on the ground, to be furnished by the owners of the property. That portion of the sidewalk directly adjoining the wall is also to be paid for by the city.

OPENING OF THE PARK

First Ball Games on the Y. M. C. A. Field Set for This Week.

The new Y. M. C. A. Athletic park at Chester will be formally opened next Friday afternoon, when a game of base ball will be played between the Y. M. C. A. and the Ford City team.

The Ford City team has been secured for two games, and judging by the reputation of the team from the Pennsylvania town two good contests can be expected.

The management of the park state that they have signed up a majority of the members of the East Liverpool club, and as its season is now over they can have their pick and choice.

To Enter the Navy.

Lisbon, August 19. — (Special) — Frank Crook, of Lisbon, and Clyde Walsley, of West Union, O., have left for Norfolk, Va., where they will report for service in the United States navy. They are pharmacists.

READY TO LET CONTRACTS

Hospital Association Will at Once Arrange Plans For Further Work.

COMPLETION OF BUILDINGS

Free of Debt Is Looked For During the Coming Months of the Fall.

LOTS WHICH MUST BE SOLD

Since the News Review's exclusive announcement yesterday of the progress being made by the Hospital association in the erection of its building or lower Sixth street, those in charge of the work have determined to let all remaining contracts without delay.

Bids on the brick work will be let at once, or soon enough to permit the workmen to begin not later than September 1. A. S. Young one of the most active members of the association, said this morning:

"It is the desire of the Hospital association to complete, free of debt, as early this fall as possible, the two buildings now under way, the Administration building and the East Ward building. In order to do this it will be necessary for the Association to realize on its Calcutta road property. This tract of land which consists of almost three acres of desirable residence property fronting on Calcutta road and Wall street, right on the street car line and within five minutes walking distance of the Diamond, has been platted into 28 good sized lots and are offered for sale at prices from $200 and upwards, according to size and location.

"In buying one of these lots the purchaser will not only get good value for his money, but will also be helping the city hospital project along.

"The real estate firms of the city including:

George H. Owen & Co.
E. W. Hill.
M. E. Miskall & Co.
McGarry Bros.
Herbert & Travis.
J. P. Hanlon.
Walter Supplee, East End.
L. W. Carman, East End.

have voluntarily and gratituously offered their services to the building committee, to help dispose of the lots, and it is confidentially expected that within the next ten days every lot will be sold. The aid thus rendered by the real estate firms of the city is worthy of commendation, and is very much appreciated by those in charge of the hospital.

"Arrangements for the laying of the corner stone of the building are being made by a committee consisting of A. S. Young, Geo. Barford, Geo. Hamilton and E. P. Hazlett. The ceremony will take pace some time in September."

ASSIGNMENT MADE

By an East Liverpool Hardware Firm for Benefit of Creditors.

The firm of James H. Ford & Son, of East Liverpool, filed a deed of assignment with Judge Boone at Lisbon this afternoon. The members of the firm are Lewis and Anna Ford and have been engaged in the hardware business on Washington street. The property consists of personal estate only. It was transferred to T. V. Mackall for the benefit of creditors.

The property will amount to about $800. No estimate was filed as to what the liabilities would amount to.

Condemnation Proceedings Necessary to Secure a Site For It.

Lisbon, August 19. — (Special) — The board of education of Elkrun township met this morning and decided to erect a brick school house in Pine Hollow district, which is just beyond Elkton.

A new site owned by Mrs. Samantha Davis will be secured for the new building, and as Mrs. Davis refuses to dispose of her land, condemnation proceedings will be begun at once in probate court to appropriate it. The old building has been in use since 1853.

CAPTURED MAN FOR WHOM SALEM POLICE WERE LOOKING.

James A. Sheen, Wanted for Assault, Died Suddenly at Homestead.

Salem, August 19.—(Special)—The police of this city have been looking for James A. Sheen since June 7, but death caught him first. Word was received here today by his parents that he had died at Homestead, Pa., last night of cramps.

Smith was 36 years old and a native of England. He had been in the employ of the Pittsburg & Allegheny Telephone company.

On June 7 Smith went to the home of his divorced wife, in this city, and finding Mark Smith there, became enraged, and attacked him with a pair of wire pliers, inflicting wounds that for a time, it was thought, would prove fatal. No word had been received from him since that time.

NO SUIT LIKELY

Claims of McDevitt Heirs Will Probably Be Settled Without One.

It is likely that the claim of the McDevitt heirs against the city will be settled without a law suit. The damage wrought by a flood four years ago is the basis of the claim.

The estate owns considerable property on West Market street, and the particular lot where the damage is alleged to have been suffered is situated on the west side of the street. This property is peculiarly situated, in that there is or was a stone wall in front at least six feet high. During a storm in the spring of 1898 the water came down the hill and across the street in such quantities that a portion of the wall was washed out. The pavement was also damaged, and since that time has become so bad that when notices were served upon property owners to repair bad sidewalks that in front of the McDevitt property was included among the number. Those in charge of the estate objected to paying for the improvement, or that portion of it which adjoined the wall. The city was asked to settle, and a committee, consisting of Messrs. Bullock, Johnston and McConnell was appointed to endeavor to make terms.

A conference was held last night, and it is probable the claim will be settled in the manner decided upon at that time. At least the committee will make a recommendation along that line. It is proposed that the city rebuild the wall, the material, which is still on the ground, to be furnished by the owners of the property. That portion of the sidewalk directly adjoining the wall is also to be paid for by the city.

OPENING OF THE PARK

First Ball Games on the Y. M. C. A. Field Set for This Week.

The new Y. M. C. A. Athletic park at Chester will be formally opened next Friday afternoon, when a game of base ball will be played between the Y. M. C. A. and the Ford City team.

The Ford City team has been secured for two games, and judging by the reputation of the team from the Pennsylvania town two good contests can be expected.

The management of the park state that they have signed up a majority of the members of the East Liverpool club, and as its season is now over they can have their pick and choice.

READY TO LET CONTRACTS

COMPLETION OF BUILDINGS

Free of Debt Is Looked For During the Coming Months of the Fall.

LOTS WHICH MUST BE SOLD

Since the News Review's exclusive announcement yesterday of the progress being made by the Hospital association in the erection of its building or lower Sixth street, those in charge of the work have determined to let all remaining contracts without delay.

Bids on the brick work will be let at once, or soon enough to permit the workmen to begin not later than September 1. A. S. Young, one of the most active members of the association, said this morning:

"It is the desire of the Hospital association to complete, free of debt, as early this fall as possible, the two buildings now under way, the Administration building and the East Ward building. In order to do this it will be necessary for the Association to realize on its Calcutta road property. This tract of land which consists of almost three acres of desirable residence property fronting on Calcutta road and Wall street, right on the street car line and within five minutes walking distance of the Diamond, has been platted into 28 good sized lots and are offered for sale at prices from $200 and upwards, according to size and location.

"In buying one of these lots the purchaser will not only get good value for his money, but will also be helping the city hospital project along.

"The real estate firms of the city including:

George H. Owen & Co.
E. W. Hill.
M. E. Miskall & Co.
McGarry Bros.
Herbert & Travis.
J. P. Hanlon.
Walter Supplee, East End.
L. W. Carman, East End,

have voluntarily and gratituously offered their services to the building committee, to help dispose of the lots, and it is confidentially expected that within the next ten days every lot will be sold. The aid thus rendered by the real estate firms of the city is worthy of commendation, and is very much appreciated by those in charge of the hospital.

"Arrangements for the laying of the corner stone of the building are being made by a committee consisting of A. S. Young, Geo. Burford, Geo. Hamilton and E. P. Hazlett. The ceremony will take pace some time in September."

The firm of James H. Ford & Son, of East Liverpool, filed a deed of assignment with Judge Boone at Lisbon this afternoon. The members of the firm are Lewis and Anna Ford and have been engaged in the hardware business on Washington street. The property consists of personal estate only. It was transferred to T. V. Mackall for the benefit of creditors.

The property will amount to about $800. No estimate was filed as to what the liabilities would amount to.

Condemnation Proceedings Necessary to Secure a Site For It.

Lisbon, August 19. — (Special) — The board of education of Elkrun township met this morning and decided to erect a brick school house in Pine Hollow district, which is just beyond Elkton.

A new site owned by Mrs. Samantha Davis will be secured for the new building, and as Mrs. Davis refuses to dispose of her land, condemnation proceedings will be begun at once in probate court to appropriate it. The old building has been in use since 1853.

NOTES AND NEWS ABOUT THE LIBRARY

During the Past Week—Progress of Cataloguing Old Library Books—Popular New Works—A Donation of 30 Volumes.

That the Carnegie library is receiving its share of attention is evident from the fact that 1,315 people went through it last week. During that time about 745 books were circulated.

About 1,000 books from the old library have been catalogued. The following is a list of new books which were circulated this month for the first time:

"Her Serene Highness," by David Graham Phillips, recounts the chance acquaintance of a young American of push and polish with the daughter of a reigning German ducal house. Irresistible love on both sides results. The contrast between German formality and American mockery of tradition is depicted through an undercurrent of quiet humor, which is very well sustained. The tone is natural and plausible despite the impossible outcome.

"Marion Manning" is a very entertaining novel of Washington life by Mrs. Eustis, a daughter of Hon. Levi P. Morton. Mrs. Eustis has had excellent opportunities of studying the life at the capital at close range and she has made the most of these opportunities, as her book shows. The political and social life of the capital is admirably and brilliantly drawn.

Miss Clara Morris, once a great emotional actress, but more recently in the public mind as a writer and critic, has just completed her first novel, "A Pasteboard Crown." Naturally, Miss Morris has chosen the New York stage as the setting of her story, and she has written a dramatic and very interesting tale. No one knows better than she the life she depicts; few could have written of it more vividly and entertainingly.

John Kendrick Bangs' "Olympian Nights" adds another leaf to the laurel of the strength and power of the stories and of crown of that modest and popular attractive setting. Those who missed humorist. Mr. Bangs seems to have them will be glad of the new opportunity afforded to procure them, for the book has been out of print.

George Cary Eggleston's "Dorothy North," though not the very latest book, still comes under that class, since it is being widely read and remains in popular favor. It is a love story of Virginia just before the war. Of the heroine it is said: "Her very presence creates an atmosphere of sparkling prettiness. Her girlish dignity is flexible and appealing. She attracts unconsciously and unaffectedly captivates."

Among other new books received are: "The Sport of the Gods," Paul Laurence Dunbar; "Chrisdle Tadden And Mr. Pratt," "The Misdemeanors of Nancy," "The Siege of Lady Resolute," George W. Cable's "Bylow Hill," "The Way of Escape," "Tattle Grumd," "Ratsplan, a Rogue Elephant," "Five Little Peppers Abroad," a child's book; "The Deer Family," Theodore Roosevelt, and others.

Quite a number of children's books will be received next month. About 30 books were presented to the library Saturday by Thomas F. Walklet.

No one knows better than she the life she depicts; few could have written of it more vividly and entertainingly.

John Kendrick Bangs' "Olympian Nights" adds another leaf to the laurel crown of that modest and popular humorist. Mr. Bangs seems to have the rare ability of making intellectual fun. He combines nicely burlesque and reverence, and mixes them with rare fancy that at times approaches the poetic. "A Jilting Gabrielle Right Jest" "A Half Hour's Fun With the Gods" The humor is delicious; in fact, is quite contagious. The book is wholly up-to-date in its introduction of automobiles and golf links in the home of Pluto, etc.

In "The Valley of Decision," the latest novel, Mrs. Edith Wharton, was fortunate at the outset in her choice of a subject. She has attempted to sum up the life of Italy in the latter half of the eighteenth century. The author is entrusted to her finger tips with the historical facts of the period, the motley and conflicting tangle of petty dukedoms and the warring clans of Austria and of Spain. She has given not merely a broad canvas but a moving panorama of the life of that restless time, presenting with a certain dramatic power the discontent of the masses, and the petty intrigues of the church and the aristocracy.

"The King in Yellow" has been republished in attractive form. On its first appearance years ago the book won immediate favor, due to the strength and power of the stories and attractive setting. Those who missed them will be glad of the new opportunity afforded to procure them, for the book has been out of print.

George Cary Eggleston's "Dorothy South," too, is not the very latest book, still comes under that class, since it is being widely read and remains in popular favor. It is a love story of Virginia just before the war. Of the heroine it is said: "Her very presence creates an atmosphere of sunshiny prettiness. Her girlish dignity is flexible and appealing. She attracts unconsciously and unaffectedly captivates."

Among other new books received are: "The Court of the Gods," Paul Laurence Dunbar; "Chimmie Fadden And Mr. Paul," "The Misdemeanors of Nancy," "The Siege of Lady Resolute," George W. People have been attending these services from all parts of the city, and every night a service is held the hall is well filled. The interest in the services is growing and no time has been set for the meetings to close. They will last for a week longer at least, for the school term of this school will open the first week in September.

An Enjoyable Dance.

Another dance was given in the Larkins & Ferguson hall last evening which was said to be one of the successes of the season. The attendence was large, and the dance a quiet one. One individual under the influence of liquor attempted to get into the hall, but was put out by the owners of the building.

Houses Still Scarce.

There is still a scarcity of houses in the East End, especially houses to be rented. Of course a large number of new houses are being built, but they will be occupied by their owners. There is ample room for a syndicate to be formed and build a number of houses to rent in the East End. The investment would surely be a paying one.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Fearless and Independent.

The Chicago Record-Herald is a conspicuous example of the success with which the public rewards fearless nonpartisanship in the columns of a great metropolitan daily paper. It is an independant newspaper in which men and measures are invariably viewed wholly from the standpoint of the public good and not from the standpoint of any particular political party. It is the very reverse of neutral—fearless and outspoken on all the great questions of the day, but presenting its editorial opinion upon independant judgment and entirely regardless of political affiliations. Partisanship is barred as strictly from the news columns as from the editorial page. All political news is given without partisan coloring, thus enabling the reader to form correct conclusions for himself. In the ordinary partisan newspaper political news is ordinarily colored to such an extent as to make it difficult if not impossible for the reader to secure a sound basis for intelligent judgment.

Dysentery Cured Without the Aid of a Doctor.

"I am just up from a hard spell of the flux" (dysentery), says Mr. T. A. Pinner, a well known merchant of Drummond, Tenn. "I used one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was cured without having a doctor. I consider it the best cholera medicine in the world." There is no need of employing a doctor when this remedy is used, for no doctor can prescribe a better medicine for bowel complaint in any form either for children or adults. It never fails and is pleasant to take. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

DESERTED MORGAN

JOINED UNION FORCES AND NOW GETS A PENSION.

A Romance of Love And War With Tennessee and Ohio as Scenes.

An original pension of $6 per month has been granted Jeremiah Gibson, late of the 7th United States Volunteers, through the Steubenville Pension Agency.

Back of this is an interesting story which Pension Agent Donnan has named "Love and War, or the Romantic Courtship and Marriage of Bethia and Jeremiah." Gibson was one of John Morgan's raiders through Indiana and Ohio. While camped for a rest at Criders Mill he met a beautiful young girl with whom he fell desperately in love. He was ragged and dusty, good looking, kind hearted and jolly. She was only 18, but too patriotic to entertain even the thought of matrimony with a rebel.

He was from East Tennessee and all of his relatives there were Unionists, but being young and full of life, and anxious for adventure he joined with Morgan. After a very short courtship Gibson was induced to renounce his allegiance to the Southern cause, desert his command and return to his home, and if ever able to prove his loyalty to the Stars and Stripes he was to return and she would marry him.

On the first opportunity offering he did desert, but was immediately captured by his own pickets and returned to camp. There he was court martialled and he was sentenced to be shot to death at sunrise the next morning.

There being so many deserting at this time Morgan found it absolutely necessary to make an example. In the meantime, Shackleford, with his forces, had quietly surrounded the raiders upon Yellow Creek, and before sunrise that morning he had captured the whole rebel outfit. While on their way to prison Gibson eluded the guards and escaped. After encountering many thrilling adventures he reached Cincinnati, where he enlisted and was afterwards assigned to the Seventh Cavalry. During his faithful and honorable service for nearly three years he kept up a regular correspondence with his sweetheart in Ohio, and when discharged from the service he returned to her, proved his lopalty and they were married. At present their home is on a beautiful farm in East Tennessee.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS

For Brooke County With the Wabash Railroad and New Industries.

Wellsburg, W. Va., Aug. 19.—A. H. Elson, of Cross Creek, was in town and stated that the Wabash railroad people seem to be unusually active the past few days. They have been fairly shaking the hills with heavy blasts both night and day. The face of the country will be greatly altered by the change in the creek bed but he will not be seriously affected.

With the acquisition of the Wabash mileage and the Folansbee Bros' plants to be on the Mahan farms with all the attendant building of dwelling houses, Cross Creek district has forged to the front and so much taxable property has come in of late that the burden of taxation will be lightened and distributed over a larger territory.

Women and Jewels.

Jewels, candy, flowers, men—that is the order of a woman's preferences. Jewels form a magnet of mighty power to the average woman. Even that greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined in the strenuous effort to make or save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her fortify herself against the insidious consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Boschee's German Syrup. It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles. You can get this reliable remedy at Charles F. Craig's.

He was ragged and dusty, good looking, kind hearted and jolly. She was only 18, but too patriotic to entertain even the thought of matrimony with a rebel.

He was from East Tennessee and all of his relatives there were Unionists, but being young and full of life, and anxious for adventure he joined with Morgan. After a very short courtship Gibson was induced to renounce his allegiance to the Southern cause, desert his command and return to his home, and if ever able to prove his loyalty to the Stars and Stripes he was to return and she would marry him.

On the first opportunity offering he did desert, but was immediately captured by his own pickets and returned to camp. There he was court-martialled and he was sentenced to be shot to death at sunrise the next morning.

There being so many deserting at this time Morgan found it absolutely necessary to make an example. In the meantime, Shackleford, with his forces, had quietly surrounded the raiders upon Yellow Creek, and before sunrise that morning he had captured the whole rebel outfit. While on their way to prison Gibson eluded the guards and escaped. After encountering many thrilling adventures he reached Cincinnati, where he enlisted and was afterwards assigned to the Seventh Cavalry. During his faithful and honorable service for nearly three years he kept up a regular correspondence with his sweetheart in Ohio, and when discharged from the service he returned to her, proved his loyalty and they were married. At present their home is on a beautiful farm in East Tennessee.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS

For Brooke County With the Wabash Railroad and New Industries.

Wellsburg, W. Va., Aug. 19.—A. H. Elson, of Cross Creek, was in town and stated that the Wabash railroad people seem to be unusually active the past few days. They have been fairly shaking the hills with heavy blasts both night and day. The face of the country will be greatly altered by the change in the creek bed but he will not be seriously affected.

With the acquisition of the Wabash mileage and the Folansbee Bros' plants to be on the Mahan farms with all the attendant building of dwelling houses, Cross Creek district has forged to the front and so much taxable property has come in of late that the burden of taxation will be lightened and distributed over a larger territory.

Women and Jewels.

Jewels, candy, flowers, men—that is the order of a woman's preferences. Jewels form a magnet of mighty power to the average woman. Even that greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined in the strenuous effort to make or save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her fortify herself against the insidious consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Boschee's German Syrup. It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles. You can get this reliable remedy at Charles F. Craig's.

The Naval experiments with the use of liquid fuel and the probability that it may be adopted for commercial purposes on the smaller classes of ships will probably lead to an investigation of the output of oil, with the view of determining whether it is sufficient to meet the demands that may be made upon it. Oil has been produced in this country for commercial purposes for over 40 years. When the old fields were almost exhausted, new ones were developed. The discoveries in Texas in 1901 increased the world's production of 155,000,000 barrels in the previous year to 720,000,000 barrels, or more than five fold. A few years ago, when petroleum was first investigated for fuel purposes, it was asserted that the Pennsylvania railroad locomotives alone would require more than the total output of oil in the United States at that time. Matters have changed materially, but there is no certainty whatever that the petroleum fields can be depended upon for a constant supply of cheap fuel. The question which the government proposes to investigate is one of the highest importance to thousands of people who have millions of dollars of capital invested in a great industry.

Labor day is near and East Liverpool will celebrate it with even more than the usual zeal and enthusiasm. There is abundant reason why it should be made a joyous occasion. Labor is the mainstay and strength of this city; most of our people work for a living. The workers have prospered during the past year and there is every prospect of abundant work for them at good wages during the next twelve months. The city is steadily growing greater and more prosperous, and it is labor that is making it so. Everybody in East Liverpool has reason to be proud of the city's industrious toilers and everybody should endeavor to help to make Labor's holiday a joyous and successful occasion.

It is said the teachers of a West Virginia district where salaries average $30 a month propose to strike. They would strike out and quit that neck of woods if they were as energetic as educated young people ought to be.

There is a disposition on the part both of Spain and that of the United States to overlook the late unpleasantness. If Spain would only drop the bull fighting habit she might yet cut a respectable figure among the nations.

Caprice and Luck.

In gambling one thing is certain, and that is the very large percentage in favor of the bank or the game. Caprice is the only law of chance, and the results are as fanciful as they are unanticipated.

One summer, the last of John Morrissey's life, a party from Washington were making merry in the wineroom of the clubhouse in Saratoga, among whom was a youthful attache of the French embassy, says the Brooklyn Eagle. Without remark this attache suddenly rose, entered the playroom and, going to a roulette table, tossed a hundred dollar bill on ten, black. The dealer politely informed him that he had exceeded the limit. The attache was insistent. Morrissey, sauntering up, nodded to the dealer to let it go. It won. Refusing to accept chips, the attache gathered in his winnings and rejoined his friends. Half an hour later he did the same thing and was again successful. At frequent intervals he repeated his trips, invariably winning, never once losing until he had won $17,500, when his friends carried him off.

As he left Morrissey remarked to a friend, "I never take the limit off that the bank doesn't lose." Nevertheless there was a profit on the night's play for the bank.

Some Nonsense.

"The bow of a ship," says a humorous handbook of nautical terms, "is not evidence of politeness. It reminds us of a line in 'Flotsam From the Isis:'"

And the hands went up to the nose of the boat, displaying a lack of good taste,
And first began to pull at her stays and then to scrub at her waist.

This, it may be remembered, occurred off the Isle of Rudeness, where—

A spit ran down to the bay,

CURES FOR TOOTHACHE.

Remedies That Do Not Appeal to the Ordinary Man Today.

The man in dental anguish sometimes curses with Burns "the venomed stang that shoots his tortured gums alang." Sometimes, on the other hand, he prays. St. Augustine in his "Confessions" relates how he once suffered from "dolor dentium" (toothache), apparently in an aggravated form, for he could not speak. Thereupon he wrote on wax a prayer to God for the other brethren to repeat, and as soon as all were on their knees the pain went. "But what a pain!" he says. "Never since my tender age had I experienced the like." Southey in his "Life of John Wesley" tells of that eminent preacher that when his own tooth ached he prayed and the pain left him.

Unfortunately ordinary men do not seem to have such efficacious faith. When the excruciation begins, they must bear it philosophically, and on Shakespeare's authority toothache finds out just the weak place in the philosopher's armor of patience. In the middle ages the devout who were racked with pain had a special patron to whom they could call for deliverance. St. Apollonia, a martyr under the emperor Philip, among other cruel indignities had her teeth pulled out. In consequence she became toothache's tutelary saint, as her emblems—one of which is "holding a tooth in pinchers"—sufficiently testify.

And there would seem to have been yet another martyr, St. Blaize, who took cognizance of the disease. He was honored in the little town of St. Blazey, in Cornwall, where candles offered upon his altar were supposed to be an infallible cure for toothache.—Chambers' Journal.

GOUGH'S QUICK WIT.

A Retort That Silenced an Interruption In the Audience.

An effort of one of John B. Gough's tours of the west was to arouse his converts to a political movement in favor of prohibition, and in several states the politicians began to give consideration to the cry. The distillers and liquor dealers are said to have been so frightened that they employed men to follow the lecturer, sit among the audience and endeavor to confound him with questions. He had worked a Topeka (Kan.) audience up to a fine pitch of excitement and in his effective manner cried:

"Temperance! Temperance! Temperance! It will mean money in your pocket, clothes on your back, happiness in your home and God in your heart!"

Up leaped one of the paid interrupters and shouted to the audience:

"Money in your pockets! Why, fellow citizens, follow this man's ideas and we'll be all in the poorhouse! Think of the fields of tasseled corn that stretch on every side! Whisky is made from corn. We sell millions of dollars' worth of corn to the whisky makers. Stop the manufacture of whisky, and what'll we do?"

Then, turning to Gough, he went on:

"You, Mr. Smarty—what'll we do? Tell us, if prohibition comes, what'll we do with our corn?"

Sympathy.

Tod's mamma had a birthday recently and received as a present from one of her friends a ten dollar bill. Accompanying the money was a note in which the writer, after explaining that she couldn't think of anything tasteful to buy and had therefore sent the cash, made some tender references to bygone days and dear old scenes. While the recipient was sitting with the bill in one hand and the letter in the other and permitting tears to drip down upon both Ted went up to her and, putting his arms around her neck, tenderly asked:

"What's the matter, mamma? Isn't the money good?"—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Proctor's Finest Speech.

Senator Proctor of Vermont once said the finest speech he ever made consisted of only four words. It was in retort to Senator Hoar's sarcastic little thrust in a speech directed at the Green Mountain senator. He said, "No man in Vermont is allowed to vote unless he has made $5,000 trading with Massachusetts people."

Whereat Proctor said, "And we all vote."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Merely a Joke.

Gusher—What old chestnut?

Henpeck—You want me to say, "How did you manage that?" and then you'll say, "I never got married."—Detroit Free Press.

How It Happened.

Mrs. Nexdore—My daughter was practicing her new concert piece last night. Did you hear her?

Mrs. Pepprey—Oh, yes.

Mrs. Nexdore—How was it?

Mrs. Pepprey—I simply couldn't get away; that's how it was.—Philadelphia Press.

Wade Hampton's Slaves.

It is related of General Wade Hampton that on one occasion he was riding along a highway that led through one of his numerous southern plantations when he met a slave of fine build and appearance. He drew rein and said: "You are a likely fellow. Who do you belong to?" "Wade Hampton, sir." "Ah! And who is Wade Hampton?" "Please, sir, master, you mus' be from de norf, 'kase Mas' Wade Hampton is de berry fust gemman in de soar."

The story used to be told to illustrate the greatness in numbers, of Wade Hampton's slaves. His own slaves did not know him by sight—that is, hundreds and thousands of them did not. The slaves he owned numbered 4,000, and he was therefore the largest slave owner of the south or of modern times. —Birmingham Age-Herald.

A Royal Talisman.

For 400 years the Hohenzollern family has possessed a peculiar talisman in the shape of a black stone set in a ring, each head of the house having passed the charm on to the next in succession for many generations. Frederick the Great is said to have found the ring sealed in a package with instructions as to its preservation and transmission written by Frederick I.

Precisely what value or significance attaches to this carefully treasured bit of jewelry it would be difficult to say. Tradition says that a huge toad hopped into the royal presence centuries ago with the stone held in its mouth. As to whether the golden setting in which the stone is now preserved is due to the forethought of the intelligent toad or to the afterthought of the Hohenzollerns tradition fails to enlighten us.

Labor is the mainstay and strength of this city; most of our people work for a living. The workers have prospered during the past year and there is every prospect of abundant work for them at good wages during the next twelve months. The city is steadily growing greater and more prosperous, and it is labor that is making it so. Everybody in East Liverpool has reason to be proud of the city's industrious toilers and everybody should endeavor to help to make Labor's holiday a joyous and successful occasion.

It is said the teachers of a West Virginia district where salaries average $30 a month propose to strike. They would strike out and quit that neck of woods if they were as energetic as educated young people ought to be.

There is a disposition on the part both of Spain and that of the United States to overlook the late unpleasantness. Spanish trade with this country is rapidly increasing, and America's recent antagonist shows numerous evidences of growing prosperity. If Spain would only drop the bull fighting habit she might yet cut a respectable figure among the nations.

The king of Italy is now said to be insane because he invites servants to eat with him. Quite likely he hears quite as valuable opinions and as interesting conversation on such occasions as when his court dines with him.

In less than a week Ohio will have a legislative session on her hands. What can't be cured must be endured, and there is a comforting reflection that the affliction will not last long.

Of course, Tom Johnson does not like the code bill. This was expected. Mr. Johnson probably wants to make it an issue in this year's campaign.

Prewitt, of the Christian church, officiating, and the body was taken this morning to Harlem Springs, Carroll county, for interment.

Caprice and Luck.

In gambling one thing is certain, and that is the very large percentage in favor of the bank or the game. Caprice is the only law of chance, and the results are as fanciful as they are unanticipated.

One summer, the last of John Morrissey's life, a party from Washington were making merry in the wineroom of the clubhouse in Saratoga, among whom was a youthful attache of the French embassy, says the Brooklyn Eagle. Without remark this attache suddenly rose, entered the playroom and, going to a roulette table, tossed a hundred dollar bill on ten, black. The dealer politely informed him that he had exceeded the limit. The attache was insistent. Morrissey, sauntering up, nodded to the dealer to let it go. It won. Refusing to accept chips, the attache gathered in his winnings and rejoined his friends. Half an hour later he did the same thing and was again successful. At frequent intervals he repeated his trips, invariably winning, never once losing until he had won $17,500, when his friends carried him off.

As he left Morrissey remarked to a friend, "I never take the limit off that the bank doesn't lose." Nevertheless there was a profit on the night's play for the bank.

Some Nonsense.

"The bow of a ship," says a humorous handbook of nautical terms, "is not evidence of politeness. It reminds us of a line in 'Flotsam From the Isis:'"

And the hands went up to the nose of the boat, displaying a lack of good taste,
And first began to pull at her stays and then to scrub at her waist.

A spit ran down to the bay,

CURES FOR TOOTHACHE.

Remedies That Do Not Appeal to the Ordinary Man Today.

The man in dental anguish sometimes curses with Burns "the venomed stang that shoots his tortured gums alang." Sometimes, on the other hand, he prays. St. Augustine in his "Confessions" relates how he once suffered from "dolor dentium" (toothache), apparently in an aggravated form, for he could not speak. Thereupon he wrote on wax a prayer to God for the other brethren to repeat, and as soon as all were on their knees the pain went. "But what a pain!" he says. "Never since my tender age had I experienced the like." Southey in his "Life of John Wesley" tells of that eminent preacher that when his own tooth ached he prayed and the pain left him.

Unfortunately ordinary men do not seem to have such efficacious faith. When the excruciation begins, they must bear it philosophically, and on Shakespeare's authority toothache finds out just the weak place in the philosopher's armor of patience. In the middle ages the devout who were racked with pain had a special patron to whom they could call for deliverance. St. Apollonia, a martyr under the emperor Philip, among other cruel indignities had her teeth pulled out. In consequence she became toothache's tutelary saint, as her emblems—one of which is "holding a tooth in pinchers"—sufficiently testify.

And there would seem to have been yet another martyr, St. Blaize, who took cognizance of the disease. He was honored in the little town of St. Blazey, in Cornwall, where candles offered upon his altar were supposed to be an infallible cure for toothache.—Chambers' Journal.

GOUGH'S QUICK WIT.

A Retort That Silenced an Interruption in the Audience.

An effort of one of John B. Gough's tours of the west was to arouse his converts to a political movement in favor of prohibition, and in several states the politicians began to give consideration to the cry. The distillers and liquor dealers are said to have been so frightened that they employed men to follow the lecturer, sit among the audience and endeavor to confound him with questions. He had worked a Topeka (Kan.) audience up to a fine pitch of excitement and in his effective manner cried:

"Temperance! Temperance! Temperance! It will mean money in your pocket, clothes on your back, happiness in your home and God in your heart!"

Up leaped one of the paid interrupters and shouted to the audience:

"Money in your pockets! Why, fellow citizens, follow this man's ideas and we'll be all in the poorhouse! Think of the fields of tasseled corn that stretch on every side! Whisky is made from corn. We sell millions of dollars' worth of corn to the whisky makers. Stop the manufacture of whisky, and what'll we do?"

Then, turning to Gough, he went on:

"You, Mr. Smarty—what'll we do? Tell us, if prohibition comes, what'll we do with our corn?"

Sympathy.

Ted's mamma had a birthday recently and received as a present from one of her friends a ten dollar bill. Accompanying the money was a note in which the writer, after explaining that she couldn't think of anything tasteful to buy and had therefore sent the cash, made some tender references to bygone days and dear old scenes. While the recipient was sitting with the bill in one hand and the letter in the other and permitting tears to drip down upon both Ted went up to her and, putting his arms around her neck, tenderly asked:

"What's the matter, mamma? Isn't the money good?"—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Proctor's Finest Speech.

Senator Proctor of Vermont once said the finest speech he ever made consisted of only four words. It was in retort to Senator Hoar's sarcastic little thrust in a speech directed at the Green Mountain senator. He said, "No man in Vermont is allowed to vote unless he has made $5,000 trading with Massachusetts people."

Whereat Proctor said, "And we all vote."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

How It Happened.

Mrs. Pepprey—Oh, yes.

Mrs. Nexdore—How was it?

Wade Hampton's Slaves.

It is related of General Wade Hampton that on one occasion he was riding along a highway that led through one of his numerous southern plantations when he met a slave of the build and appearance. He drew rein and said: "You are a likely fellow. Who do you belong to?" "Wade Hampton, sir." "Ah! And who is Wade Hampton?" "Please, sir, master, you mus' be from de norf, 'kase Mas' Wade Hampton is de berry fust gemman in de sout'." The story used to be told to illustrate the greatness in numbers of Wade Hampton's slaves. His own slaves did not know him by sight—that is, hundreds and thousands of them did not. The slaves he owned numbered 4,000, and he was therefore the largest slave owner of the south or of modern times. —Birmingham Age-Herald.

A Royal Talisman.

For 400 years the Hohenzollern family has possessed a peculiar talisman in the shape of a black stone set in a ring, each head of the house having passed the charm on to the next in succession for many generations. Frederick the Great is said to have found the ring sealed in a package with instructions as to its preservation and transmission written by Frederick I. Precisely what value or significance attaches to this carefully treasured bit of jewelry it would be difficult to say. Tradition says that a huge toad hopped into the royal presence centuries ago with the stone held in its mouth. As to whether the golden setting in which the stone is now preserved is due to the forethought of the intelligent toad or to the afterthought of the Hohenzollerns tradition fails to enlighten us.

"And what is domesticity in woman?"

D.—Very. I gave him a copy of "Robinson Crusoe" the other day, and he got lots of fun out of it.

H.—I didn't know he could read.

Saving His Father's Hair.

Lord Charles was often troubled by importunate acquaintances, who begged for some of his father's (the Duke of Wellington) hair. On such occasions he said to an old servant whose hair was like the duke's: "Sit down, John. I must cut off another lock!"

A Genealogical Tree.

Briteman—What do you know about your genealogical tree?

Groucher—Genealogical tree be hanged! The only ancestral timber I knew about is the aboriginal forest, where, according to Darwin, my remote progenitors used to swing by their tails.—Los Angeles Herald.

The Flag at Half Mast.

The custom of showing the flag at half mast originated from the way at sea of showing the pre-eminence one ship had over the other in time of warfare. The vanquished always had to lower its flag, while the victor's went as high as possible in exultation. To lower a flag is an act of submission or betokens respect to a superior or is a signal of distress. The hoisting of a flag half mast high came to be used, therefore, as a sign of mourning and respect.

WELLSVILLE

FIRST IN TEN YEARS

Meeting of Sister And Brother By Accident in Wellsville.

Mrs. M. Story, widow of a once prominent Pittsburg broker, who figured in a romantic meeting here several days ago, is still in the city. She will probably leave for Pittsburg some time today. Mrs. Story is now a resident of Kansas City, Mo., where she has been managing a hotel, which represents a part of the fortune which was left her by her husband. She is a daughter of the late Jacob Buttenberg, who died in East Liverpool about 10 years ago and was brought here for burial.

Jacob Buttenberg was related to Homer Laughlin, the East Liverpool potter, who is now in California. Mrs. Story and a brother Bert, now a traveling salesman for a Pittsburg concern, formerly lived in East Liverpool. Their meeting several days ago at the Metropole hotel was the first in ten years. It was purely accidental.

Bert returned last night from Alliance. He will resign his present position and go to Kansas City to assist his sister with the management of the hotel. Mrs. Story was in East Liverpool yesterday and spent some time visiting friends.

LABOR DAY PLANS

Include Parade, Picnic, Dancing Base-ball and Many Other Sports.

A special committee of Trades and Labor Assembly held a meeting last evening at the home of F. A. Mcdowell for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for the big picnic to be held on Labor day, September 1.

It was decided to hold the picnic in the Aten lots in the West End instead of on the creek bottom. It was also decided to erect a temporary dancing pavilion there to be covered with canvas. An East Liverpool orchestra will furnish the music.

An industrial parade will be held in the morning. Two base ball games will be played and there will be several races for prizes.

SUIT AGAINST CITY

Wheeling Man Wants Lot on Which Wellsville City Hall Stands.

A dispatch from Wheeling states that a suit for $50,000 against the city of Wellsville, O., has been filed by George Wells, of Wheeling. He wants possession of the ground on which stands the city hall, and all accrued rent and interest.

His grandfather gave the town a lot to be used for a market place, with the understanding that it should revert to his heirs, it is claimed.

Police Asked to Aid.

Mayor Fogo is in receipt of a card from the superintendent of the Ohio state reformatory at Mansfield, requesting him to put the city police force on the lookout for a young man known in the reformatory as Henry Edwards, No. 851, alias Harry Howard Enke, a printer 21 years old. He is from Cuyahoga county and has violated his parole.

Former Pastor Wedded.

Word has just been received by West End people announcing the wedding of Rev. W. H. Gamertzfelder, who was formerly the pastor of the First United Evangelical church, of this city, and Miss Edna Kopp, of Ashland, O. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride.

New Position for Spires.

Constable C. E. Spires lot a letter day from the postoffice at Marion, O., offering him a position as clerk there. He secured the offer through the influence of his brother, S. E. Spires, who is employed there. Mr. Spires will accept and leave next Monday. If he finds the position satisfactory he will resign as constable.

Want to Remain a City.

That Wellsville will soon become a village again is now taken as an almost assured fact and much regret is expressed. Mayor Fogo and the city solicitor will be in Columbus when the legislature meets and will exert all of their influence to keep Wellsville a city.

No Council Meeting.

Only two or three members of council appeared at the city hall last evening and no council meeting was held.

Sacred Nuts of Japan.

Although well known to travelers and collectors of curiosities, the horn nut, or "sacred nut," of Japan was almost wholly unknown to fruit and nut dealers in this country prior to 1888, when a New York commission merchant received the first large consignment. They are called "sacred nuts" because used in certain forms of Japanese worship, where they are placed on the altar and ignited. Being very rich in oil, they burn with a hot, bluish flame and give off a peculiar odor, the fumes being supposed to rise as an acceptable incense to the gods. They grow under water and have a leaf like an American lily, the form of the nut itself being an almost exact counterpart of an Asian buffalo's head, drooping horns and all. In the raw state they are hard and tasteless, but when cooked the flavor resembles that of boiled chestnuts. They are said to retain their edible qualities for upward of twenty years.

Very Polite.

"Here's an account of a man," said Mrs. Gadsby, "who hasn't spoken a word to his wife in three years."

"That's rather a rigid adherence to one of the rules of politeness," said Gadsby.

"Rules of politeness!" said Mrs. Gadsby in a scornful tone.

STEPPED OUT OF BED

Aged Resident of Chester Severely Injured on a Boat in a Novel Way.

Ralph Marsh, an aged resident of Chester, is lying at his home in Middle run, suffering from the effects of severe injuries sustained in a peculiar manner while on a lake steamer bound from Buffalo to Cleveland.

Mr. Marsh, in company with George Sheckler and Henry Laughley, was returning from a trip to Niagara Falls. The party took passage on a steamer at Buffalo on Saturday evening. Mr. Marsh was assigned to an upper berth. Some time during the night he either attempted to turn over or forgot where he was and stepped out of bed. At any rate he fell from the upper berth, alighting upon the hard floor with considerable force. Two ribs were broken and he was otherwise injured. It is thought he was also internally injured, but this cannot be ascertained at present.

The injured man's companions had much difficulty in making their patient comfortable during the remainder of the trip to Cleveland. At that point medical aid was secured, and Mr. Marsh was brought to this city yesterday. His advanced age is against him, but it is thought he will recover.

Funeral Held Today.

The funeral of Mrs. Levi Gardner took place from the family home in New Cumberland at 10 o'clock this morning. P. chapel, officiated and the remains were interred in the cemetery at New Cumberland.

A union Sunday school picnic from Brilliant is being held at Rock Springs park today. The trains arrived on the Panhandle, and it is estimated that 1,000 people are in attendance.

CHESTER NOTES.

A forcible detention case is pending in Justice Johnston's court.

Fitzpatrick, the smallpox patient, was released yesterday by health authorities, and aside from being badly marked, looks little the worse for his experience.

A Precedent Established.

A Methodist clergyman in the upper portion of the city encountered a Celt one recent rainy Sunday standing close to the wall of the church in an effort to utilize the coping as a shield from the storm.

"Come inside," said the clergyman cheerily. "You'll be out of the wet, and you can have a seat while you're waiting for it to clear."

"No, thank yez," said the Celt emphatically. "O'll not go into th' house av me inimies!"

"Well, that's rather harsh," answered the clergyman. "When our Lord was on earth, did he not go among his enemies?"

"Yis; he did that," assented the Celt with growing warmth, "and yez didn't do a thing to him, ayther!"—Philadelphia Times.

MARKET DULL AND SAGGING.

Due, Yesterday, Evidently to Inroads Upon the Banking Reserves.

New York, Aug. 19.—A dull and sagging stock market yesterday was the natural consequence of various evidences going to show that the expanding needs of the circulation are making increasing inroads upon banking reserves. The continued transfer of credits to foreign lenders through the medium of the exchange market mitigated the anxiety over the money outlook without entirely curing it. Besides the local money situation, the market was depressed by selling of stocks for London account, owing to hardening money rates there. The net earnings of railroads for June reported showed some decline in the Southwest, owing to shortage in the corn movement, and intimations were given of probably similar results for July. The reported retirement of the president of the United States Steel corporation had some influence in the general market, although the stocks of that corporation were but little affected. Offsetting factors in the heaviness of the market were the strength of Louisville and Nashville on supposed progress in the financial readjustment; in Toledo, St. Louis and Western on rumors of Vanderbilt control; in Texas and Pacific on the alleged seeking of control by St. Louis and San Francisco; Chicago Terminal stocks on rumored plans of new tenants, and in a number of minor specialties. The closing tone was dull and heavy.

U. S. refunding 2s advanced ⅛ and the new 4s ¼ per cent on the last call.

FOUGHT SOLDIERS AND POLICE.

French Citizens Opposed Closing of Catholic Schools, but Were Overcome.

Brest, France, Aug. 19.—The attempt made by the authorities yesterday to close the sisters' schools at Ploudaniel, Folgoet and St. Meen, the last villages in Brittany where unauthorized schools were still open, met with determined resistance.

At St. Meen the sisters were expelled and the school was closed after a two hours' struggle, during which a police commissary was wounded.

Later, after a long resistance, the closing of the school at Ploudaniel was effected by the authorities.

The school at Folgoet was also closed.

Paris, Aug. 19.—The Temps says Commandant LeRoy Ladurie, of the Nineteenth infantry, who refused to obey an order to aid in closing unauthorized schools, has been placed under arrest.

WILL SCHWAB RESIGN?

President of Steel Combine to Sail For Europe This Week—Health Said to Be Improved.

New York, Aug. 19.—It was learned last night that Charles M. Schwab proposes to sail for Europe Wednesday or Thursday. His friends stated that he is going to take a vacation and take two months visiting France, England and Austria. There were reports that he will resign, owing to alleged ill health.

It has been reported that the presidency would pass to James Gayley, the first vice president of the corporation. Other rumors have pointed to H. C. Frick.

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 19.—Mr. Schwab, who is staying at Loretto, is said to be in better health than any time since he arrived.

BOER GENERALS PLEASED.

Didn't See Fleet Review, Because Not Properly Dressed.

London, Aug. 19.—Montagu White, the former consul general in London of the Transvaal, has issued a statement, authorized by the Boer generals, as follows:

"The generals are proceeding to the continent for the purpose of greeting Mr. Kruger and Mr. Steyn and attending the funeral of General Lucas Meyer. Their present intention is to return to London at an early date for the transaction of business, but they have not decided on any fixed program. During their brief stay in London the generals have been the recipients of many invitations and kind messages of welcome, which they fully appreciate.

"The report that the decision of the generals not to visit the naval review was due to the influence of Mr. Fischer is not true. Their real reason for declining the invitation Saturday was that they did not consider their attire quite suitable for a ceremonious visit, and the necessarily short notice conveyed to them did not give them the time for necessary preparations. They were, however, glad of the opportunity of paying their respects to the king on the following day, after they had made the necessary purchases, and they are gratified at the kind manner in which they were received by his majesty."

Exploding a Theory.

At the beginning of the nineteenth century the French Academy of Sciences offered to give a prize to the first person who would solve the following problem: If you take a vase full of water and put a stone or any similar body in it, the water will flow over. If, however, you put into it a fish, the volume of which is equal to that of the stone, it will not flow over. Explain this phenemenon.

Learned essays on the subject poured in from all quarters, but the problem was not satisfactorily solved in any of them, and consequently the prize was not awarded.

In the following year the same question was again propounded, and for five years answers continued to pour in to the academy. Then it suddenly occurred to one of the academicians that, after all, the problem might be incapable of solution, and he determined to make a test for himself.

Filling a vase with water he put a stone into it and saw that the water flowed over. Then he took out the stone, filled the vase again with water and put into it a fish, the volume of which was the same as that of the stone, and saw, to his surprise, that the water again flowed over.

He told the academy of his discovery and the result was that the offer of a prize was at once withdrawn.

Misplaced Confidence.

An Irishman once applied for a job on board a certain ship.

"Well," said the captain, "where are your recommendations?"

"Shure, an' I haven't enny, sur."

"Can't take you, then; got a German here with fine recommendations; have to give the job to him."

Pat begged so hard, however, that the captain finally agreed to take him and the German both on a trial trip, the best man to have the permanent job.

They were well out at sea when a storm arose one day while Pat and the German were scrubbing the deck. A big wave came along and swept the German overboard with his bucket. Pat immediately picked up his bucket and started after the captain, whom he found below.

"Well, Pat, what's the matter now?" the captain inquired.

"Faith, sur, ye know that German what had such foine ricommindations?"

"Yes; what of him?"

"Begorra, sur, an' he's gone off with one of your buckets."

Difficult Dentistry.

The nawab of Rampur, whose domain is about 600 miles to the northwest of Calcutta, came down from his home to call on Dr. Smith, says a London paper, and brought 150 people with him to see about his mother's teeth.

She wanted a set of false teeth, and because Englishwomen had two sets the maharima must have two sets also. The nawab of Rampur is a Mohammedan; so of course the mother could not show her face.

Likewise on that account Dr. Smith had to go to Rampur to do the work. Two thousand miles to make two sets of false teeth! It cost the nawab 4,000 rupees.

The old woman lay back with her face covered, and the dentist worked at her mouth through a hole in a sheet.

A Question of Notes.

"Yes, sir," said the man with a frayed collar, "that land is worth $1,800 a foot, and only a year ago I could have bought it for a song."

"But you couldn't sing, eh?" cackled the funny man.

The man with the frayed collar eyed him distantly and haughtily and replied in cold, cutting tones:

"Oh, I could sing, but I couldn't get the right notes!"

And the funny man looked as crushed as an overripe strawberry at the bottom of the basket.—Exchange.

WELLSVILLE

Meeting of Sister And Brother By Accident in Wellsville.

Mrs. M. Story, widow of a once prominent Pittsburg broker, who figured in a romantic meeting here several days ago, is still in the city. She will probably leave for Pittsburg some time today. Mrs. Story is now a resident of Kansas City, Mo., where she has been managing a hotel, which represents a part of the fortune which was left her by her husband. She is a daughter of the late Jacob Buttenberg, who died in East Liverpool about 10 years ago and was brought here for burial.

Jacob Buttenberg was related to Homer Laughlin, the East Liverpool potter, who is now in California. Mrs. Story and a brother Bert, now a traveling salesman for a Pittsburg concern, formerly lived in East Liverpool. Their meeting several days ago at the Metropole hotel was the first in ten years. It was purely accidental.

Bert returned last night from Alliance. He will resign his present position and go to Kansas City to assist his sister with the management of the hotel. Mrs. Story was in East Liverpool yesterday and spent some time visiting friends.

Include Parade, Picnic, Dancing Baseball and Many Other Sports.

A special committee of Trades and Labor Assembly held a meeting last evening at the home of F. A. Mcdowell for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for the big picnic to be held on Labor day, September 1.

It was decided to hold the picnic in the Aten lots in the West End instead of on the creek bottom. It was also decided to erect a temporary dancing pavilion there to be covered with canvas. An East Liverpool orchestra will furnish the music.

An industrial parade will be held in the morning. Two base ball games will be played and there will be several races for prizes.

SUIT AGAINST CITY

Wheeling Man Wants Lot on Which Wellsville City Hall Stands.

A dispatch from Wheeling states that a suit for $50,000 against the city of Wellsville, O., has been filed by George Wells, of Wheeling. He wants possession of the ground on which stands the city hall, and all accrued rent and interest.

His grandfather gave the town a lot to be used for a market place, with the understanding that it should revert to his heirs, it is claimed.

Police Asked to Aid.

Mayor Fogo is in receipt of a card from the superintendent of the Ohio state reformatory at Mansfield, requesting him to put the city police force on the lookout for a young man known in the reformatory as Henry Edwards, No. 851, alias Harry Howard Enke, a printer 21 years old. He is from Cuyahoga county and has violated his parole.

Former Pastor Wedded.

Word has just been received by West End people announcing the wedding of Rev. W. H. Gamertzfelder, who was formerly the pastor of the First United Evangelical church, of this city, and Miss Edna Kopp, of Ashland, O. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride.

New Position for Spires.

Constable C. E. Spires lot a letter today from the postoffice at Marion, Ind., offering him a position as clerk there. He secured the offer through the influence of his brother, S. E. Spires, who is employed there. Mr. Spires will accept and leave next Monday. If he finds the position satisfactory he will resign as constable.

Want to Remain a City.

That Wellsville will soon become a village again is now taken as an almost assured fact and much regret is expressed. Mayor Fogo and the city solicitor will be in Columbus when the legislature meets and will exert all of their influence to keep Wellsville a city.

No Council Meeting.

Only two or three members of council appeared at the city hall last evening and no council meeting was held.

Sacred Nuts of Japan.

Although well known to travelers and collectors of curiosities, the horn nut, or "sacred nut," of Japan was almost wholly unknown to fruit and nut dealers in this country prior to 1888, when a New York commission merchant received the first large consignment. They are called "sacred nuts" because used in certain forms of Japanese worship, where they are placed on the altar and ignited. Being very rich in oil, they burn with a hot, bluish flame and give off a peculiar odor, the fumes being supposed to rise as an acceptable incense to the gods. They grow under water and have a leaf like an American lily, the form of the nut itself being an almost exact counterpart of an Asian buffalo's head, drooping horns and all. In the raw state they are hard and tasteless, but when cooked the flavor resembles that of boiled chestnuts. They are said to retain their edible qualities for upward of twenty years.

Very Polite.

"Here's an account of a man," said Mrs. Gadsby, "who hasn't spoken a word to his wife in three years."

"That's rather a rigid adherence to one of the rules of politeness," said Gadsby.

"Rules of politeness!" said Mrs. Gadsby in a scornful tone.

STEPPED OUT OF BED

Aged Resident of Chester Severely Injured on a Boat in a Novel Way.

Ralph Marsh, an aged resident of Chester, is lying at his home in Middle run, suffering from the effects of severe injuries sustained in a peculiar manner while on a lake steamer bound from Buffalo to Cleveland.

Mr. Marsh, in company with George Sheckler and Henry Laughley, was returning from a trip to Niagara Falls. The party took passage on a steamer at Buffalo on Saturday evening. Mr. Marsh was assigned to an upper berth. Some time during the night he either attempted to turn over or forgot where he was and stepped out of bed. At any rate he fell from the upper berth, alighting upon the hard floor with considerable force. Two ribs were broken and he was otherwise injured. It is thought he was also internally injured, but this cannot be ascertained at present.

The injured man's companions had much difficulty in making their patient comfortable during the remainder of the trip to Cleveland. At that point medical aid was secured, and Mr. Marsh was brought to this city yesterday. His advanced age is against him, but it is thought he will recover.

Funeral Held Today.

The funeral of Mrs. Levi Gardner took place from the family home in New Cumberland at 10 o'clock this morning. P. chapel, officiated and the remains were interred in the cemetery at New Cumberland.

CHESTER NOTES.

A Precedent Established.

A Methodist clergyman in the upper portion of the city encountered a Celt one recent rainy Sunday standing close to the wall of the church in an effort to utilize the coping as a shield from the storm.

"Come inside," said the clergyman cheerily. "You'll be out of the wet, and you can have a seat while you're waiting for it to clear."

"No, thank yez," said the Celt emphatically. "O'll not go into th' house av me inimies!"

"Well, that's rather harsh," answered the clergyman. "When our Lord was on earth, did he not go among his enemies?"

"Yis; he did that," assented the Celt with growing warmth, "and yez didn't do a ting to him, ayther!"—Philadelphia Times.

MARKET DULL AND SAGGING.

Due, Yesterday, Evidently to Inroads Upon the Banking Reserves.

New York, Aug. 19.—A dull and sagging stock market yesterday was the natural consequence of various evidences going to show that the expanding needs of the circulation are making increasing inroads upon banking reserves. The continued transfer of credits to foreign lenders through the medium of the exchange market mitigated the anxiety over the money outlook without entirely curing it. Besides the local money situation, the market was depressed by selling of stocks for London account, owing to hardening money rates there. The net earnings of railroads for June reported showed some decline in the Southwest, owing to shortage in the corn movement, and intimations were given of probably similar results for July. The reported retirement of the president of the United States Steel corporation had some influence in the general market, although the stocks of that corporation were but little affected. Offsetting factors in the heaviness of the market were the strength of Louisville and Nashville on supposed progress in the financial readjustment; in Toledo, St. Louis and Western on rumors of Vanderbilt control; in Texas and Pacific on the alleged seeking of control by St. Louis and San Francisco; Chicago Terminal stocks on rumored plans of new tenants, and in a number of minor specialties. The closing tone was dull and heavy.

U. S. refunding 2s advanced ⅛ and the new 4s ¼ per cent on the last call.

Learned essays on the subject poured in from all quarters, but the problem was not satisfactorily solved in any of them, and consequently the prize was not awarded.

In the following year the same question was again propounded, and for five years answers continued to pour in to the academy. Then it suddenly occurred to one of the academicians that, after all, the problem might be incapable of solution, and he determined to make a test for himself.

Filling a vase with water he put a stone into it and saw that the water flowed over. Then he took out the stone, filled the vase again with water and put into it a fish, the volume of which was the same as that of the stone, and saw, to his surprise, that the water again flowed over.

He told the academy of his discovery and the result was that the offer of a prize was at once withdrawn.

Misplaced Confidence.

An Irishman once applied for a job on board a certain ship.

"Well," said the captain, "where are your recommendations?"

"Shure, an' I haven't enny, sur."

"Can't take you, then; got a German here with fine recommendations; have to give the job to him."

Pat begged so hard, however, that the captain finally agreed to take him and the German both on a trial trip, the best man to have the permanent job.

They were well out at sea when a storm arose one day while Pat and the German were scrubbing the deck. A big wave came along and swept the German overboard with his bucket. Pat immediately picked up his bucket and started after the captain, whom he found below.

"Well, Pat, what's the matter now?" the captain inquired.

"Faith, sur, ye know that German what had such foine ricommindations?"

"Yes; what of him?"

"Begorra, sur, an' he's gone off with one of your buckets."

Difficult Dentistry.

The nawab of Rampur, whose domain is about 600 miles to the northwest of Calcutta, came down from his home to call on Dr. Smith, says a London paper, and brought 150 people with him to see about his mother's teeth.

She wanted a set of false teeth, and because Englishwomen had two sets the maharima must have two sets also. The nawab of Rampur is a Mohammedan; so of course the mother could not show her face.

Likewise on that account Dr. Smith had to go to Rampur to do the work. Two thousand miles to make two sets of false teeth! It cost the nawab 4,000 rupees.

The old woman lay back with her face covered, and the dentist worked at her mouth through a hole in a sheet.

A Question of Notes.

"Yes, sir," said the man with a frayed collar, "that land is worth $1,800 a foot, and only a year ago I could have bought it for a song."

"But you couldn't sing, eh?" cackled the funny man.

The man with the frayed collar eyed him distantly and haughtily and replied in cold, cutting tones:

"Oh, I could sing, but I couldn't get the right notes!"

And the funny man looked as crushed as an overripe strawberry at the bottom of the basket.—Exchange.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

BOXERS WERE AGAIN ACTIVE.

Committed Murders and Destroyed Property in Western China, In June.

New York, Aug. 19.—The Methodist mission board has received by mail a number of reports from its agents in China concerning the recent local uprisings in China.

Rev. Joseph Beech, of Chung King, West China, writes under date of June 22, saying in part:

"Word has just been received from the Rev. W. Edward Manly and the Rev. Spencer Lewis, a superintendent of the mission, who are in that neighborhood, that the Red Lantern society, the local name for Boxers, has burned the chapel at Tien Ku Chiae, and killed the preacher and four other members."

Under date of June 30, the Rev. Mr. Beech writes concerning the uprising in West China, saying in part:

"In addition to the destruction of the Tien Ku Chiae community, Wi Kwang Tsang has been destroyed, but most of the people escaped. Between Tsicheo and Chentu the extent of the trouble is unknown, but a letter from Brother Cady states there is considerable alarm at Chentu, but that the officials are confident there will be no serious trouble there. Throughout the country, however, there has been widespread destruction already, and it is probable that most of the Christians living outside walled cities, comprising several hundred persons, will lose all they have, if not life itself. There are now very many who have neither home, food nor clothing. Brother Spencer Lewis is doing what he can to assist them, and has secured about 50 taels from the officials for this purpose, and coffins to bury the dead. Brother Lewis telegraphs that the Boxers have been defeated. All is quiet here and the officials seem confident that the trouble will be confined to the country districts."

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

BOOKS ARE REQUIRED

This city with a public library that of some of the ingredients has landed on about $5,000 and which is really this city. Glaze is composed of salts, with books of knowledge, can't point acid, white lead, oxide of zinc, flint pot stone and a common clean sand. Some manufacturers claim that a certain amount of lead should be used, while others say that none cannot be placed in that class by in the least, while others say that a fact a statement of the librarian the trouble lay in other ingredients. In this issue calls the books wanting. Yesterday this trouble was experienced by many pottery men have been placed. Barrett pottery and at H the books were put in the library, which by the morning the ghost crew this is to be rectified. If there is one has sent home, and of course several department of the East Liverpool other departments were not able to supply that should be kept up more work during the afternoon. A member right another it is this department, and of the firm stated last evening that when the fact becomes generally some changes in the glaze had been known that a good set of books made and that the chief department is kept in the would save questions this morning. simply they will be need. There is Similar trouble at Pratt's was experi- no question of this, as it is admitted enced and at that plant the difficulty is both operative and manufacturers lay in the held. The matter has been left by leading works of this sort, as intended. Such difficulties as these higher knowledge of the pottery in are to be regretted, but they will oc- quality is obtained. There is now a cur and no one can help it.

ANOTHER LOCAL.

Word has been sent to secretaries of the officials of the pottery at Tiltonville, asking for their transfer cards, and that they be forwarded to them not later than Thursday. It is presumed that the new local at Tiltonville, which will be a green one, will be for- mally organized Thursday evening. This local will be affiliated with the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters and the charter will be num- bered in the thirties. No request for copies of this paper will be made to Secretary T. J. Duffy until after the local is or- ganized.

MAKING IMPROVEMENTS.

All the clay presses at the East Liv- erpool pottery are being repaired, the work having been in progress since last Saturday afternoon. It was ex- pected that all changes would be completed by this afternoon. Anoth- er change is being made on the third floor of this plant, where a number of new dry rooms are being built. Car- penters have been working on the im- provements for a few days, and they will not complete their contract before tomorrow evening.

BROKE AN ANKLE.

Mrs. Nan Green, a finisher em- ployed at the Union, while visiting at the home of relatives in the East End Sunday evening, fell when about at the bottom of a pair of steps and broke her ankle. The fracture was re- duced at once, but it will be several days before Mrs. Green will be able to resume her work.

A VISITOR.

Daniel Fitzgerald, formerly a well known pottery workman of this city, now located at the Tiltonville plant, was in the city yesterday calling on his numerous friends. Mr. Fitzgerald stated that the Tiltonville shop was running quite well, and that judging from the manner orders were being received the shop would be operated con- tinuously.

GOODWIN'S TO START.

According to a statement of a mem- ber of the firm, the Goodwin pottery will resume operations in full in about two or three weeks. Some departments of this shop have been working for a few days, but the big shop has not been doing full. The ghost kilnmen of this shop started to work a few days ago.

Left Few Near Relatives.

Salem, August 19.—Mrs. Ada Sharp, who died yesterday from carbol- ic acid, taken with suicidal intent, was 19 years old and a native of Wadsworth. She is survived by her husband, William Sharpnack, and no other near relatives.

NEW KILNMAN.

Robert Johnson, who a number of years ago was a kilnman at the Brunt pottery, has returned to that plant. He commenced work there on the first and a few days ago, and is per- forming his duties in the way all kilnmen

HAD THEM GUESSING.

Thousands of dollars are lost annu- ally by the manufacturing potters of this city from broken ware, but no one has seemed to take advantage of this small item, until about a year ago. Just a few weeks ago an interes- ting experiment was made. Experi- ments in the pottery industry count for much, and so in this instance. A small amount of "green" ware was ground into a perfect pulverized state, and with a small amount of water a little portion of the saltet- ted biscuit was mixed in a sort of clay state. This was then placed in the biscuit kiln, then dipped and fired in a glost kiln. The effect was little less than wonderful and when the manufacturer shows this sample, or the result of his experiment to another manufacturer he has them guessing, and very hard at that. The piece that was fired is about as large as one's hand, and just a day or so was broken. Not even the glaze cracked. The body, however, showed itself to be porous, but with a little doctoring manufacturers claim that the porous part can be eliminated. Practically all the broken biscuit ware in this city is sold for purposes foreign to the manufacturing trade. The claim is now made that it will be but a short time until all the manufacturers will be grinding up all their broken ware, and working it over again. Some manufacturers have contended this point for months, but it seems that no person has ventured to take the in- itative.

MANY ARE IN TROUBLE.

Within the past two months the manufacturing potters of this city have been having all sorts of trouble, and it was so even so late as yester- day. The trouble has been the mix- ing of the glaze and in many kilns of glost ware blisters have been thrown out or else converted into thirds, where it should be firsts. It seems that the trouble lies in the mix- ture of the glaze. Not that the proper mixture is have not been used.

FATAL LABOR RIOT.

Anthracite Strikers and Deputies Clashed at Nesquehoning, Pa.

DEPUTY KILLED A STRIKER.

The Officer Was Arrested, Charged With the Murder—Lodged In the County Jail, at Mauch Chunk, Pa. Quay to Try to Settle Strike.

Nesquehoning, Pa., Aug. 19.—In a clash between striking mine workers and deputies here last night Patrick Sharp, a striker, of Lanstord, was shot and killed almost instantly by a deputy. The shooting caused considerable excitement for a time, but order was soon restored without any other persons being injured and the town became quiet. A deputy named Harry McElmoyle was arrested, charged with the killing of Sharp, and was taken to the county jail at Mauch Chunk.

Another version of the encounter says Sharp and three friends met the party of five deputies, who were on their way to work, and that Sharp walked up to one of the men, presumably McElmoyle, called him an "entair worker," and told him that he would "be more of a man if he did not wear a star." He then made a lunge at the officer, whereat the latter drew his revolver and fired at Sharp, who fell to the ground, dead.

After the shooting the five officers made their way to the Nesquehoning colliery, where they were employed.

After the dead striker had been carried home about half of a mob of about 500 that had gathered started on a march over the mountain to Nesquehoning to wreak vengeance upon the deputies. Before they reached there the five officers were spirited away and taken to Mauch Chunk under a heavy guard.

Last night Baird Snyder, assistant superintendent of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company, appealed to General Gobin to send troops to Lansford to preserve order. He said that the entire Panther Creek valley from Nesquehoning to Mauch Chunk was in a riotous state and that serious trouble was feared before morning. General Gobin said that he could not send troops until an appeal had been made by Sheriff Gombert. Up to a late hour last night the sheriff had taken no action in the matter.

Quay Will Try to Settle Strike.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 19.—The committee representing the Public Alliance, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., held a conference with United States Senator Quay at his cottage on New Hampshire avenue last night for the purpose of devising some plan to end the present anthracite coal miners' strike. It was finally decided by the senator to attempt to bring President George F. Baer, of the Philadelphia and Reading railway, and John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, together in Philadelphia, probably next Friday. It is probable that other officials on each side of the controversy will be asked to attend the meeting.

BYERS CASE CONTINUED.

Judge Allowed Defendants 30 Days In Which to Answer.

Pittsburg, Aug. 19.—When the Byers case was resumed yesterday afternoon in common pleas court No. 1 the attorneys for the plaintiff and defendants asked the court to grant a continuance for 30 days in order to give the defendants time to prepare an answer. This Judge Robert S. Frazer did, and the case will not likely be concluded now before the equity trial list in November. No witnesses were examined in the case yesterday.

The plaintiff, Jacob Byers, a wealthy resident of Greensburg, asked the court to restrain his nephew, William S. Byers, and the Fidelity Title and Trust company from opening a box in the office of the trust company without an order of court and in the presence of an officer of the court. The plaintiff charges his nephew with misappropriating $175,000 worth of Mt. Pleasant Coke company bonds and about $50,000 in cash. An accounting also is asked for.

A MINISTER FOR CONGRESS.

Rev. Dr. Wood Announced He Would Be a Candidate.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 19.—Rev. Morgan Wood, D. D., pastor of Plymouth Congregational church and one of the most widely known ministers of his church in the United States, yesterday announced that he would be a candidate for congress on the Democratic ticket from the Twenty-first Ohio district. The Republican nominee is Hon. Theodore E. Burton, the present incumbent.

Dr. Wood has ministered in Detroit, New Orleans and Toronto. He has been pastor of Plymouth church, this city, for several years, and ranks high as a vigorous speaker.

Woman Found Shot After Quarrel.

Bridgeport, O., Aug. 19.—After a quarel with her husband, early yesterday morning, Mrs. Henry Kochnlein was found, after two reports were heard, with the side of her head in. She is dying. Her husband was taken to St. Clairsville jail, at his own request, he fearing violence of the people.

R. R. REMINGTON SUICIDED.

It Is Believed Miss Van Alen Broke Her Engagement to Marry Him.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 19.—Disappointment of a broken matrimonial engagement is believed to have been the cause of the suicide here yesterday of Robert Reading Remington, of New York. He shot himself three times in a club house here.

His engagement to Miss May Van Alen, daughter of James Van Alen, and granddaughter of Mrs. William Astor, has been discussed for some months. At first it was denied and then affirmed, but it is generally believed there was a definite engagement, which, however, was broken some three weeks ago. It is said that Mr. Van Alen was greatly opposed to the engagement from the beginning.

Since then Mr. Remington has been despondent, although when asked about the engagement he steadily affirmed that he was to be married in the fall. He left the city about a week ago, breaking up his domestic arrangements here and sending away all his effects. Last Thursday, however, he suddenly returned to Newport.

Mr. Remington was about 35 years of age and a member of the firm of Remington Bros., New York. He had always been known as a man of very quiet tastes. His death has caused a tremendous sensation here.

Last night Mr. Remington's brother telegraphed from New York to have the body prepared for burial. It will be taken to Pittsburg, the former home of the Remingtons.

DON'T EXPECT LEGAL BATTLE.

Arrival of Mrs. Fair's Relatives Was Being Awaited.

San Francisco, Aug. 19.—Judge Carroll Cook yesterday postponed the hearing of the application of Public Administrator Farnham for special letters of administration over the estates of Charles Fair and his wife until today.

Until Mrs. Hannah Nelson, the mother of the late Mrs. Caroline Fair, shall arrive here from Plainfield, N. J., it is highly improbable that any testament from either of the victims of the accident in France will be filed for record here.

"We are awaiting the arrival of Mrs. Fair's relatives," said Attorney Haggerty, "and don't by any means expect a legal battle, as has been intimated. Beyond that I can say nothing."

"There will be no contest over the will of Charles L. Fair, at least so far as Mrs. Oelrichs and Mrs. Vanderbilt are concerned," said Herman Oelrichs. "We are perfectly willing to let the matter rest as it stands, and if there is any contest it will come from the relatives on the other side."

LEISHMAN ACTS FIRMLY.

Turkey Has Not Kept Agreement With American Minister.

Constantinople, Aug. 19.—The non-execution by the Turkish government of agreements reached long ago on several questions affecting the interests of American citizens had led to somewhat strained relations between the United States legation and the porte. The United States minister, John G. A. Leishman, has informed the porte that he will not discuss other matters until the terms of the settlements already agreed upon are carried out.

Four Injured In a Wreck.

Bluffton, O., Aug. 19.—A Lake Erie and Western passenger train was derailed and wrecked at the crossing of the Northern Ohio and Lake Erie and Western road here yesterday. Charles Peeltner, fireman, of Lima, O., had a leg broken and was seriously hurt internally. A. Laurence, brakeman, Lima, O., had a fracture of the kneecap; W. P. Keptner, bridgeman, Fremont, O., ankle sprained; J. B. Considine, passenger, Portland, Ind., badly hurt.

Cortelyou Visited Mrs. McKinley.

Canton, O., Aug. 19.—Secretary to the President George B. Cortelyou spent several hours here yesterday. He and Judge W. R. Day are executors of the estate of the late President McKinley, which makes occasional visits to Canton by Mr. Cortelyou necessary. He spent most of the day with Mrs. McKinley and accompanied her to the cemetery, where he laid a cluster of flowers on the casket of the man with whom he had been so closely associated.

Alger May Not Be a Candidate.

Detroit, Aug. 19.—When General R. A. Alger was asked yesterday if he was ready to announce his candidacy for the United States senate to succeed the late James McMillan, he said: "Upon mature consideration I have decided to consider the matter a few days longer before arriving at a determination. I shall reach a decision this week." This is taken to mean that General Alger may not be a candidate after all.

Justice Shiras to Rztire.

Pittsburg, Aug. 19.—George Shiras III confirmed the report, yesterday, that Justice Shiras is to retire from the United States supreme bench. He said it will be some time within the present year.

Filipino Labor Leaders Arrested.

Manila, Aug. 19.—Isabelo De Los Reyes and four other labor leaders were arrested here yesterday, charged with threatening to assassinate certain striking cigar makers if they returned to work.

THE MOROS REPULSED.

Rebellious Natives Renew Attacks on Outposts and Pack Trains.

ORDERED TO BE SUBDUED.

General Chaffee, Who Recommended Active Hostilities, Given Permission to Commence a Campaign—This, After President Had Considered It.

Manlia, Aug. 19.—The Moros in Mindanao are renewing their attacks upon the outposts and pack trains of the American column at Lake Lanao, which is under the command of Captain J. J. Pershing, of the Fifteenth cavalry. The Americans have successfully repulsed the Moro attacks and have suffered no losses.

The commanders of the American forces on Mindanao report aggressive action against the Moros to be necessary and ask permission to move against Bacolod and other strongholds of the hostile Mohammedans. There are about 2,000 American soldiers on Mindanao available for the desired aggressive movement. It is believed this number is sufficient to defeat the Moros, although it would possibly be necessary to strengthen their base before undertaking the movement.

Washington, Aug. 19.—A cable dispatch has been received from General Chaffee, stating that in his judgment an active campaign against the Moros in Mindanao was necessary in order to curb the opposition that has been growing against United States authority. The dispatch was considered of sufficient importance to be repeated to President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay.

General Chaffee has been directed to use his own discretion in the matter and will no doubt engage in an aggressive movement against the insurgent Moros. Some time before Secretary Root left Washington the Moro situation was under consideration, and from a dispatch then at hand the secretary was of the opinion that the Moros must be dealt with severely before they would respect the authority of the United States.

General Chaffee is now in Mindanao, having left Manila some days ago.

CAMPAIGNS AGAINST LADRONES.

Hot Fighting by the Constabulary. Casualties on Both Sides.

Manila, Aug. 19.—A force of native constabulary engaged a band of ladrones in a sharp fight last Saturday near Caloocan, about four miles north of Manila. The arrival of reinforcements for the constabulary won them the victory. Four members of the constabulary were killed and one was wounded. The ladrones left three of their number dead, but carried off their wounded.

The chase of the Cavite ladrones through the mountains of that province continues. Forces of native constabulary have had encounters with the bands of Felizardo and Montallon. Several of the ladrones were killed or captured and a quantity of their supplies was destroyed.

Newspaper Men Found Guilty.

Manila, Aug. 19.—Judge Ambler, who has conducted the trial of Frederick Dorr, proprietor, and Edward O'Brien, editor of Freedom, who were charged with libeling Benito Legarda, a Filipino member of the civil commission, announced yesterday that he found the defendants guilty. The trial of Dorr and O'Brien on a charge of sedition began yesterday.

AMERICAN CLAIM IS RIGHT.

Old Russian House and Monuments Found Which Establish Alaskan Line.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 19.—Skaguay advices say the question of the destruction of an old Russian monument in the disputed territory between Alaska and British Yukon has been settled. S. Weitzman, a merchant of Haines, arrived in Skaguay with the news that Lieutenant Owens had found two monuments in perfect repair and definitely located the place where a third one had been destroyed. One of the monuments discovered is about 10 miles above Rainey Hollow. The other is on the Tahkeena river, 50 miles from the coast.

The third monument has been destroyed within a few months. Owens also found an old storm house on the summit. This was called the boundary house when the Russians occupied the country. This establishes beyond all doubt that the Russians did occupy the territory now disputed and that the boundary line, according to the treaty, is where the Americans claim it to be.

Starved to Death; Money With Him.

Salt Lake, Utah, Aug. 19.—The dead body of Peter Anderson, known as "The Hermit Prospector of Park City," has been found in his lonely cabin near the Anchor mill, in the Park City mining district. Anderson had evidently been dead for weeks. It is believed he died from starvation, though $1,700 in cash was found hidden in the cabin. It is believed that fully $10,000 lies to his credit in various banks. His only known relatives live in Sweden.

Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly.
Cure all distressing, dangerous kidney ills.

Plenty of evidence to prove this.

Mrs. Caroline White of 225 Railroad street, East End, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and found great relief from the treatment, although I am 70 years of age, and had about given up all hope of ever being helped. I took medicine and my back ached just the same, grew stiff and lame when sitting long or when lying in bed and sharp twinges of pain and other symptoms convinced me my kidneys were out of order. Always on the lookout for anything that might bring relief, when I heard Doan's Kidney Pills so highly spoken of, I got a box at the W. & W. Pharmacy. After using that for a short time I could plainly notice the good effects they were causing. I continued some time longer and gradually but surely improved. I found Doan's Kidney Pills a splendid remedy and advise others to try them, feeling confident if they do so they will have no cause to regret it."

Nesquehoning, Pa., Aug. 19.—In a clash between striking mine workers and deputies here last night Patrick Sharp, a striker, of Lanstord, was shot and killed almost instantly by a deputy. The shooting caused considerable excitement for a time, but order was soon restored without any other persons being injured and the town became quiet. A deputy named Harry McElmoyle was arrested, charged with the killing of Sharp, and was taken to the county jail at Mauch Chunk.

Another version of the encounter says Sharp and three friends met the party of five deputies, who were on their way to work, and that Sharp walked up to one of the men, presumably McElmoyle, called him an "outair worker," and told him that he would "be more of a man if he did not wear a star." He then made a lunge at the officer, whereat the latter drew his revolver and fired at Sharp, who fell to the ground, dead.

After the shooting the five officers made their way to the Nesquehoning colliery, where they were employed.

After the dead striker had been carried home about half of a mob of about 500 that had gathered started on a march over the mountain to Nesquehoning to wreak vengeance upon the deputies. Before they reached there the five officers were spirited away and taken to Mauch Chunk under a heavy guard.

Last night Baird Snyder, assistant superintendent of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company, appealed to General Gobin to send troops to Lanstord to preserve order. He said that the entire Panther Creek valley from Nesquehoning to Mauch Chunk was in a riotous state and that serious trouble was feared before morning. General Gobin said that he could not send troops until an appeal had been made by Sheriff Gombert. Up to a late hour last night the sheriff had taken no action in the matter.

Quay Will Try to Settle Strike.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 19.—The committee representing the Public Alliance, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., held a conference with United States Senator Quay at his cottage on New Hampshire avenue last night for the purpose of devising some plan to end the present anthracite coal miners' strike. It was finally decided by the senator to attempt to bring President George F. Baer, of the Philadelphia and Reading railway, and John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, together in Philadelphia, probably next Friday. It is probable that other officials on each side of the controversy will be asked to attend the meeting.

BYERS CASE CONTINUED.

Judge Allowed Defendants 30 Days In Which to Answer.

Pittsburg, Aug. 19.—When the Byers case was resumed yesterday afternoon in common pleas court No. 1 the attorneys for the plaintiff and defendants asked the court to grant a continuance for 30 days in order to give the defendants time to prepare an answer. This Judge Robert S. Frazer did, and the case will not likely be concluded now before the equity trial list in November. No witnesses were examined in the case yesterday.

The plaintiff, Jacob Byers, a wealthy resident of Greensburg, asked the court to restrain his nephew, William S. Byers, and the Fidelity Title and Trust company from opening a box in the office of the trust company without an order of court and in the presence of an officer of the court. The plaintiff charges his nephew with misappropriating $175,000 worth of Mt. Pleasant Coke company bonds and about $50,000 in cash. An accounting also is asked for.

A MINISTER FOR CONGRESS.

Rev. Dr. Wood Announced He Would Be a Candidate.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 19.—Rev. Morgan Wood, D. D., pastor of Plymouth Congregational church and one of the most widely known ministers of his church in the United States, yesterday announced that he would be a candidate for congress on the Democratic ticket from the Twenty-first Ohio district. The Republican nominee is Hon. Theodore E. Burton, the present incumbent.

Dr. Wood has ministered in Detroit, New Orleans and Toronto. He has been pastor of Plymouth church, this city, for several years, and ranks high as a vigorous speaker.

Woman Found Shot After Quarrel.

Bridgeport, O., Aug. 19.—After a quarrel with her husband, early yesterday morning, Mrs. Henry Kochnlein was found, after two reports were heard, with the side of her head in. She is dying. Her husband was taken to St. Clairsville jail, at his own request, he fearing violence of the people.

R. R. REMINGTON SUICIDED.

It Is Believed Miss Van Alen Broke Her Engagement to Marry Him.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 19.—Disappointment of a broken matrimonial engagement is believed to have been the cause of the suicide here yesterday of Robert Reading Remington, of New York. He shot himself three times in a club house here.

His engagement to Miss May Van Alen, daughter of James Van Alen, and granddaughter of Mrs. William Astor, has been discussed for some months. At first it was denied and then affirmed, but it is generally believed there was a definite engagement, which, however, was broken some three weeks ago. It is said that Mr. Van Alen was greatly opposed to the engagement from the beginning.

Since then Mr. Remington has been despondent, although when asked about the engagement he steadily affirmed that he was to be married in the fall. He left the city about a week ago, breaking up his domestic arrangements here and sending away all his effects. Last Thursday, however, he suddenly returned to Newport.

Mr. Remington was about 35 years of age and a member of the firm of Remington Bros., New York. He had always been known as a man of very quiet tastes. His death has caused a tremendous sensation here.

Last night Mr. Remington's brother telegraphed from New York to have the body prepared for burial. It will be taken to Pittsburg, the former home of the Remingtons.

DON'T EXPECT LEGAL BATTLE.

Arrival of Mrs. Fair's Relatives Was Being Awaited.

San Francisco, Aug. 19.—Judge Carroll Cook yesterday postponed the hearing of the application of Public Administrator Farnham for special letters of administration over the estates of Charles Fair and his wife until today.

Until Mrs. Hannah Nelson, the mother of the late Mrs. Caroline Fair, shall arrive here from Plainfield, N. J., it is highly improbable that any testament from either of the victims of the accident in France will be filed for record here.

"We are awaiting the arrival of Mrs. Fair's relatives," said Attorney Haggerty, "and don't by any means expect a legal battle, as has been intimated. Beyond that I can say nothing."

"There will be no contest over the will of Charles L. Fair, at least so far as Mrs. Oelrichs and Mrs. Vanderbilt are concerned," said Herman Oelrichs. "We are perfectly willing to let the matter rest as it stands, and if there is any contest it will come from the relatives on the other side."

LEISHMAN ACTS FIRMLY.

Turkey Has Not Kept Agreement With American Minister.

Constantinople, Aug. 19.—The non-execution by the Turkish government of agreements reached long ago on several questions affecting the interests of American citizens had led to somewhat strained relations between the United States legation and the porte. The United States minister, John G. A. Leishman, has informed the porte that he will not discuss other matters until the terms of the settlements already agreed upon are carried out.

Four Injured In a Wreck.

Bluffton, O., Aug. 19.—A Lake Erie and Western passenger train was derailed and wrecked at the crossing of the Northern Ohio and Lake Erie and Western road here yesterday. Charles Peeltner, fireman, of Lima, O., had a leg broken and was seriously hurt internally. A. Laurence, brakeman, Lima, O., had a fracture of the knee-cap; W. P. Keptner, bridgeman, Fremont, O., ankle sprained; J. B. Considine, passenger, Portland, Ind., badly hurt.

Cortelyou Visited Mrs. McKinley.

Canton, O., Aug. 19.—Secretary to the President George B. Cortelyou spent several hours here yesterday. He and Judge W. R. Day are executors of the estate of the late President McKinley, which makes occasional visits to Canton by Mr. Cortelyou necessary. He spent most of the day with Mrs. McKinley and accompanied her to the cemetery, where he laid a cluster of flowers on the casket of the man with whom he had been so closely associated.

Alger May Not Be a Candidate.

Detroit, Aug. 19.—When General R. A. Alger was asked yesterday if he was ready to announce his candidacy for the United States senate to succeed the late James McMillan, he said: "Upon mature consideration I have decided to consider the matter a few days longer before arriving at a determination. I shall reach a decision this week." This is taken to mean that General Alger may not be a candidate after all.

Justice Shiras to Retire.

Pittsburg, Aug. 19.—George Shiras III confirmed the report, yesterday, that Justice Shiras is to retire from the United States supreme bench. He said it will be some time within the present year.

Filipino Labor Leaders Arrested.

Manila, Aug. 19.—Isabelo De Los Reyes and four other labor leaders were arrested here yesterday, charged with threatening to assassinate certain striking cigar makers if they returned to work.

THE MOROS REPULSED.

ORDERED TO BE SUBDUED.

General Chaffee, Who Recommended Active Hostilities, Given Permission to Commence a Campaign—This, After President Had Considered It.

Manila, Aug. 19.—The Moros in Mindanao are renewing their attacks upon the outposts and pack trains of the American column at Lake Lanao, which is under the command of Captain J. J. Pershing, of the Fifteenth cavalry. The Americans have successfully repulsed the Moro attacks and have suffered no losses.

The commanders of the American forces on Mindanao report aggressive action against the Moros to be necessary and ask permission to move against Bacolod and other strongholds of the hostile Mohammedans. There are about 2,000 American soldiers on Mindanao available for the desired aggressive movement. It is believed this number is sufficient to defeat the Moros, although it would possibly be necessary to strengthen their base before undertaking the movement.

Washington, Aug. 19.—A cable dispatch has been received from General Chaffee, stating that in his judgment an active campaign against the Moros in Mindanao was necessary in order to curb the opposition that has been growing against United States authority. The dispatch was considered of sufficient importance to be repeated to President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay.

General Chaffee has been directed to use his own discretion in the matter and will no doubt engage in an aggressive movement against the insurgent Moros. Some time before Secretary Root left Washington the Moro situation was under consideration, and from a dispatch then at hand the secretary was of the opinion that the Moros must be dealt with severely before they would respect the authority of the United States.

General Chaffee is now in Mindanao, having left Manila some days ago.

CAMPAIGNS AGAINST LADRONES.

Hot Fighting by the Constabulary. Casualties on Both Sides.

Manila, Aug. 19.—A force of native constabulary engaged a band of Ladrones in a sharp fight last Saturday near Calocan, about four miles north of Manila. The arrival of reinforcements for the constabulary won them the victory. Four members of the constabulary were killed and one was wounded. The Ladrones left three of their number dead, but carried off their wounded.

The chase of the Cavite Ladrones through the mountains of that province continues. Forces of native constabulary have had encounters with the bands of Felizardo and Montallon. Several of the Ladrones were killed or captured and a quantity of their supplies was destroyed.

Newspaper Men Found Guilty.

Manila, Aug. 19.—Judge Ambler, who has conducted the trial of Frederick Dorr, proprietor, and Edward O'Brien, editor of Freedom, who were charged with libeling Benito Legarda, a Filipino member of the civil commission, announced yesterday that he found the defendants guilty. The trial of Dorr and O'Brien on a charge of sedition began yesterday.

AMERICAN CLAIM IS RIGHT.

Old Russian House and Monuments Found Which Establish Alaskan Line.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 19.—Skaguay advices say the question of the destruction of an old Russian monument in the disputed territory between Alaska and British Yukon has been settled. S. Weitzman, a merchant of Haines, arrived in Skaguay with the news that Lieutenant Owens had found two monuments in perfect repair and definitely located the place where a third one had been destroyed. One of the monuments discovered is about 19 miles above Rainey Hollow. The other is on the Tahkeena river, 50 miles from the coast.

The third monument has been destroyed within a few months. Owens also found an old storm house on the summit. This was called the boundary house when the Russians occupied the country. This establishes beyond all doubt that the Russians did occupy the territory now disputed and that the boundary line, according to the treaty, is where the Americans claim it to be.

Starved to Death; Money With Him.

Salt Lake, Utah, Aug. 19.—The dead body of Peter Anderson, known as "The Hermit Prospector of Park City," has been found in his lonely cabin near the Anchor mill, in the Park City mining district. Anderson had evidently been dead for weeks. It is believed he died from starvation, though $1,700 in cash was found hidden in the cabin. It is believed that fully $10,000 lies to his credit in various banks. His only known relatives live in Sweden.

ACT QUICKLY

Delay Has Been Dangerous in East Liverpool.

Do the right thing at the right time.
Act quickly in times of danger.
Backache is kidney danger.
Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly.
Cure all distressing, dangerous kidney ills.
Plenty of evidence to prove this.

Mrs. Caroline White of 225 Railroad street, East End, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and found great relief from the treatment, although I am 70 years of age, and had about given up all hope of ever being helped. I took medicine and my back ached just the same, grew stiff and lame when sitting long or when lying in bed and sharp twinges of pain and other symptoms convinced me my kidneys were out of order. Always on the lookout for anything that might bring relief, when I heard Doan's Kidney Pills so highly spoken of, I got a box at the W. & W. Pharmacy. After using that for a short time I could plainly notice the good effects they were causing. I continued some time longer and gradually but surely improved. I found Doan's Kidney Pills a splendid remedy and advise others to try them; feeling confident if they do so they will have no cause to regret it."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box. Foster-Milburn Company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

A Reply From Tennyson.

On one occasion it was publicly stated that Tennyson had drawn his inspiration from Horace and Keats, and a correspondent wrote to ask him if this were so. "No," he replied; "Horace and Keats were great masters, but not my masters."

The Aggravation of It.

"Whenever I'm inclined to lose my temper," said the philosophic man, "I just think to myself, 'Oh, there's no use getting mad!'"

THE MODE IN SKIRTS.

Tendency to Return to the Graceful Draped Effects.

[Special Correspondence.]

New York, Aug. 12.—Anything would be a welcome change after such a long period of snug habit backed skirts for while one woman in a hundred looks fairly well in them the rest would do better to wear some other and less trying form. If so falls out as the matter is now that those whose figures are not exactly adapted to these severe lines and close fit find themselves obliged to wear some kind of so called "improver," and no matter how artfully they are made they always show their presence, and though the wearer thinks that no one could possibly tell she wore them they are in full evidence to any one who can see.

I find so many of the new skirts now in course of construction being copied from models that I can confidently assert that before cold weather comes we shall be wearing not only lots of postillons, but also skirts with tabs all around the waist hanging down quite long, and besides these there will be many skirts with the cuirass at the hips, from there the rest being laid in plaits nearly to the bottom; there they will be left to form a flounce. There are also several styles of skirts to waists which will fall from three to ten inches below the waist line. These are called basques, and they are open in front and do not quite close in the back.

Very many of the new skirts show a decided ambition to return to the graceful draped effects of yore. One elegant heavy black silk had a panel on each side the front breadth, and this was trimmed with rows of castle braid passementerie lengthwise. The front breadth was cut perhaps a third of a yard longer than the lining and gathered at the edges and held full so that the center drooped about two inches.

Some of the dresses have a sort of cuirass made of lace laid over the sung skirt and the skirt itself trimmed to give the idea of a specially shaped cuirass. Others are shirred and have trou trou insertion with narrow black velvet ribbon run in. In this case the waist is to be trimmed in the same manner, and the style is suitable only for sheer fabrics or those which fall in soft, heavy lines like crêpe de chine.

I notice quite a number of dresses for fall with the skirt cut on the same narrow flaring lines as those for the past season, but the arrangement of the trimming suggests panels and drapery at the front or the sides. I saw one beautiful brown cloth dress, the skirt laid in box plaits from top to bottom, widening out at the bottom, and having three rows of black boucles braid in gradual widths. There was a deep yoke at the hips, and this had three rows of the same kind of braid, but in narrower widths. The belt was made of one row of the wide and stiffened. This was simple, yet the wearisome monotony of the perfectly plain skirt was broken.

More than I can mention of the new tailored suits are made with basque finish at the waist. Some are made to open down the back and fasten with three here trimming down every seam, they become very dressy. One made of fine black broadcloth had six rows of white stitching down every seam all around the skirt and six rows around the bottom, and it buttoned from top to bottom. Many have the front breadth made narrow and left quite plain, while there is a shaped and graduated flounce extending all the rest of the way around. This may be made with clusters of narrow tucks, headed with lace, or it may be left plain. A few clusters of tucks at the top of the skirt to fit it to the figure are often seen, but few of the new skirts are quite plain around the hips. OLIVE HARPER.

THE MODE IN SKIRTS.

Tendency to Return to the Graceful Draped Effects.

[Special Correspondence.]

New York, Aug. 12.—Anything would be a welcome change after such a long period of snug habit backed skirts for while one woman in a hundred looks fairly well in them the rest would do better to wear some other and less trying form. It so falls out as the matter is now that those whose figures are not exactly adapted to these severe lines and close fit find themselves obliged to wear some kind of so called "improver," and no matter how artfully they are made they

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature and of Matters About Town.

Homestead Here Next—The East Liverpool baseball team will play with Homestead on the home grounds Friday and Saturday.

Miss House Dying—On account of the serious condition of Miss Bird House, the Junior League social, which was to have been held tonight at the M. E. parsonage, has been postponed. She is thought to be dying at her home on Mulberry street.

The Case Was Settled—George Bumberger was before 'Squire McCarron yesterday charged with stealing a bucket of ice cream from William Feist's confectionery store. The matter was settled, Bumberger paying for the ice cream and costs.

Circus Attached—The Great American circus, which was organized here last month, has gone to the bank at Callipolis under an attachment. It was towed by the C. J. Reynolds. It is understood the company will be re-organized and enlarged for the coming season.

Excursion to Moscow—The Christian Endeavor society of the Methodist Protestant church will take a pleasure trip to Moscow this evening. They will go to Wellsville on a street car, then to Congo on the ferry boat and will finish the trip in hay wagons.
PERS—

Work on New Sewer—Contractor John A. George began the construction of the Rural Lane sewer this morning. Contractor Rinehart was granted the contract, but for some reason it was never carried out. The present contractors propose to push the work with all possible speed.

Ferrall Family Reunion—The reunion of the Ferrall family of this county will take place August 27 at the old homestead at Columbiana. N. S. Ferrall and wife, of this city, leave tomorrow for Columbiana and will remain there until after the reunion. There will be at least 300 of the family at the reunion from all sections of the country.

Scalded Her Hands—Miss Kate Tullis, residing north of the city, met with a very painful accident yesterday, and it will be some time before she is able to use either hand. While preparing dinner the young lady accidentally upset a kettle of scalding water, the contents of the kettle spilling upon her hands. They were badly burned.

Twenty Made Ten—With the two couples united in marriage by Justice H. P. McCarron Saturday afternoon, the total number of ceremonies performed by that magistrate since July 21 footed up ten. It is thought this is the largest number ever performed by any justice in the same length of time. The 'squire is very proud of the record, and attributes the remarkable circumstance to his extraordinary personal charms and the fact that he is able to guarantee a knot that will stick.

Mor Testimon Needed.

Lisbon, Aug. 19—(Special)—The commission recently issued to take the testimony of Elmer L. Rominiger, a witness to the will of the late John C. Beatty, was returned to court this morning, and an effort was made to probate the will of the deceased. It was found however that Ida M. Trotter, another witness, lives in Dixmont, Pa., and is beyond the jurisdiction of the court, and a commission was issued to take her evidence.

REAT RUSH TO GET LEASES

Sorts of Excitement Over Beaver and Hancock Oil Fields.

NUSES BEING OFFERED

r the Privilege of Putting Down Test Wells in the Territory.

EAS ES ARE HARD TO OBTAIN

There is now all sorts of excitement Beaver and Hancock counties over prospect of a number of good oil ls coming in soon, and the field is racting no little attention. Big ney is being paid for leases and st sized bonuses are being given ely, just for the privilege of locat a well.

The Mike Finnicum well on the Al t Ferguson farm is now ready to pumped, and the oil from this well l be sold to the National Transit pany, which is the term applied to Southwest division of th Standard company. It was expected that aping from the Finnicum well old start yesterday afternoon, as connections had been made, both he well and at the tanks.

V. C. Stewart, of Buffalo, N. Y., rominent oil man of that state, is latest arrival in the new oil field. is interested in a well being drill- on the Spence farm. At this well Saturday, when a depth of about or more feet had been reached, the le broke, allowing the tools to to the bottom. There is a fishing on tap now, but drilling is ex ted to start again within a very rt time. A. Mr. Jennings, of Pitts g, and Mr. LeComte are bidding inst each other for the Dr. Frani ughlin farm near Georgetown. Con ences have been held in this city this purpose, and as yet the farm not been leased.

The offering of a bonus to locate lls on farms in the vicinity of rgetown is increasing. Homer wson offered $1,000 to Tom Swear- en last Friday for the right to ate a well on his farm of 50 acres, the offer was accepted. It must remembered that the one-eighth in- est in the oil found is also addi- n to the monetary consideration. well was located on this farm sterday and drilling is expected to rt soon.

n the Nathaniel Wright farm a bo s of $200 was given to locate a well a four-acre territory. The outlook this new field is most promising. Stanton Chapman, the oil operator, o has been leasing land in the ntry four miles south of Chester, ived in the city this morning from lliant, and went at once to the dis- ct in which he desires to put down t wells.

Mr. Chapman takes a very different w from the land owners and thinks outlook for development is any- ng but bright, and unless owners of land in that vicinity nge their tactics considerably re will be no tests made soon.

The gentleman told a News Review porter this morning that he was ving difficulty in persuading the ners of land there to let it go. In ny cases but a few acres of an en- e farm can be secured, and even n they insist upon a lease of but r months, which, according to Mr. apman, is not enough. He says it ll take all of that time to do the lling, and in many cases the rigs not in shape to place in operation short notice. On the present trip Chapman hopes to take up suffi- nt land to justify him in bringing drilling apparatus to this section.

FINED FOR FIGHTING

arles Brock Hit Ed Mosby And it Cost Him $9.60.

Other Cases.

Edward Mosby and Charles Brock, ll known young colored men, were rested last evening in Diamond al- by Officer Dawson for fighting. th were released upon their own cognizance. This morning Brock aded guilty and was fined $9.60. sby will likely escape a fine.

Those who witnessed the fight say at Mosby was standing in the alley en Brock came along and just for n landed a Corbett blow about Mos- 's eyes. Mosby's sight immediately came dimmed by tears and blood and he walked away without reciprocating. Officer Dawson met him on the street and arrested him and took both in charge.

Jefferson Childers swore that he was not drunk last evening when run in by Officer Rose. He said that he had been on the Cleveland excursion and, getting no sleep, had lain down for a snooze on Thompson's green. The mayor deferred sentence until the case is investigated.

Jack Dempsey had been there before so many times that the mayor changed the usual amount to $7.60. He made arrangements and was released.

MAN LONG ABSENT THOUGHT TO BE IN THIS CITY.

West Virginian Whom Chief Thompson is Asked to Find.

Chief Thompson is searching the city for Scott Morrison Sturm, who left his home at Virora, Harrison county, W. Va., about eight years ago and who according to a letter received from a brother has not been seen since that time. The letter which follows gives the story of his disappearance:

"About eight years ago my brother, S. M. Storm, disappeared from his home here, near Fairmont, W. Va., since which time no trace of him has been had until recently I am informed that he is in your town. Any information you can give me will be liberally rewarded.

"The following is a description of him: Weight, about 160 pounds; height, 4 feet 9 or 10 inches; red hair, very thin on front part of head and may be nearly or quite bald by this time; has a habit of snuffing his nose and keeps his finger nails chewed off very close; red moustache, not very heavy; about 48 years of age; has been a teacher of schools in this state, also a reader of music.

"At the time he left he was employed in digging coal in one of our mines. He may be engaged in the same business there if you have any mines, or he may be employed in or about some of the mills. I am informed that he owns property there and keeps one or two cows. His wife is small and of dark complexion. I would be glad to hear from you, and if you can find this man I will come and see you at once. Wishing you success, I am, yours truly,

"ARTHUR STURM."

HUSBAND WON'T WORK

The Complaint Which a West End Wife Lodged Before a 'Squire.

Living on promises for over a year caused Mrs. Isaac Art to appear in 'Squire McLane office this afternoon and make complaint against her husband. She lives in the extreme west end of the city and walked to the office of the 'squire, dragging her little girl along, for the purpose evidently of making a stronger hit with the man who metes out justice.

Many times, she stated, her husband had promised to go to work and earn her and her child food. He has done that regularly for over a year. "I am tired of it," she said, "and if you don't make like work I am going to leave him." The 'squire told her that he could not see how he could make her husband work if she can't and dismissed the case. She went in search of other means by which she can make the man come to time.

TRIED TO KILL HERSELF

Insane Woman of Columbiana Took Carbolic Acid, Intending Suicide.

Lisbon, Aug. 19—(Special)—Mrs. Agatha Randall of Columbiana, was taken to the asylum at Massillon today. She was taken before Judge Boone last night after she had attempted to take her life by means of carbolic acid. She was prevented from swallowing any of the liquid although she was considerably burned.

She suffers under the hallucination that her friends and relatives hav forsaken her. The supposed cause of her insanity is financial trouble. She is 56 years old.

Small Suit Appealed.

Lisbon, Aug. 19, (Special.)—H. I. Hughes, of Salem, sued Warren Hawley in Justice Reed's court for $7.50, claimed due him for rent. The case was heard last month when judgment was rendered for the full amount. Hawley appealed to common pleas court today.

LEADERS OF OPPOSING FACTIONS IN THE IMPENDING RAILROAD WAR OF RATES.

Andrew J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, is generlly looked upon as the leader of the faction opposed to George Gould and his Missouri Pacific interests. For some time it has been currently reported that a clash likely to result in a disastrous war of rates was imminent. To an impartial observer the strength of the opposing factions seems about equal, and an open rupture would force an alignment of roads now friendly to both interests which would inevitably bring about an unprecedented cutting of the freight tariff between eastern and western points. The Inter State Commerce law would naturally be expected to prevent such a consummation, but that this may be evaded successfully has been frequently demonstrated.

LISBON AND CHESTER MILLS ARE IN LUCK

Lisbon and Chester tin mills of the American Tin Plate Company are among the fortunate ones. The Chester is in operation and the Lisbon mill, which was ordered shut down last week, received orders to start immediately, and was in operation today.

The following is a complete list of the tin mills ordered idle following the refusal of the tin plate mill workers to accept a reduction in wages, says the American Manufacturer:

La Belle, at Wheeling, 10 mills; Shenango plant, New Castle, 30 mills; Pittsburg plant, New Kensington, seven mills; Pennsylvania plant, Middletown, Ind., six mills; Laughlin plant, Martins Ferry, 22 mills; Niles plant, Niles, O., six mills; Anderson plant, Anderson, Ind., seven mills; Gas City plant, Gas City, Ind., eight mills; Canonsburg plant, Canonsburg, Pa., five mills; Ellwood City plant, Ellwood City, Pa., six mills; Johnstown plant, Johnstown, Pa., two mills; Great Western plant, Joliet, Ill., four mills; Atlanta plant, Atlanta, Ind., six mills.

It will be seen that but 145 will be left in operation with many of these no doubt designed to shut down soon. Of the mills in operation 74 are non-union as follows: Cambridge works, Cambridge, O., six mills; Chester works, Chester, W. Va., seven mills; Crescent works, Cleveland, O., six mills; Monongahela works, Pittsburg, Pa., 14 mills; Star works Pittsburg, Pa., six mills; United States works, Demmler, 11 mills; and the National works, Monessen, two mills. In addition it is reported that the two Sharon works of the Sharon Tin Plate Company at Sharon, are soon to be closed.

MANY ARE EAGER TO SELL STREET SIGNS

Since the intimation of council that street signs will decorate the corners of all streets within the city and the appointment of a committee to confer with agents as to prices and quality of signs at least 20 men have visited City Clerk Davidson with a bundle of signs under their arms. Signs of every description have been presented for inspection. Among them are some very neat ones. In fact any sign yet presented would be a great improvement. There will be but one obstruction to the committee agreeing upon a certain design.

The agents are maintaining prices almost too high to be considered in designs that would be acceptable. The prices range from 30 cents to 80 cents. The designs on those lurking around the latter figure are elegant enough, the same kind being used in all the larger cities of the United States.

The cheaper ones are just as pretty and possibly as neat but they will not stand the weather. Nothing definite has been done by the committee further than instructing the agents to present sealed bids for the furnishing and placing of signs to council at the next regular meeting.

PROMOTER U. J. SMITH HAS A NEW SCHEME NOW

Promoter U. J. Smith, of the cross county railway fame, was in the city yesterday and from the mystery surrounding his actions, it is thought he has new schemes to develop. To a News Review reporter he said:

"The cross-county railway is by no means a dead issue. We are only waiting for a few matters closely related to the project to develop when the line will go through as originally planned. However, I am not here on that account and have something in prospect at present that will discount the railway in magnitude. If our plans do not miscarry the enterprise we are now working on will mean much to East Liverpool and her industrial interests."

It is said that Mr. Smith endeavored to interest local capital in a scheme of his own conception, but failed to surround the picture with sufficient attractions to fascinate any of them. Many of the East Liverpool men who have money to invest and who would not hesitate to put it into anything practical, claim that Smith has little substantial backing and are not disposed to take him seriously.

The Labor day committee is hard at work preparing the program for the parade and arranging the several events in the line of sports.

The entire program will be completed and in the hands of the printer by the latter part of the week.

The chief marshal has about completed the list of aids, and the positions of the locals in the line has been arranged. It is estimated that at least 4,000 men and women will be in line. All of the ladies' organizations have arranged to turn out and every available conveyance in the city has been engaged for the occasion. There are about 12 lady representatives in Trades Council and carriages have already been secured for their accommodation.

FOR A $25 PRIZE

Two Well Known Carpenters Will Engage in a Foot Race Soon.

A match foot race has been arranged between two local carpenters, A. H. Underwood and Harry Woods, for a purse of $25, to be run at Rock Springs park some evening this week.

Y. M. C. A. SOCIALS

A Variety of Entertainment to Be Arranged for Members for Next Winter.

Secretary M. C. Wright has sent letters to every member of the Y. M. C. A. asking that they be present at a meeting this evening for the purpose of making arrangements for a series of social functions during the coming winter. It is the purpose of Mr. Wright to make this a predominating feature of the association. He has learned from observation among other association that it is the only way to keep the members in close touch with each other.

The first social to be held will be during September, and it will be the formal opening for the winter entertainments and pleasures. It possible a social of some sort will be held every month until spring. A committee will be appointed this evening to oversee and conduct the plans. It will be the aim of the committee to have a variety in the way of entertainment.

DEATH WAS FIRST

James A. Sheen, Wanted for Assault, Died Suddenly at Homestead.

Salem, August 19.—(Special)—The police of this city have been looking for James A. Sheen since June 7, but death caught him first. Word was received here today by his parents that he had died at Homestead, Pa., last night of cramps.

Smith was 36 years old and a native of England. He had been in the employ of the Pittsburg & Allegheny Telephone company.

On June 7 Smith went to the home of his divorced wife, in this city, and finding Mark Smith there, became enraged, and attacked him with a pair of wire pliers, inflicting wounds that for a time, it was thought, would prove fatal. No word had been received from him since that time.

NO SUIT LIKELY

Claims of McDevitt Heirs Will Probably Be Settled Without One.

It is likely that the claim of the McDevitt heirs against the city will be settled without a law suit. The damage wrought by a flood four years ago is the basis of the claim.

The estate owns considerable property on West Market street, and the particular lot where the damage is alleged to have been suffered is situated on the west side of the street. This property is peculiarly situated, in that there is or was a stone wall in front at least six feet high. During a storm in the spring of 1898 the water came down the hill and across the street in such quantities that a portion of the wall was washed out. The pavement was also damaged, and since that time has become so bad that when notices were served upon property owners to repair bad sidewalks that in front of the McDevitt property was included among the number. Those in charge of the estate objected to paying for the improvement, or that portion of it which adjoined the wall. The city was asked to settle, and a committee, consisting of Messrs. Bullock, Johnston and McConnell was appointed to endeavor to make terms.

A conference was held last night, and it is probable the claim will be settled in the manner decided upon at that time. At least the committee will make a recommendation along that line. It is proposed that the city rebuild the wall, the material, which is still on the ground, to be furnished by the owners of the property. That portion of the sidewalk directly adjoining the wall is also to be paid for by the city.

OPENING OF THE PARK

First Ball Games on the Y. M. C. A. Field Set for This Week.

The new Y. M. C. A. Athletic park at Chester will be formally opened next Friday afternoon, when a game of base ball will be played between the Y. M. C. A. and the Ford City team.

The Ford City team has been secured for two games, and judging by the reputation of the team from the Pennsylvania town two good contests can be expected.

The management of the park state that they have signed up a majority of the members of the East Liverpool club, and as its season is now over they can have their pick and choice.

READY TO LET CONTRACTS

COMPLETION OF BUILDINGS

Free of Debt Is Looked For During the Coming Months of the Fall.

LOTS WHICH MUST BE SOLD

Since the News Review's exclusive announcement yesterday of the progress being made by the Hospital association in the erection of its building or lower Sixth street, those in charge of the work have determined to let all remaining contracts without delay.

Bids on the brick work will be let at once, or soon enough to permit the workmen to begin not later than September 1. A. S. Young one of the most active members of the association, said this morning:

"It is the desire of the Hospital association to complete, free of debt, as early this fall as possible, the two buildings now under way, the Administration building and the East Ward building. In order to do this it will be necessary for the Association to realize on its Calcutta road property. This tract of land which consists of almost three acres of desirable residence property fronting on Calcutta road and Wall street, right on the street car line and within five minutes walking distance of the Diamond, has been platted into 28 good sized lots and are offered for sale at prices from $200 and upwards, according to size and location.

"In buying one of these lots the purchaser will not only get good value for his money, but will also be helping the city hospital project along.

"The real estate firms of the city including:

George H. Owen & Co.
E. W. Hill.
M. E. Miskall & Co.
McGarry Bros.
Herbert & Travis.
J. P. Hanlon.
Walter Supplee, East End.
L. W. Carman, East End,

have voluntarily and gratituously offered their services to the building committee, to help dispose of the lots, and it is confidentially expected that within the next ten days every lot will be sold. The aid thus rendered by the real estate firms of the city is worthy of commendation, and is very much appreciated by those in charge of the hospital.

"Arrangements for the laying of the corner stone of the building are being made by a committee consisting of A. S. Young, Geo. Barford, Geo. Hamilton and E. P. Hazlett. The ceremony will take pace some time in September."

ASSIGNMENT MADE

By an East Liverpool Hardware Firm for Benefit of Creditors.

The firm of James H. Ford & Son, of East Liverpool, filed a deed of assignment with Judge Boone at Lisbon this afternoon. The members of the firm are Lewis and Anna Ford and have been engaged in the hardware business on Washington street. The property consists of personal estate only. It was transferred to T. V. Mackall for the benefit of creditors.

The property will amount to about $800. No estimate was filed as to what the liabilities would amount to.

Condemnation Proceedings Necessary to Secure a Site For It.

Lisbon, August 19. — (Special) — The board of education of Elkrun township met this morning and decided to erect a brick school house in Pine Hollow district, which is just beyond Elkton.

A new site owned by Mrs. Samantha Davis will be secured for the new building, and as Mrs. Davis refuses to dispose of her land, condemnation proceedings will be begun at once in probate court to appropriate it. The old building has been in use since 1853.

During the Past Week—Progress of Cataloguing Old Library Books. Popular New Works—A Donation of 30 Volumes.

That the Carnegie library is receiving its share of attention is evident from the fact that 1,318 people were through it last week. During that time about 745 books were circulated.

About 1,000 books from the old library have been catalogued. The following is a list of new books which were circulated this month for the first time:

"Her Serene Highness," by David Graham Phillips, recounts the chance acquaintance of a young American of push and polish with the daughter of a reigning German ducal house. Irresistible love on both sides results. The contrast between German formalism and American mockery of tradition is depicted through an undercurrent of quiet humor, which is very well sustained. The tone is natural and plausible despite the impossible outcome.

"Marion Nanning" is a very entertaining novel of Washington life by Mrs. Eustis, a daughter of Hon. Levi P. Morton. Mrs. Eustis has had excellent opportunities of studying the life at the capital at close range and she has made the most of these opportunities, as her book shows. The political and social life of the capital is admirably and brilliantly drawn.

Miss Clara Morris, once a great emotional actress, but more recently in the public mind as a writer and critic, has just completed her first novel, "A Pasteboard Crown." Naturally, Miss Morris has chosen the New York stage as the setting of her story, and she has written a dramatic and very interesting tale. No one knows better than she the life she depicts; few could have written of it more vividly and entertainingly.

John Kendrick Bangs' "Olympian Nights" adds another leaf to the laurel crown of that modest and popular humorist. Mr. Bangs seems to have the rare ability of making intellectual fun. He combines nicely learning and nonsense, and mixes them with rare fancy that at times approaches the poetic. "A fitting Sub-title might be: "A Half Hour's Fun With the Gods." The humor is delicious; in fact, is quite contagious. The book is wholly up-to-date in its introduction of automobiles and golf links in the home of the gods.

In "The Valley of Decision," the authoress, Mrs. Edith Wharton, was fortunate at the outset in her choice of a subject. She has attempted to sum up the life of Italy in the latter half of the eighteenth century. The authoress is saturated to her finger tips with the historical facts of the period, the motley and confusing tangle of petty dukedoms and the warring clans of Austria and of Spain. She has given not merely a broad canvas but a moving panorama of the life of that restless time, presenting with a certain dramatic power the discontent of the masses, and the petty intrigues of the church and the aristocracy.

"The King in Yellow" has been republished in attractive form. On its first appearance years ago the book won immediate favor, due to the strength and power of the stories and attractive setting. Those who missed it will be glad of the new opportunity afforded to procure them, for the book has been out of print.

George Cary Eggleston's "Dorothy South," though not the very latest book, still comes under that class, since it is being widely read and remains in popular favor. It is a love story of Virginia just before the war. Of the heroine it is said: "Her very presence creates an atmosphere of sunshiny prettiness. Her girlish dignity is flexible and appealing. She attracts unconsciously and unaffectedly captivates.

Among other new books received are: "The Sport of the Gods," Paul Laurence Dunbar; "Chimmie Fadden And Mr. Paul," "The Misdemeanors of Nancy," "The Siege of Lady Resolute," George W. Cable's "Bylow Hill," "The Way of Escape," "Battle Ground," "Rataplan, a Rogue Elephant," "Five Little Peppers Abroad," a child's book; "The Deer Family," Theodore Roosevelt, and others.

Quite a number of children's books will be received next month. About 30 books were presented to the library Saturday by Thomas F. Walklet.

EAST END

TO ENTER THE RACES

Horses Will Be Taken From the East End to East Palestine.

Three horses that have been quartered at Columbian park track were this afternoon taken to East Palestine where they will enter the races that are to be run near that town tomorrow and Thursday. They are Robert L., Boy and Dr. Morris. These horses are in the best possible condition, and the rail birds who have visited Columbian park in the early morning hours, claim that some excellent time has been made.

These horses are expected to come back under the money at East Palestine. They were taken to the track by Jas. Negood, and in the races they will be driven by William Humble, of this city, a driver of no mean reputation.

P. H. C. MEETING

Many to Initiate and Many Visitors Expected in the East End Tonight.

This is a meeting of Eureka Circle, of the Protected Home Circle, which will be held in the East End this evening. At least 20 candidates will be initiated into the order. Visiting members of the order will be present from Fly Circle, Wellsville; Stratton Circle, East Liverpool, and also the Chester Circle. Quite a number of applications will also be presented at this meeting, which gives promise of being one of the most interesting that has been held for months.

It is thought this session also final arrangements will be made for the annual picnic, which will be held at Cascade park tomorrow.

Possibly Still Running.

There was a goose pasture case in the East End, and it is claimed that the affair was a success in every particular. There were about 75 men in the party, and the victim, who it is said resides in Helena, commenced to walk east on the railroad from the site of the new proposed station. Pistol shots were fired in all directions, and the assertion is made that the individual is still running.

Injustice Done Him.

James Jameson claims that an injustice was caused him yesterday by the publication of the report of the trouble he had with his son. Jameson claims that he was just correcting his son and that the boy made all the noise that was heard. He denies that the boy was unduly chastised or that there was any knocking down, as was reported.

Interest is Growing.

The Free Methodist revival meetings being held at the Neville Institute in the East End are largely attended, and so far quite a number of conversions have been reported. People have been attending these services from all parts of the city, and every night a service is held the hall is well filled. The interest in the services is growing and no time has been set for the meetings to close. They will last for a week longer at least, for the school term of this school will open the first week in September.

An Enjoyable Dance.

Another dance was given in the Larkins & Ferguson hall last evening which was said to be one of the successes of the season. The attendence was large, and the dance a quiet one. One individual under the influence of liquor attempted to get into the hall, but was put out by the owners of the building.

Houses Still Scarce.

There is still a scarcity of houses in the East End, especially houses to be rented. Of course a large number of new houses are being built, but they will be occupied by their owners. There is ample room for a syndicate to be formed and build a number of houses to rent in the East End. The investment would surely be a paying one.

Although I am past 80 years of age I find it soothes the tired brain, quiets the irritated nerves and insures restful sleep. I never feel contented without a bottle of it in the house." Fearless and Independent.

The Chicago Record-Herald is a conspicuous example of the success with which the public rewards fearless nonpartisanship in the columns of a great metropolitan daily paper. It is an independant newspaper in which men and measures are invariably viewed wholly from the standpoint of the public good and not from the standpoint of any particular political party. It is the very reverse of neutral—fearless and outspoken on all the great questions of the day, but presenting its editorial opinion upon independant judgment and entirely regardless of political affiliations. Partisanship is barred as strictly from the news columns as from the editorial page. All political news is given without partisan coloring, thus enabling the reader to form correct conclusions for himself. In the ordinary partisan newspaper political news is ordinarily colored to such an extent as to make it difficult if not impossible for the reader to secure a sound basis for intelligent judgment.

Dysentery Cured Without the Aid of a Doctor.

"I am just up from a hard spell of the flux" (dysentery), says Mr. T. A. Pinner, a well known merchant of Drummond, Tenn. "I used one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was cured without having a doctor. I consider it the best cholera medicine in the world." There is no need of employing a doctor when this remedy is used, for no doctor can prescribe a better medicine for bowel complaint in any form either for children or adults. It never fails and is pleasant to take. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

DESERTED MORGAN

JOINED UNION FORCES AND NOW GETS A PENSION.

A Romance of Love And War With Tennessee and Ohio as Ssenes.

An original pension of $6 per month has been granted Jeremiah Gibson, late of the 7th United States Volunteers, through the Steubenville Pension Agency.

Back of this is an interesting story which Pension Agent Donnan has named "Love and War, or the Romantic Courtship and Marriage of Bethia and Jeremiah." Gibson was one of John Morgan's raiders through Indiana and Ohio. While camped for a rest at Criders Mill he met a beautiful young girl with whom he fell desperately in love. He was ragged and dusty, good looking, kind hearted and jolly. She was only 18, but too patriotic to entertain even the thought of matrimony with a rebel.

He was from East Tennessee and all of his relatives there were Unionists, but being young and full of life, and anxious for adventure he joined with Morgan. After a very short courtship Gibson was induced to renounce his allegiance to the Southern cause, desert his command and return to his home, and if ever able to prove his loyalty to the Stars and Stripes he was to return and she would marry him.

On the first opportunity offering he did desert, but was immediately captured by his own pickets and returned to camp. There he was court-martialled and he was sentenced to be shot to death at sunrise the next morning.

There being so many deserting at this time Morgan found it absolutely necessary to make an example. In the meantime, Shackleford, with his forces, had quietly surrounded the raiders upon Yellow Creek, and before sunrise that morning he had captured the whole rebel outfit. While on their way to prison Gibson eluded the guards and escaped. After encountering many thrilling adventures he reached Cincinnati, where he enlisted and was afterwards assigned to the Seventh Cavalry. During his faithful and honorable service for nearly three years he kept up a regular correspondence with his sweetheart in Ohio, and when discharged from the service he returned to her, proved his lopalty and they were married. At present their home is on a beautiful farm in East Tennessee.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS

For Brooke County With the Wabash Railroad and New Industries.

Wellsburg, W. Va., Aug. 19.—A. H. Elson, of Cross Creek, was in town and stated that the Wabash railroad people seem to be unusually active the past few days. They have been fairly shaking the hills with heavy blasts both night and day. The face of the country will be greatly altered by the change in the creek bed but he will not be seriously affected.

With the acquisition of the Wabash mileage and the Follansbee Bros' plants to be on the Mahan farms with all the attendant building of dwelling houses, Cross Creek district has forged to the front and so much taxable property has come in of late that the burden of taxation will be lightened and distributed over a larger territory.

Women and Jewels.

Jewels, candy, flowers, men—that is the order of a woman's preferences. Jewels form a magnet of mighty power to the average woman. Even that greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined in the strenuous effort to make or save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her fortify herself against the insiduous consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Boschee's German Syrup. It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles. You can get this reliable remedy at Charles F. Craig's.

Naval experiments with the use of liquid fuel and the probability that it may be adopted for commercial purposes on the smaller classes of ships will probably lead to an investigation of the output of oil, with the view of determining whether it is sufficient to meet the demands that may be made upon it. Oil has been produced in this country for commercial purposes for over 40 years. When the old fields were almost exhausted, new ones were developed. The discoveries in Texas in 1901 increased the world's production of 155,000,000 barrels in the previous year to 720,000,000 barrels, or more than five fold. A few years ago, when petroleum was first investigated for fuel purposes, it was asserted that the Pennsylvania railroad locomotives alone would require more than the total output of oil in the United States at that time. Matters have changed materially, but there is no certainty whatever that the petroleum fields can be depended upon for a constant supply of cheap fuel. The question which the government proposes to investigate is one of the highest importance to thousands of people who have millions of dollars of capital invested in a great industry.

Labor day is near and East Liverpool will celebrate it with even more than the usual zeal and enthusiasm. There is abundant reason why it should be made a joyous occasion. Labor is the mainstay and strength of this city; most of our people work for a living. The workers have prospered during the past year and there is every prospect of abundant work for them at good wages during the next twelve months. The city is steadily growing greater and more prosperous, and it is labor that is making it so. Everybody in East Liverpool has reason to be proud of the city's industrious toilers and everybody should endeavor to help to make Labor's holiday a joyous and successful occasion.

It is said the teachers of a West Virginia district where salaries average $30 a month propose to strike. They would strike out and quit that neck of woods if they were as energetic as educated young people ought to be.

There is a disposition on the part both of Spain and that of the United States to overlook the late unpleasantness. Caprice and Luck.

In gambling one thing is certain, and that is the very large percentage in favor of the bank or the game. Caprice is the only law of chance, and the results are as fanciful as they are unanticipated.

One summer, the last of John Morrissey's life, a party from Washington were making merry in the wineroom of the clubhouse in Saratoga, among whom was a youthful attache of the French embassy, says the Brooklyn Eagle. Without remark this attache suddenly rose, entered the playroom and, going to a roulette table, tossed a hundred dollar bill on ten, black. The dealer politely informed him that he had exceeded the limit. The attache was insistent. Morrissey, sauntering up, nodded to the dealer to let it go. It won. Refusing to accept chips, the attache gathered in his winnings and rejoined his friends. Half an hour later he did the same thing and was again successful. At frequent intervals he repeated his trips, invariably winning, never once losing until he had won $17,500, when his friends carried him off.

As he left Morrissey remarked to a friend, "I never take the limit off that the bank doesn't lose." Nevertheless there was a profit on the night's play for the bank.

Some Nonsense.

"The bow of a ship," says a humorous handbook of nautical terms, "is not evidence of politeness. It reminds us of a line in 'Flotsam From the Isis:'"

And first began to pull at her stays and then to scrub at her waist.

CURES FOR TOOTHACHE.

Remedies That Do Not Appeal to the Ordinary Man Today.

The man in dental anguish sometimes curses with Burns "the venomed stang that shoots his tortured gums alang." Sometimes, on the other hand, he prays. St. Augustine in his "Confessions" relates how he once suffered from "dolor dentium" (toothache), apparently in an aggravated form, for he could not speak. Thereupon he wrote on wax a prayer to God for the other brethren to repeat, and as soon as all were on their knees the pain went. "But what a pain!" he says. "Never since my tender age had I experienced the like." Southey in his "Life of John Wesley" tells of that eminent preacher that when his own tooth ached he prayed and the pain left him.

Unfortunately ordinary men do not seem to have such efficacious faith. When the excruciation begins, they must bear it philosophically, and on Shakespeare's authority toothache finds out just the weak place in the philosopher's armor of patience. In the middle ages the devout who were racked with pain had a special patron to whom they could call for deliverance. St. Apollonia, a martyr under the emperor Philip, among other cruel indignities had her teeth pulled out. In consequence she became toothache's tutelary saint, as her emblems—one of which is "holding a tooth in pinchers"—sufficiently testify.

And there would seem to have been yet another martyr, St. Blaize, who took cognizance of the disease. He was honored in the little town of St. Blazey, in Cornwall, where candles offered upon his altar were supposed to be an infallible cure for toothache.—Chambers' Journal.

GOUGH'S QUICK WIT.

A Retort That Silenced an Interruption In the Audience.

An effort of one of John B. Gough's tours of the west was to arouse his converts to a political movement in favor of prohibition, and in several states the politicians began to give consideration to the cry. The distillers and liquor dealers are said to have been so frightened that they employed men to follow the lecturer, sit among the audience and endeavor to confound him with questions. He had worked a Topeka (Kan.) audience up to a fine pitch of excitement and in his effective manner cried:

"Temperance! Temperance! Temperance! It will mean money in your pocket, clothes on your back, happiness in your home and God in your heart!"

Up leaped one of the paid interrupters and shouted to the audience:

"Money in your pockets! Why, fellow citizens, follow this man's ideas and we'll be all in the poorhouse! Think of the fields of tasseled corn that stretch on every side! Whisky is made from corn. We sell millions of dollars' worth of corn to the whisky makers. Stop the manufacture of whisky, and what'll we do?"

Then, turning to Gough, he went on:

"You, Mr. Smarty—what'll we do? Tell us, if prohibition comes, what'll we do with our corn?"

Sympathy.

Ted's mamma had a birthday recently and received as a present from one of her friends a ten dollar bill. Accompanying the money was a note in which the writer, after explaining that she couldn't think of anything tasteful to buy and had therefore sent the cash, made some tender references to bygone days and dear old scenes. While the recipient was sitting with the bill in one hand and the letter in the other and permitting tears to drip down upon both Ted went up to her and, putting his arms around her neck, tenderly asked:

"What's the matter, mamma? Isn't the money good?"—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Proctor's Finest Speech.

Senator Proctor of Vermont once said the finest speech he ever made consisted of only four words. It was in retort to Senator Hoar's sarcastic little thrust in a speech directed at the Green Mountain senator. He said, "No man in Vermont is allowed to vote unless he has made $5,000 trading with Massachusetts people."

Whereat Proctor said, "And we all vote."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Wade Hampton's Slaves.

It is related of General Wade Hampton that on one occasion he was riding along a highway that led through one of his numerous southern plantations when he met a slave of fine build and appearance. He drew rein and said: "You are a likely fellow. Who do you belong to?" "Wade Hampton, sir." "Ah! And who is Wade Hampton?" "Please, sir, master, you mus' be from de norf, 'kase Mas' Wade Hampton is de berry fust gemmun in de sout'."

The story used to be told to illustrate the greatness in numbers of Wade Hampton's slaves. His own slaves did not know him by sight—that is, hundreds and thousands of them did not. The slaves he owned numbered 4,000, and he was therefore the largest slave owner of the south or of modern times.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

A Royal Talisman.

For 400 years the Hohenzollern family has possessed a peculiar talisman in the shape of a black stone set in a ring, each head of the house having passed the charm on to the next in succession for many generations. Frederick the Great is said to have found the ring sealed in a package with instructions as to its preservation and transmission written by Frederick I.

Precisely what value or significance attaches to this carefully treasured bit of jewelry it would be difficult to say. Tradition says that a huge toad hopped into the royal presence centuries ago with the stone held in its mouth. As to whether the golden setting in which the stone is now preserved is due to the forethought of the intelligent toad or to the afterthought of the Hohenzollerns tradition fails to enlighten us.

One Definition of It.

"What do you consider domesticity in man?"

"It is the trait of wanting to stay home when his wife wants him to go out with her."

"And what is domesticity in woman?"

"That is the trait of being willing to stay home when her husband wants to go out without her."—Chicago Post.

Fond of Books.

H.—Is your boy fond of books?

D.—Very. I gave him a copy of "Robinson Crusoe" the other day, and he got lots of fun out of it.

H.—I didn't know he could read.

D.—He can't read, but he tears the pages out and makes boats of them. Oh, yes; he's fond of books!

Saving His Father's Hair.

Lord Charles was often troubled by importunate acquaintances, who begged for some of his father's (the Duke of Wellington) hair. On such occasions he said to an old servant whose hair was like the duke's: "Sit down, John. I must cut off another lock!"

A Genealogical Tree.

Briteman—What do you know about your genealogical tree?

Groucher—Genealogical tree be hanged! The only ancestral timber I know about is the aboriginal forest, where, according to Darwin, my remote progenitors used to swing by their tails.—Los Angeles Herald.

The Flag at Half Mast.

The custom of showing the flag at half mast originated from the way at sea of showing the preeminence one ship had over the other in time of warfare. The vanquished always had to lower its flag, while the victor's would be raised as high as possible in exultation. To lower a flag is an act of submission or betokens respect to a superior or is a signal of distress. The hoisting of a flag half mast high came to be used, therefore, as a sign of mourning and respect.

WELLSVILLE

Meeting of Sister And Brother By Accident in Wellsville.

Mrs. M. Story, widow of a once prominent Pittsburg broker, who figured in a romantic meeting here several days ago, is still in the city. She will probably leave for Pittsburg some time today. Mrs. Story is now a resident of Kansas City, Mo., where she has been managing a hotel, which represents a part of the fortune which was left her by her husband. She is a daughter of the late Jacob Buttenberg, who died in East Liverpool about 10 years ago and was brought here for burial.

Jacob Buttenberg was related to Homer Laughlin, the East Liverpool potter, who is now in California. Mrs. Story and a brother Bert, now a traveling salesman for a Pittsburg concern, formerly lived in East Liverpool. Their meeting several days ago at the Metropole hotel was the first in ten years. It was purely accidental.

Bert returned last night from Alliance. He will resign his present position and go to Kansas City to assist his sister with the management of the hotel. Mrs. Story was in East Liverpool yesterday and spent some time visiting friends.

Include Parade, Picnic, Dancing Baseball and Many Other Sports.

A special committee of Trades and Labor Assembly held a meeting last evening at the home of F. A. Mcdowell for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for the big picnic to be held on Labor day, September 1.

It was decided to hold the picnic in the Aten lots in the West End instead of on the creek bottom. It was also decided to erect a temporary dancing pavilion there to be covered with canvas. An East Liverpool orchestra will furnish the music.

An industrial parade will be held in the morning. Two base ball games will be played and there will be several races for prizes.

SUIT AGAINST CITY

Wheeling Man Wants Lot on Which Wellsville City Hall Stands.

A dispatch from Wheeling states that a suit for $50,000 against the city of Wellsville, O., has been filed by George Wells, of Wheeling. He wants possession of the ground on which stands the city hall, and all accrued rent and interest.

His grandfather gave the town a lot to be used for a market place, with the understanding that it should revert to his heirs, it is claimed.

Police Asked to Aid.

Mayor Fogo is in receipt of a card from the superintendent of the Ohio state reformatory at Mansfield, requesting him to put the city police force on the lookout for a young man known in the reformatory as Henry Edwards, No. 851, alias Harry Howard Enke, a printer 21 years old. He is from Cuyahoga county and has violated his parole.

Former Pastor Wedded.

Word has just been received by West End people announcing the wedding of Rev. W. H. Gamertzfelder, who was formerly the pastor of the First United Evangelical church, of this city, and Miss Edna Kopp, of Ashland, O. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride.

New Position for Spires.

Constable C. E. Spires lot a letter today from the postoffice at Marion, Ind., offering him a position as clerk there. He secured the offer through the influence of his brother, S. E. Spires, who is employed there. Mr. Spires will accept and leave next Monday. If he finds the position satisfactory he will resign as constable.

Want to Remain a City.

That Wellsville will soon become a village again is now taken as an almost assured fact and much regret is expressed. Mayor Fogo and the city solicitor will be in Columbus when the legislature meets and will exert all of their influence to keep Wellsville a city.

No Council Meeting.

Only two or three members of council appeared at the city hall last evening and no council meeting was held.

Sacred Nuts of Japan.

Although well known to travelers and collectors of curiosities, the horn nut, or "sacred nut," of Japan was almost wholly unknown to fruit and nut dealers in this country prior to 1888, when a New York commission merchant received the first large consignment. They are called "sacred nuts" because used in certain forms of Japanese worship, where they are placed on the altar and ignited. Being very rich in oil, they burn with a hot, bluish flame and give off a peculiar odor, the fumes being supposed to rise as an acceptable incense to the gods. They grow under water and have a leaf like an American lily, the form of the nut itself being an almost exact counterpart of an Asian buffalo's head, drooping horns and all. In the raw state they are hard and tasteless, but when cooked the flavor resembles that of boiled chestnuts. They are said to retain their edible qualities for upward of twenty years.

Very Polite.

"Here's an account of a man," said Mrs. Gadsby, "who hasn't spoken a word to his wife in three years."

"That's rather a rigid adherence to one of the rules of politeness," said Gadsby.

"Rules of politeness!" said Mrs. Gadsby in a scornful tone.

STEPPED OUT OF BED

Aged Resident of Chester Severely Injured on a Boat in a Novel Way.

Ralph Marsh, an aged resident of Chester, is lying at his home in Middle run, suffering from the effects of severe injuries sustained in a peculiar manner while on a lake steamer bound from Buffalo to Cleveland.

Mr. Marsh, in company with George Sheckler and Henry Laughley, was returning from a trip to Niagara Falls. The party took passage on a steamer at Buffalo on Saturday evening. Mr. Marsh was assigned to an upper berth. Some time during the night he either attempted to turn over or forgot where he was and stepped out of bed. At any rate he fell from the upper berth, alighting upon the hard floor with considerable force. Two ribs were broken and he was otherwise injured. It is thought he was also internally injured, but this cannot be ascertained at present.

The injured man's companions had much difficulty in making their patient comfortable during the remainder of the trip to Cleveland. At that point medical aid was secured, and Mr. Marsh was brought to this city yesterday. His advanced age is against him, but it is thought he will recover.

Funeral Held Today.

The funeral of Mrs. Levi Gardner took place from the family home in New Cumberland at 10 o'clock this morning. Owing to the prominence and wide acquaintance of the lady the funeral was very largely attended. Rev. W. A. Curfman, pastor of the Nessley M. P. chapel, officiated and the remains were interred in the cemetery at New Cumberland.

CHESTER NOTES.

A. P. Cunningham was a Wheeling business visitor yesterday.

A forcible detention case is pending in Justice Johnston's court.

A Precedent Established.

A Methodist clergyman in the upper portion of the city encountered a Celt one recent rainy Sunday standing close to the wall of the church in an effort to utilize the coping as a shield from the storm.

"Come inside," said the clergyman cheerily. "You'll be out of the wet, and you can have a seat while you're waiting for it to clear."

"No, thank yez," said the Celt emphatically. "O'll not go into th' house uv me inimies!"

"Well, that's rather harsh," answered the clergyman. "When our Lord was on earth, did he not go among his enemies?"

"Yis; he did that," assented the Celt with growing warmth, "and yez didn't do a ting to him, ayther!"—Philadelphia Times.

MARKET DULL AND SAGGING.

Due, Yesterday, Evidently to Inroads Upon the Banking Reserves.

New York, Aug. 19.—A dull and sagging stock market yesterday was the natural consequence of various evidences going to show that the expanding needs of the circulation are making increasing inroads upon banking reserves. The continued transfer of credits to foreign lenders through the medium of the exchange market mitigated the anxiety over the money outlook without entirely curing it. Besides the local money situation, the market was depressed by selling of stocks for London account, owing to hardening money rates there. The net earnings of railroads for June reported showed some decline in the southwest, owing to shortage in the corn movement, and intimations were given of probably similar results for July. The reported retirement of the president of the United States Steel corporation had some influence in the general market, although the stocks of that corporation were but little affected. Offsetting factors in the heaviness of the market were the strength of Louisville and Nashville on supposed progress in the financial readjustment; in Toledo, St. Louis and Western on rumors of Vanderbilt control; in Texas and Pacific on the alleged seeking of control by St. Louis and San Francisco; Chicago Terminal stocks on rumored plans of new tenants, and in a number of minor specialties. The closing tone was dull and heavy.

U. S. refunding 2s advanced ⅛ and the new 4s ¼ per cent on the last call.

FOUGHT SOLDIERS AND POLICE.

French Citizens Opposed Closing of Catholic Schools, but Were Overcome.

Brest, France, Aug. 19.—The attempt made by the authorities yesterday to close the sisters' schools at Ploudaniel, Folgoet and St. Meen, the last villages in Brittany where unauthorized schools were still open, met with determined resistance.

At St. Meen the sisters were expelled and the school was closed after a two hours' struggle, during which a police commissary was wounded.

Later, after a long resistance, the closing of the school at Ploudaniel was effected by the authorities.

The school at Folgoet was also closed.

Paris, Aug. 19.—The Temps says Commandant LeRoy Ladurie, of the Nineteenth infantry, who refused to obey an order to aid in closing unauthorized schools, has been placed under arrest.

WILL SCHWAB RESIGN?

President of Steel Combine to Sail For Europe This Week—Health Said to Be Improved.

New York, Aug. 19.—It was learned last night that Charles M. Schwab proposes to sail for Europe Wednesday or Thursday. His friends stated that he is going to take a vacation and take two months visiting France, England and Austria. There were reports that he will resign, owing to alleged ill health.

It has been reported that the presidency would pass to James Gayley, the first vice president of the corporation. Other rumors have pointed to H. C. Frick.

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 19.—Mr. Schwab, who is staying at Loretto, is said to be in better health than any time since he arrived.

BOER GENERALS PLEASED.

Didn't See Fleet Review, Because Not Properly Dressed.

London, Aug. 19.—Montagu White, the former consul general in London of the Transvaal, has issued a statement, authorized by the Boer generals, as follows:

"The generals are proceeding to the continent for the purpose of greeting Mr. Kruger and Mr. Steyn and attending the funeral of General Lucas Meyer. Their present intention is to return to London at an early date for the transaction of business, but they have not decided on any fixed program. During their brief stay in London the generals have been the recipients of many invitations and kind messages of welcome, which they fully appreciate.

"The report that the decision of the generals not to visit the naval review was due to the influence of Mr. Fischer is not true. Their real reason for declining the invitation Saturday was that they did not consider their attire quite suitable for a ceremonious visit, and the necessarily short notice conveyed to them did not give them the time for necessary preparations. They were, however, glad of the opportunity of paying their respects to the king on the following day, after they had made the necessary purchases, and they are gratified at the kind manner in which they were received by his majesty."

Exploding a Theory.

At the beginning of the nineteenth century the French Academy of Sciences offered to give a prize to the first person who would solve the following problem: If you take a vase full of water and put a stone or any similar body in it, the water will flow over. If, however, you put into it a fish, the volume of which is equal to that of the stone, it will not flow over. Explain this phenemenon.

Learned essays on the subject poured in from all quarters, but the problem was not satisfactorily solved in any of them, and consequently the prize was not awarded.

In the following year the same question was again propounded, and for five years answers continued to pour in to the academy. Then it suddenly occurred to one of the academicians that, after all, the problem might be incapable of solution, and he determined to make a test for himself.

Filling a vase with water he put a stone into it and saw that the water flowed over. Then he took out the stone, filled the vase again with water and put into it a fish, the volume of which was the same as that of the stone, and saw, to his surprise, that the water again flowed over.

He told the academy of his discovery and the result was that the offer of a prize was at once withdrawn.

Misplaced Confidence.

An Irishman once applied for a job on board a certain ship.

"Well," said the captain, "where are your recommendations?"

"Shure, an' I haven't enny, sur."

"Can't take you, then; got a German here with fine recommendations; have to give the job to him."

Pat begged so hard, however, that the captain finally agreed to take him and the German both on a trial trip, the best man to have the permanent job.

They were well out at sea when a storm arose one day while Pat and the German were scrubbing the deck. A big wave came along and swept the German overboard with his bucket. Pat immediately picked up his bucket and started after the captain, whom he found below.

"Well, Pat, what's the matter now?" the captain inquired.

"Faith, sur, ye know that German what had such foine ricommindations?"

"Yes; what of him?"

"Begorra, sur, an' he's gone off with one of your buckets."

Difficult Dentistry.

The nawab of Rampur, whose domain is about 600 miles to the northwest of Calcutta, came down from his home to call on Dr. Smith, says a London paper, and brought 150 people with him to see about his mother's teeth.

She wanted a set of false teeth, and because Englishwomen had two sets the maharima must have two sets also. The nawab of Rampur is a Mohammedan; so of course the mother could not show her face.

Likewise on that account Dr. Smith had to go to Rampur to do the work. Two thousand miles to make two sets of false teeth! It cost the nawab 4,000 rupees.

The old woman lay back with her face covered, and the dentist worked at her mouth through a hole in a sheet.

A Question of Notes.

"Yes, sir," said the man with a frayed collar, "that land is worth $1,800 a foot, and only a year ago I could have bought it for a song."

"But you couldn't sing, eh?" cackled the funny man.

The man with the frayed collar eyed him distantly and haughtily and replied in cold, cutting tones:

"Oh, I could sing, but I couldn't get the right notes!"

And the funny man looked as crushed as an overripe strawberry at the bottom of the basket.—Exchange.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

BOOKS ARE REQUIRED.

This city, with a public library, that cost almost $50,000 and which is rich in gifts with books of knowledge, contains not more than 10 volumes treating on ceramics, and even some of these cannot be placed in that class. In fact, a statement of the librarian is this: many calls for books treating Yesterday this department was not able to on ceramics have been made to the library, but that should be kept up more this department, and of the few stated last evening that when the fact becomes generally known that a good set of books treating upon ceramics is kept at the library they will be used. There is no question of this, as it is admitted by both operatives and manufacturers that by reading works of this sort, a higher knowledge of the pottery industry is obtained. There is now a movement of foot by the officials of the library to raise funds for the sole purpose of buying the best books ob-

ANOTHER LOCAL.

Word has been sent to secretaries of a number of locals in this city by employes of the pottery at Tiltonville, asking for their transfer cards, and that they be forwarded to them not later than Thursday. It is presumed that the new local at Tiltonville, which will be a mixed one, will be formed Thursday evening. This local will be affiliated with the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters and the charter will be numbered in the Sixties. No request for this paper will be made to Secretary T. J. Duffy until after the local is organized.

MAKING IMPROVEMENTS.

All the clay presses at the East Liverpool pottery are being repaired, the work having been in progress since last Saturday afternoon. It was expected that all changes would be completed by this afternoon. Another change is being made on the third floor of this plant, where a number of new dry rooms are being built. Carpenters have been working on the improvements for a few days, and they will not complete their contract before tomorrow evening.

BROKE AN ANKLE.

Mrs. Nan Green, a finisher employed at the Union, while visiting at the home of relatives in the East End Sunday evening, fell when about at the bottom of a pair of steps and broke her ankle. The fracture was reduced at once, but it will be several days before Mrs. Green will be able to resume her work.

A VISITOR.

Daniel Fitzgerald, formerly a well known pottery workman of this city, now located at the Tiltonville plant, was in the city yesterday calling on his numerous friends. Mr. Fitzgerald stated that the Tiltonville shop was running quite well, and that judging from the manner orders were being received the shop would be operated continuously.

GOODWIN'S TO START.

According to a statement of a member of the firm, the Goodwin pottery will resume operations in full in about two or three weeks. Some departments of this shop have been working for a few days, but the big shop has not been running full. The glost kilnmen at this shop started to work a few days ago.

MAD THEM GUESSING.

Thousands of dollary are lost annually by the manufacturing potters of this city from broken ware, but no one has seemed to take advantage of this small item, until about a year ago. Just a few weeks ago an interesting experiment was made. Experiments in the pottery industry count for much, and so in this instance. A small amount of biscuit ware was ground into a perfect pulverized state, and with a small amount of water a little portion of the pulverized biscuit was mixed in a sort of clay state. This was then placed in the biscuit kiln, then dipped and fired in a glost kiln. The effect was little less than wonderful and when the manufacturer shows this sample, or the result of his experiment to another manufacturer he has them guessing, and very hard at that. The piece that was fired is about as large as one's hand, and just a day or so was broken. Not even the glaze cracked. The body, however, showed itself to be porous, but with a little doctoring manufacturers claim that the porous part can be eliminated. Practically all the broken biscuit ware in this city is sold for purposes foreign to the manufacturing trade. The claim is now made that it will be but a short time until all the manufacturers will be grinding up all their broken biscuit, and working it over again. Some manufacturers have contended this point for months but it seems that no person has ventured to take the initiative.

MANY ARE IN TROUBLE.

Within the past two months the manufacturing potters of this city have been having all sorts of trouble, and it was so even so late as yesterday. The trouble has been the pearling of the glaze, and in many kilns of glost ware basketfuls have been thrown out, or else converted into thirds, where it should be firsts. It seems that the trouble lies in the mixture of the glaze. Not that the proper mixtures have not been used

BOXERS WERE AGAIN ACTIVE.

Committed Murders and Destroyed Property in Western China, In June.

New York, Aug. 19.—The Methodist mission board has received by mail a number of reports from its agents in China concerning the recent local uprisings in China.

Rev. Joseph Beech, of Chung King, West China, writes under date of June 22, saying in part:

"Word has just been received from the Rev. W. Edward Manly and the Rev. Spencer Lewis, a superintendent of the mission, who are in that neighborhood, that the Red Lantern society, the local name for Boxers, has burned the chapel at Tien Ku Chiae, and killed the preacher and four other members."

Under date of June 30, the Rev. Mr. Beech writes concerning the uprising in West China, saying in part:

"In addition to the destruction of the Tien Ku Chiae community, Wu Kwang Tsang has been destroyed, but most of the people escaped. Between Tsicheo and Chentu the extent of the trouble is unknown, but a letter from Brother Cady states there is considerable alarm at Chentu, but that the officials are confident there will be no serious trouble there. Throughout the country, however, there has been widespread destruction already, and it is probable that most of the Christians living outside walled cities, comprising several hundred persons, will lose all they have, if not life itself. There are now very many who have neither home, food nor clothing. Brother Spencer Lewis is doing what he can to assist them, and has secured about 50 taels from the officials for this purpose, and coffins to bury the dead. Brother Lewis telegraphs that the Boxers have been defeated. All is quiet here and the officials seem confident that the trouble will be confined to the country districts."

FATAL LABOR RIOT.

Anthracite Strikers and Deputies Clashed at Nesquehoning, Pa.

Nesquehoning, Pa., Aug. 19.—In a clash between striking mine workers and deputies here last night Patrick Sharp, a striker, of Lansford, was shot and killed almost instantly by a deputy. The shooting caused considerable excitement for a time, but order was soon restored without any other persons being injured and the town became quiet. A deputy named Harry McElmoyle was arrested, charged with the killing of Sharp, and was taken to the county jail at Mauch Chunk.

Another version of the encounter says Sharp and three friends met the party of five deputies, who were on their way to work, and that Sharp walked up to one of the men, presumably McElmoyle, called him an "entair worker," and told him that he would "be more of a man if he did not wear a star." He then made a lunge at the officer, whereat the latter drew his revolver and fired at Sharp, who fell to the ground, dead.

After the shooting the five officers made their way to the Nesquehoning colliery, where they were employed.

After the dead striker had been carried home about half of a mob of about 500 that had gathered started on a march over the mountain to Nesquehoning to wreak vengeance upon the deputies. Before they reached there the five officers were spirited away and taken to Mauch Chunk under a heavy guard.

Last night Baird Snyder, assistant superintendent of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company, appealed to General Gobin to send troops to Lansford to preserve order. He said that the entire Panther Creek valley from Nesquehoning to Mauch Chunk was in a riotous state and that serious trouble was feared before morning. General Gobin said that he could not send troops until an appeal had been made by Sheriff Gombert. Up to a late hour last night the sheriff had taken no action in the matter.

Quay Will Try to Settle Strike.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 19.—The committee representing the Public Alliance, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., held a conference with United States Senator Quay at his cottage on New Hampshire avenue last night for the purpose of devising some plan to end the present anthracite coal miners' strike. It was finally decided by the senator to attempt to bring President George F. Baer, of the Philadelphia and Reading railway, and John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, together in Philadelphia, probably next Friday. It is probable that other officials on each side of the controversy will be asked to attend the meeting.

BYERS CASE CONTINUED.

Judge Allowed Defendants 30 Days In Which to Answer.

Pittsburg, Aug. 19.—When the Byers case was resumed yesterday afternoon in common pleas court No. 1 the attorneys for the plaintiff and defendants asked the court to grant a continuance for 30 days in order to give the defendants time to prepare an answer. This Judge Robert S. Frazer did, and the case will not likely be concluded now before the equity trial list in November. No witnesses were examined in the case yesterday.

The plaintiff, Jacob Byers, a wealthy resident of Greensburg, asked the court to restrain his nephew, William S. Byers, and the Fidelity Title and Trust company from opening a box in the office of the trust company without an order of court and in the presence of an officer of the court. The plaintiff charges his nephew with misappropriating $175,000 worth of Mt. Pleasant Coke company bonds and about $50,000 in cash. An accounting also is asked for.

A MINISTER FOR CONGRESS.

Rev. Dr. Wood Announced He Would Be a Candidate.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 19.—Rev. Morgan Wood, D. D., pastor of Plymouth Congregational church and one of the most widely known ministers of his church in the United States, yesterday announced that he would be a candidate for congress on the Democratic ticket from the Twenty-first Ohio district. The Republican nominee is Hon. Theodore E. Burton, the present incumbent.

Dr. Wood has ministered in Detroit, New Orleans and Toronto. He has been pastor of Plymouth church, this city, for several years, and ranks high as a vigorous speaker.

Woman Found Shot After Quarrel.

Bridgeport, O., Aug. 19.—After a quarrel with her husband, early yesterday morning, Mrs. Henry Kochnlein was found, after two reports were heard, with the side of her head in. She is dying. Her husband was taken to St. Clairsville jail, at his own request, he fearing violence of the people.

K. K. REMINGTON SUICIDED:

It Is Believed Miss Van Alen Broke Her Engagement to Marry Him.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 19.—Disappointment of a broken matrimonial engagement is believed to have been the cause of the suicide here yesterday of Robert Reading Remington, of New York. He shot himself three times in a club house here.

His engagement to Miss May Van Alen, daughter of James Van Alen, and granddaughter of Mrs. William Astor, has been discussed for some months. At first it was denied and then affirmed, but it is generally believed there was a definite engagement, which, however, was broken some three weeks ago. It is said that Mr. Van Alen was greatly opposed to the engagement from the beginning.

Since then Mr. Remington has been despondent, although when asked about the engagement he steadily affirmed that he was to be married in the fall. He left the city about a week ago, breaking up his domestic arrangements here and sending away all his effects. Last Thursday, however, he suddenly returned to Newport.

Mr. Remington was about 35 years of age and a member of the firm of Remington Bros., New York. He had always been known as a man of very quiet tastes. His death has caused a tremendous sensation here.

Last night Mr. Remington's brother telegraphed from New York to have the body prepared for burial. It will be taken to Pittsburg, the former home of the Remingtons.

DON'T EXPECT LEGAL BATTLE.

Arrival of Mrs. Fair's Relatives Was Being Awaited.

San Francisco, Aug. 19.—Judge Carroll Cook yesterday postponed the hearing of the application of Public Administrator Farnham for special letters of administration over the estates of Charles Fair and his wife until today.

Until Mrs. Hannah Nelson, the mother of the late Mrs. Caroline Fair, shall arrive here from Plainfield, N. J., it is highly improbable that any testament from either of the victims of the accident in France will be filed for record here.

"We are awaiting the arrival of Mrs. Fair's relatives," said Attorney Haggerty, "and don't by any means expect a legal battle, as has been intimated. Beyond that I can say nothing."

"There will be no contest over the will of Charles L. Fair, at least so far as Mrs. Oelrichs and Mrs. Vanderbilt are concerned," said Herman Oelrichs. "We are perfectly willing to let the matter rest as it stands, and if there is any contest it will come from the relatives on the other side."

LEISHMAN ACTS FIRMLY.

Turkey Has Not Kept Agreement With American Minister.

Constantinople, Aug. 19.—The non-execution by the Turkish government of agreements reached long ago on several questions affecting the interests of American citizens had led to somewhat strained relations between the United States legation and the porte. The United States minister, John G. A. Leishman, has informed the porte that he will not discuss other matters until the terms of the settlements already agreed upon are carried out.

Four Injured In a Wreck.

Bluffton, O., Aug. 19.—A Lake Erie and Western passenger train was derailed and wrecked at the crossing of the Northern Ohio and Lake Erie and Western road here yesterday. Charles Peeltner, fireman, of Lima, O., had a leg broken and was seriously hurt internally. A. Laurence, brakeman, Lima, O., had a fracture of the knee-cap; W. P. Keptner, bridgeman, Fremont, O., ankle sprained; J. B. Considine, passenger, Portland, Ind., badly hurt.

Cortelyou Visited Mrs. McKinley.

Canton, O., Aug. 19.—Secretary to the President George B. Cortelyou spent several hours here yesterday. He and Judge W. R. Day are executors of the estate of the late President McKinley, which makes occasional visits to Canton by Mr. Cortelyou necessary. He spent most of the day with Mrs. McKinley and accompanied her to the cemetery, where he laid a cluster of flowers on the casket of the man with whom he had been so closely associated.

Alger May Not Be a Candidate.

Detroit, Aug. 19.—When General R. A. Alger was asked yesterday if he was ready to announce his candidacy for the United States senate to succeed the late James McMillan, he said: "Upon mature consideration I have decided to consider the matter a few days longer before arriving at a determination. I shall reach a decision this week." This is taken to mean that General Alger may not be a candidate after all.

Justice Shiras to Retire.

Pittsburg, Aug. 19.—George Shiras III confirmed the report, yesterday, that Justice Shiras is to retire from the United States supreme bench. He said it will be some time within the present year.

Filipino Labor Leaders Arrested.

Manila, Aug. 19.—Isabelo De Los Reyes and four other labor leaders were arrested here yesterday, charged with threatening to assassinate certain striking cigar makers if they returned to work.

THE MOROS REPULSED.

General Chaffee, Who Recommended Active Hostilities, Given Permission to Commence a Campaign—This, After President Had Considered It.

Manila, Aug. 19.—The Moros in Mindanao are renewing their attacks upon the outposts and pack trains of the American column at Lake Lanao, which is under the command of Captain J. J. Pershing, of the Fifteenth cavalry. The Americans have successfully repulsed the Moro attacks and have suffered no losses.

The commanders of the American forces on Mindanao report aggressive action against the Moros to be necessary and ask permission to move against Bacolod and other strongholds of the hostile Mohammedans. There are about 2,000 American soldiers on Mindanao available for the desired aggressive movement. It is believed this number is sufficient to defeat the Moros, although it would possibly be necessary to strengthen their base before undertaking the movement.

Washington, Aug. 19.—A cable dispatch has been received from General Chaffee, stating that in his judgment an active campaign against the Moros in Mindanao was necessary in order to curb the opposition that has been growing against United States authority. The dispatch was considered of sufficient importance to be repeated to President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay.

General Chaffee has been directed to use his own discretion in the matter and will no doubt engage in an aggressive movement against the insurgent Moros. Some time before Secretary Root left Washington the Moro situation was under consideration, and from a dispatch then at hand the secretary was of the opinion that the Moros must be dealt with severely before they would respect the authority of the United States.

General Chaffee is now in Mindanao, having left Manila some days ago.

CAMPAIGNS AGAINST LADRONES.

Hot Fighting by the Constabulary. Casualties on Both Sides.

Manila, Aug. 19.—A force of native constabulary engaged a band of ladrones in a sharp fight last Saturday near Caloocan, about four miles north of Manila. The arrival of reinforcements for the constabulary won them the victory. Four members of the constabulary were killed and one was wounded. The ladrones left three of their number dead, but carried off their wounded.

The chase of the Cavite ladrones through the mountains of that province continues. Forces of native constabulary have had encounters with the bands of Felizardo and Montallon. Several of the ladrones were killed or captured and a quantity of their supplies was destroyed.

Newspaper Men Found Guilty.

Manila, Aug. 19.—Judge Ambler, who has conducted the trial of Frederick Dorr, proprietor, and Edward O'Brien, editor of Freedom, who were charged with libeling Benito Legarda, a Filipino member of the civil commission, announced yesterday that he found the defendants guilty. The trial of Dorr and O'Brien on a charge of sedition began yesterday.

AMERICAN CLAIM IS RIGHT.

Old Russian House and Monuments Found Which Establish Alaskan Line.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 19.—Skaguay advices say the question of the destruction of an old Russian monument in the disputed territory between Alaska and British Yukon has been settled. S. Weitzman, a merchant of Haines, arrived in Skaguay with the news that Lieutenant Owens had found two monuments in perfect repair and definitely located the place where a third one had been destroyed. One of the monuments discovered is about 10 miles above Rainey Hollow. The other is on the Tahkeena river, 50 miles from the coast.

The third monument has been destroyed within a few months. Owens also found an old storm house on the summit. This was called the boundary house when the Russians occupied the country. This establishes beyond all doubt that the Russians did occupy the territory now disputed and that the boundary line, according to the treaty, is where the Americans claim it to be.

Starved to Death; Money With Him.

Salt Lake, Utah, Aug. 19.—The dead body of Peter Anderson, known as "The Hermit Prospector of Park City," has been found in his lonely cabin near the Anchor mill, in the Park City mining district. Anderson had evidently been dead for weeks. It is believed he died from starvation, though $1,700 in cash was found hidden in the cabin. It is believed that fully $10,000 lies to his credit in various banks. His only known relatives live in Sweden.

Do the right thing at the right time.
Act quickly in times of danger.
Backache is kidney danger.
Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly.
Cure all distressing, dangerous kidney ills.

Plenty of evidence to prove this.

Mrs. Caroline White of 225 Railroad street, East End, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and found great relief from the treatment, although I am 70 years of age, and had about given up all hope of ever being helped. I took medicine and my back ached just the same, grew stiff and lame when sitting long or when lying in bed and sharp twinges of pain and other symptoms convinced me my kidneys were out of order. Always on the lookout for anything that might bring relief, when I heard Doan's Kidney Pills so highly spoken of, I got a box at the W. & W. Pharmacy. After using that for a short time I could plainly notice the good effects they were causing. I continued some time longer and gradually but surely improved. I found Doan's Kidney Pills a splendid remedy and advise others to try them, feeling confident if they do so they will have no cause to regret it."

THE MODE IN SKIRTS.

Tendency to Return to the Graceful Draped Effects.

[Special Correspondence.]

New York, Aug. 12.—Anything would be a welcome change after such a long period of snug habit backed skirts for while one woman in a hundred looks fairly well in them the rest would do better to wear some other and less trying form. It so falls out as the matter is now that those whose figures are not exactly adapted to these severe lines and close fit find themselves obliged to wear some kind of so called "improver," and no matter how artfully they are made they always show their presence, and though the wearer thinks that no one could possibly tell she wore them they are in full evidence to any one who can see.

I find so many of the new skirts now in course of construction being copied from models that I can confidently assert that before cold weather comes we shall be wearing not only lots of postillions, but also skirts with tabs all around the waist hanging down quite long, and besides these there will be many skirts with the cuirass at the hips, from there the rest being laid in plaits nearly to the bottom; there they will be left to form a flounce. There are also several styles of skirts to waists which will fall from three to ten inches below the waist line. These are called basques, and they are open in front and do not quite close in the back.

Very many of the new skirts show a decided ambition to return to the graceful draped effects of yore. One elegant heavy black silk had a panel on each side the front breadth, and this was trimmed with rows of castle braid passementerie lengthwise. The front breadth was cut perhaps a third of a yard longer than the lining and gathered at the edges and held full so that the center drooped about two inches.

Some of the dresses have a sort of cuirass made of lace laid over the snug skirt and the skirt itself trimmed to give the idea of a specially shaped cuirass. Others are shirred and have trou trou insertion with narrow black velvet ribbon run in. In this case the waist is to be trimmed in the same manner, and the style is suitable only for sheer fabrics or those which fall in soft, heavy lines like crepe de chine.

I notice quite a number of dresses for fall with the skirt cut on the same narrow flowing lines as those for the past season, but the arrangement of the trimming suggests panels and draping at the front or the sides. I saw one beautiful brown cloth dress, the skirt laid in box plaits from top to bottom, widening out at the bottom, and having three rows of black Soleil braid in gradual widths. There was a deep yoke at the hips, and this had three rows of the same kind of braid, but in narrower widths. The belt was made of one row of the wide and stitched. This was simple, yet the wearisome monotony of the perfectly plain skirt was broken.

More than I can mention of the new tailored suits are made with basque finish at the waist. Some are made to open down the back and fasten with dozens of small black buttons. When these have trimming down every seam, they become very dressy. One made of fine black broadcloth had six rows of white stitching down every seam all around the skirt and six rows around the bottom, and it buttoned from top to bottom. Many have the front breadth made narrow and left quite plain, while there is a shaped and graduated flounce extending all the rest of the way around. This may be made with clusters of narrow tucks, headed with lace, or it may be left plain. A few clusters of tucks at the top of the skirt to fit it to the figure are often seen, but few of the new skirts are quite plain around the hips. OLIVE HARPER.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature and of Matters About Town.

Homestead Here Next—The East Liverpool baseball team will play with Homestead on the home grounds Friday and Saturday.

Miss House Dying—On account of the serious condition of Miss Bird House, the Junior League social, which was to have been held tonight at the M. E. parsonage, has been postponed. She is thought to be dying at her home on Mulberry street.

The Case Was Settled—George Bumberger was before 'Squire McCarron yesterday charged with stealing a bucket of ice cream from William Feist's confectionery store. The matter was settled, Bumberger paying for the ice cream and costs.

Circus Attached—The Great American circus, which was organized here last month, has gone to the bank at Callipolis under an attachment. It was towed by the C. J. Reynolds. It is understood the company will be re-organized and enlarged for the coming season.

Excursion to Moscow—The Christian Endeavor society of the Methodist Protestant church will take a pleasure trip to Moscow this evening. They will go to Wellsville on a street car, then to Congo on the ferry boat and will finish the trip in hay wagons. PERS—

Work on New Sewer—Contractor John A. George began the construction of the Rural Lane sewer this morning. Contractor Rinehart was granted the contract, but for some reason it was never carried out. The present contractors propose to push the work with all possible speed.

Ferrall Family Reunion—The reunion of the Ferrall family of this county will take place August 27 at the old homestead at Columbiana. N. S. Ferrall and wife, of this city, leave tomorrow for Columbiana and will remain there until after the reunion. There will be at least 300 of the family at the reunion from all sections of the country.

Scalded Her Hands—Miss Kate Tullis, residing north of the city, met with a very painful accident yesterday, and it will be some time before she is able to use either hand. While preparing dinner the young lady accidentally upset a kettle of scalding water, the contents of the kettle spilling upon her hands. They were badly burned.

Twenty Made Ten—With the two couples united in marriage by Justice H. P. McCarron Saturday afternoon, the total number of ceremonies performed by that magistrate since July 21 footed up ten. It is thought this is the largest number ever performed by any justice in the same length of time. The 'squire is very proud of the record, and attributes the remarkable circumstance to his extraordinary personal charms and the fact that he is able to guarantee a knot that will stick.

Mor Testimon Needed.

Lisbon, Aug. 19—(Special)—The commission recently issued to take the testimony of Elmer L. Roniniger, a witness to the will of the late John C. Beatty, was returned to court this morning, and an effort was made to probate the will of the deceased. It was found however that Ida M. Trotter, another witness, lives in Dixmont, Pa., and is beyond the jurisdiction of the court, and a commission was issued to take her evidence.

REAT RUSH TO GET LEASES

r the Privilege of Putting Down Test Wells in the Territory.

EASES ARE HARD TO OBTAIN

There is now all sorts of excitement Beaver and Hancock counties over prospect of a number of good oil lls coming in soon, and the field is racting no little attention. Big ney is being paid for leases and me sized bonuses are being given ely, just for the privilege of locat a well.

The Mike Finnicum well on the Al t Ferguson farm is now ready to pumped, and the oil from this well ll be sold to the National Transit mpany, which is the term applied to Southwest division of th Standard company. It was expected that aping from the Finnicum well uld start yesterday afternoon, as connections had been made, both he well and at the tanks.

W. C. Stewart, of Buffalo, N. Y., rominent oil man of that state, is latest arrival in the new oil field. is interested in a well being drill on the Spence farm. At this well Saturday, when a depth of about or more feet had been reached, the ble broke, allowing the tools to l to the bottom. There is a fishing on tap now, but drilling is ex ted to start again within a very rt time. A. Mr. Jennings, of Pitts g, and Mr. LeComte are bidding ainst each other for the Dr. Frank ughlin farm near Georgetown. Con ences have been held in this city this purpose, and as yet the farm not been leased.

The offering of a bonus to locate lls on farms in the vicinity of orgetown is increasing. Homer wson offered $1,000 to Tom Swearen last Friday for the right to ate a well on his farm of 50 acres, d the offer was accepted. It must remembered that the one-eighth in est in the oil found is also addi n to the monetary consideration. e well was located on this farm sterday and drilling is expected to rt soon.

On the Nathaniel Wright farm a bo s of $200 was given to locate a well a four-acre territory. The outlook this new field is most promising. Stanton Chapman, the oil operator, o has been leasing land in the ntry four miles south of Chester, ived in the city this morning from illiant, and went at once to the dis ct in which he desires to put down t wells.

Mr. Chapman takes a very different w from the land owners and thinks outlook for development is any ng but bright, and unless owners of land in that vicinity nge their tactics considerably re will be no tests made soon.

The gentleman told a News Review porter this morning that he was ving difficulty in persuading the ners of land there to let it go. In ny cases but a few acres of an en e farm can be secured, and even en they insist upon a lease of but r months, which, according to Mr. apman, is not enough. He says it ll take all of that time to do the lling, and in many cases the rigs not in shape to place in operation short notice. On the present trip Mr. Chapman hopes to take up suffi nt land to justify him in bringing drilling apparatus to this section.

FINED FOR FIGHTING

arles Brock Hit Ed Mosby And it Cost Him $9.60. Other Cases.

Edward Mosby and Charles Brock, ll known young colored men, were rested last evening in Diamond al by Officer Dawson for fighting. th were released upon their own cognizance. This morning Brock aded guilty and was fined $9.60. sby will likely escape a fine.

Those who witnessed the fight say at Mosby was standing in the alley hen Brock came along and just for n landed a Corbett blow about Mos 's eyes. Mosby's sight immediately came dimmed by tears and blood and he walked away without reciprocating. Officer Dawson met him on the street and arrested him and took both in charge.

Jefferson Childers swore that he was not drunk last evening when run in by Officer Rose. He said that he had been on the Cleveland excursion and, getting no sleep, had lain down for a snooze on Thompson's green. The mayor deferred sentence until the case is investigated.

Jack Dempsey had been there before so many times that the mayor changed the usual amount to $7.60. He made arrangements and was released.

MAN LONG ABSENT THOUGHT TO BE IN THIS CITY.

West Virginian Whom Chief Thompson is Asked to Find.

Chief Thompson is searching the city for Scott Morrison Sturm, who left his home at Virora, Harrison county, W. Va., about eight years ago and who according to a letter received from a brother has not been seen since that time. The letter which follows gives the story of his disappearance:

"About eight years ago my brother, S. M. Storm, disappeared from his home here, near Fairmont, W. Va., since which time no trace of him has been had until recently I am informed that he is in your town. Any information you can give me will be liberally rewarded.

"The following is a description of him: Weight, about 160 pounds; height, 4 feet 9 or 10 inches; red hair, very thin on front part of head and may be nearly or quite bald by this time; has a habit of snuffing his nose and keeps his finger nails chewed off very close; red moustache, not very heavy; about 48 years of age; has been a teacher of schools in this state, also a reader of music.

"At the time he left he was employed in digging coal in one of our mines. He may be engaged in the same business there if you have any mines, or he may be employed in or about some of the mills. I am informed that he owns property there and keeps one or two cows. His wife is small and of dark complexion. I would be glad to hear from you, and if you can find this man I will come and see you at once. Wishing you success, I am, yours truly,

"ARTHUR STURM."

HUSBAND WON'T WORK

The Complaint Which a West End Wife Lodged Before a 'Squire.

Living on promises for over a year caused Mrs. Isaac Art to appear in Squire McLane office this afternoon and make complaint against her husband. She lives in the extreme west end of the city and walked to the office of the 'squire, dragging her little girl along, for the purpose evidently of making a stronger hit with the man who metes out justice.

Many times, she stated, her husband had promised to go to work and earn her and her child food. He has done that regularly for over a year. "I am tired of it," she said, "and if you don't make Ike work I am going to leave him." The 'squire told her that he could not see how he could make her husband work if she can't and dismissed the case. She went in search of other means by which she can make the man come to time.

TRIED TO KILL HERSELF

Insane Woman of Columbiana Took Carbolic Acid, Intending Suicide.

Lisbon, Aug. 19—(Special)—Mrs. Agatha Randall of Columbiana, was taken to the asylum at Massillon today. She was taken before Judge Boone last night after she had attempted to take her life by means of carbolic acid. She was prevented from swallowing any of the liquid although she was considerably burned.

She suffers under the hullication that her friends and relativs hav forsakn her. The supposed cause of her insanity is financial trouble. She is 56 years old.

Small Suit Appealed.

Lisbon, Aug. 19, (Special.)—H. I. Hughes, of Salem, sued Warren Hawley in Justice Reed's court for $5.50, claimed due him for rent. The case was heard last month when judgment was rendered for the full amount. Hawley appealed to common pleas court today.

LEADERS OF OPPOSING FACTIONS IN THE IMPENDING RAILROAD WAR OF RATES.

Andrew J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, is generally looked upon as the leader of the faction opposed to George Gould and his Missouri Pacific interests. For some time it has been currently reported that a clash likely to result in a disastrous war of rates was imminent. To an impartial observer the strength of the opposing factions seems about equal, and an open rupture would force an alliance of roads now friendly to both interests which would inevitably bring about an unprecedented cutting of the freight tariff between eastern and western points. The Inter State Commerce law would naturally be expected to prevent such a consummation, but that this may be evaded successfully has been frequently demonstrated.

LISBON AND CHESTER MILLS ARE IN LUCK

Lisbon and Chester tin mills of the American Tin Plate Company are among the fortunate ones. The Chester is in operation and the Lisbon mill, which was ordered shut down last week, received orders to start immediately, and was in operation today.

The following is a complete list of the tin mills ordered idle following the refusal of the tin plate mill workers to accept a reduction in wages, says the American Manufacturer:

La Belle, at Wheeling, 10 mills; Shenango plant, New Castle, 30 mills; Pittsburg plant, New Kensington, seven mills; Pennsylvania plant, Middletown, Ind., six mills; Laughlin plant, Martins Ferry, 22 mills; Niles plant, Niles, O., six mills; Anderson plant, Anderson, Ind., seven mills; Gas City plant, Gas City, Ind., eight mills; Canonsburg plant, Canonsburg, Pa., five mills; Ellwood City plant, Ellwood City, Pa., six mills; Johnstown plant, Johnstown, Pa., two mills; Great Western plant, Joliet, Ill., four mills; Atlanta plant, Atlanta, Ind., six mills.

It will be seen that but 145 will be left in operation with many of these no doubt designed to shut down soon. Of the mills in operation 74 are non-union as follows: Cambridge works, Cambridge, O., six mills; Chester works, Chester, W. Va., seven mills; Crescent works, Cleveland, O., six mills; Monongahela works, Pittsburg, Pa., 14 mills; Star works Pittsburg, Pa., six mills; United States works, Demmler, 11 mills; and the National works, Monessen, two mills. In addition it is reported that the two Sharon works of the Sharon Tin Plate Company at Sharon, are soon to be closed.

Since the intimation of council that street signs will decorate the corners of all streets within the city and the appointment of a committee to confer with agents as to prices and quality of signs at least 20 men have visited City Clerk Davidson with a bundle of signs under their arms. Signs of every description have been presented for inspection. Among them are some very neat ones. In fact any sign yet presented would be a great improvement. There will be but one obstruction to the committee agreeing upon a certain design.

The agents are maintaining prices almost too high to be considered in designs that would be acceptable. The prices range from 30 cents to 80 cents. The designs on those lurking around the latter figure are elegant enough the same kind being used in all the larger cities of the United States.

The cheaper ones are just as pretty and possibly as neat but they will not stand the weather. Nothing definite has been done by the committee further than instructing the agents to present sealed bids for the furnishing and placing of signs to council at the next regular meeting.

Promoter U. J. Smith, of the cross county railway fame, was in the city yesterday and from the mystery surrounding his actions, it is thought he has new schemes to develop. To a News Review reporter he said:

"The cross-county railway is by no means a dead issue. We are only waiting for a few matters closely related to the project to develop when the line will go through as originally planned. However, I am not here on that account and have something in prospect at present that will discount the railway in magnitude. If our plans do not miscarry the enterprise we are now working on will mean much to East Liverpool and her industrial interests."

It is said that Mr. Smith endeavored to interest local capital in a scheme of his own conception, but failed to surround the picture with sufficient attractions to fascinate any of them. Many of the East Liverpool men who have money to invest and who would not hesitate to put it into anything practical, claim that Smith has little substantial backing and are not disposed to take him seriously.

The Labor day committee is hard at work preparing the program for the parade and arranging the several events in the line of sports.

The entire program will be completed and in the hands of the printer by the latter part of the week.

The chief marshal has about completed the list of aids, and the positions of the locals in the line has been arranged. It is estimated that at least 4,000 men and women will be in line. All of the ladies' organizations have arranged to turn out and every available conveyance in the city has been engaged for the occasion. There are about 12 lady representatives in Trades Council and carriages have already been secured for their accommodation.

FOR A $25 PRIZE

A match foot race has been arranged between two local carpenters, A. H. Underwood and Harry Woods, for a purse of $25, to be run at Rock Springs park some evening this week.

Y. M. C. A. SOCIALS

A Variety of Entertainment to Be Arranged for Members for Next Winter.

Secretary M. C. Wright has sent letters to every member of the Y. M. C. A. asking that they be present at a meeting this evening for the purpose of making arrangements for a series of social functions during the coming winter. It is the purpose of Mr. Wright to make this a predominating feature of the association. He has learned from observation among other association that it is the only way to keep the members in close touch with each other.

The first social to be held will be during September, and it will be the formal opening for the winter entertainments and pleasures. If possible a social of some sort will be held every month until spring. A committee will be appointed this evening to oversee and conduct the plans. It will be the aim of the committee to have a variety in the way of entertainment.

DEATH WAS FIRST

James A. Sheen, Wanted for Assault, Died Suddenly at Homestead.

Salem, August 19.—(Special)—The police of this city have been looking for James A. Sheen since June 7, but death caught him first. Word was received here today by his parents that he had died at Homestead, Pa., last night of cramps.

Smith was 36 years old and a native of England. He had been in the employ of the Pittsburg & Allegheny Telephone company.

On June 7 Smith went to the home of his divorced wife, in this city, and finding Mark Smith there, became enraged, and attacked him with a pair of wire pliers, inflicting wounds that for a time, it was thought, would prove fatal. No word had been received from him since that time.

NO SUIT LIKELY

It is likely that the claim of the McDevitt heirs against the city will be settled without a law suit. The damage wrought by a flood four years ago is the basis of the claim.

The estate owns considerable property on West Market street, and the particular lot where the damage is alleged to have been suffered is situated on the west side of the street. This property is peculiarly situated, in that there is or was a stone wall in front at least six feet high. During a storm in the spring of 1898 the water came down the hill and across the street in such quantities that a portion of the wall was washed out. The pavement was also damaged, and since that time has become so bad that when notices were served upon property owners to repair bad sidewalks that in front of the McDevitt property was included among the number. Those in charge of the estate objected to paying for the improvement, or that portion of it which adjoined the wall. The city was asked to settle, and a committee, consisting of Messrs. Bullock, Johnston and McConnell was appointed to endeavor to make terms.

A conference was held last night, and it is probable the claim will be settled in the manner decided upon at that time. At least the committee will make a recommendation along that line. It is proposed that the city rebuild the wall, the material, which is still on the ground, to be furnished by the owners of the property. That portion of the sidewalk directly adjoining the wall is also to be paid for by the city.

OPENING OF THE PARK

First Ball Games on the Y. M. C. A. Field Set for This Week.

The new Y. M. C. A. Athletic park at Chester will be formally opened next Friday afternoon, when a game of base ball will be played between the Y. M. C. A. and the Ford City team.

The Ford City team has been secured for two games, and judging by the reputation of the team from the Pennsylvania town two good contests can be expected.

The management of the park state that they have signed up a majority of the members of the East Liverpool club, and as its season is now over they can have their pick and choice.

READY TO LET CONTRACTS

COMPLETION OF BUILDINGS

Free of Debt Is Looked For During the Coming Months of the Fall.

LOTS WHICH MUST BE SOLD

Since the News Review's exclusive announcement yesterday of the progress being made by the Hospital association in the erection of its building or lower Sixth street, those in charge of the work have determined to let all remaining contracts without delay.

Bids on the brick work will be let at once, or soon enough to permit the workmen to begin not later than September 1. A. S. Young one of the most active members of the association, said this morning:

"It is the desire of the Hospital association to complete, free of debt, as early this fall as possible, the two buildings now under way, the Administration building and the East Ward building. In order to do this it will be necessary for the Association to realize on its Calcutta road property. This tract of land which consists of almost three acres of desirable residence property fronting on Calcutta road and Wall street, right on the street car line and within five minutes walking distance of the Diamond, has been platted into 28 good sized lots and are offered for sale at prices from $200 and upwards, according to size and location.

"In buying one of these lots the purchaser will not only get good value for his money, but will also be helping the city hospital project along.

"The real estate firms of the city including:

George H. Owen & Co.,
E. W. Hill.
M. E. Miskall & Co.
McGarry Bros.
Herbert & Travis.
J. P. Hanlon.
Walter Supplee, East End.
L. W. Carman, East End,

have voluntarily and gratituously offered their services to the building committee, to help dispose of the lots, and it is confidentially expected that within the next ten days every lot will be sold. The aid thus rendered by the real estate firms of the city is worthy of commendation, and is very much appreciated by those in charge of the hospital.

"Arrangements for the laying of the corner stone of the building are being made by a committee consisting of A. S. Young, Geo. Burford, Geo. Hamilton and E. P. Hazlett. The ceremony will take pace some time in September."

ASSIGNMENT MADE

By an East Liverpool Hardware Firm for Benefit of Creditors.

The firm of James H. Ford & Son, of East Liverpool, filed a deed of assignment with Judge Boone at Lisbon this afternoon. The members of the firm are Lewis and Anna Ford and have been engaged in the hardware business on Washington street. The property consists of personal estate only. It was transferred to T. V. Mackall for the benefit of creditors.

The property will amount to about $800. No estimate was filed as to what the liabilities would amount to.

Condemnation Proceedings Necessary to Secure a Site For It.

Lisbon, August 19. — (Special) — The board of education of Elkrun township met this morning and decided to erect a brick school house in Pine Hollow district, which is just beyond Elkton.

A new site owned by Mrs. Samantha Davis will be secured for the new building, and as Mrs. Davis refuses to dispose of her land, condemnation proceedings will be begun at once in probate court to appropriate it. The old building has been in use since 1853.

During the Past Week—Progress of Cataloguing Old Library Books. Popular New Works—A Donation of 30 Volumes.

That the Carnegie library is receiving its share of attention is evident from the fact that 1,318 people were through it last week. During that time about 745 books were circulated.

About 1,600 books from the old library have been catalogued. The following is a list of new books which were circulated this month for the first time:

"Her Serene Highness," by David Graham Phillips, recounts the chance acquaintance of a young American of the rare ability to making intellectual fun. He combines nicely learning and nonsense, and mixes them with rare fancy that at times approaches the poetic. "A fitting subtitle might be: "A Half Hour's Fun With the Gods." The humor is delicious; in fact, is quite contagious. The book is wholly up to date in its introduction of automobiles and golf links in the home of the gods.

In "The Valley of Decision," the authoress, Mrs. Edith Wharton, was fortunate at the outset in her choice of a subject. She has attempted to sum up the life of Italy in the latter half of the eighteenth century. The authoress is intimated to her finger tips with the historical facts of the period, the motley and confusing tangle of petty dukedoms and the warring clans of Austria and of Spain. She has given not merely a broad canvas but a moving panorama of the life of that restless time, presenting with a certain dramatic power the discontent of the masses, and the petty intrigues of the church and the aristocracy.

"The King in Yellow" has been republished in attractive form. On its first appearance years ago the book won immediate favor, due to the strength and power of the stories and setting. Those who missed them will be glad of the new opportunity afforded to procure them, for the book has been out of print.

George Cary Eggleston's "DaroCy South," though not the very latest book, still comes under that class, since it is being widely read and remains in popular favor. It is a love story of Virginia just before the war. Of the heroine it is said: "Her very presence creates an atmosphere of sunshiny brightness. Her girlish dignity is flexible and appealing. She attracts unconsciously and unaffectedly captivates.

Among other new books received are: "The Sport of the Gods," Paul Laurence Dunbar; "Chimmie Fadden And Mr. Paul," "The Misdemeanors of Nancy," "The Siege of Lady Resolute," George W. Cable's "Bylow Hill," "The Way of Escape," "Faith's Ground," "Rataplan, a Rogue Elephant," "Five Little Peppers Abroad," a child's book; "The Deer Family," Theodore Roosevelt, and others.

Quite a number of children's books will be received next month. About 30 books were presented to the library Saturday by Thomas F. Walklet.

EAST END

Three Horses Will Be Taken From the East End to East Palestine.

Three horses that have been quartered at Columbian park track were this afternoon taken to East Palestine where they will enter the races that will be run near that town tomorrow and Thursday. They are Robert L., Boy and Dr. Morris. These horses are in the best possible condition, and the rail birds who have visited the Columbian park in the early morning workouts, claim that some excellent time trials have been made. These horses are expected to come home under the money at East Palestine. They were taken to the track by Jas. Hagegood, and in the races they will be driven by William Humble, of this city, a driver of no mean reputation.

P. H. C. MEETING

Many to Initiate and Many Visitors Expected in the East End Tonight.

At a meeting of Eureka Circle, of the Protected Home Circle, which will be held in the East End this evening, about 20 candidates will be initiated into the order. Visiting members of the order will be present from Fidelity Circle, Wellsville; Stratton Circle, East Liverpool, and also the Chester Circle. Quite a number of applications will also be presented at this meeting, which gives promise of being one of the most interesting that has been held for months.

At this session also final arrangements will be made for the annual picnic, which will be held at Cascade park tomorrow.

Possibly Still Running.

There was a goose pasture case in the East End, and it is claimed that the affair was a success in every particular. There were about 75 men in the party, and the victim, who it is said resides in Helena, commenced to walk east on the railroad from the site of the new proposed station. Pistol shots were fired in all directions, and the assertion is made that the individual is still running.

Injustice Done Him.

James Jameson claims that an injustice was caused him yesterday by the publication of the report of the trouble he had with his son. Jameson claims that he was just correcting his son and that the boy made all the noise that was heard. He denies that the boy was unduly chastised or that there was any knocking down as was reported.

Interest is Growing.

The Free Methodist revival meetings being held at the Neville Institute in the East End are largely attended, and so far quite a number of conversions have been reported. People have been attending these services from all parts of the city, and every night a service is held the hall is well filled. The interest in the services is growing and no time has been set for the meetings to close. They will last for a week longer at least, for the school term of this school will open the first week in September.

An Enjoyable Dance.

Another dance was given in the Larkins & Ferguson hall last evening which was said to be one of the successes of the season. The attendence was large, and the dance a quiet one. One individual under the influence of liquor attempted to get into the hall, but was put out by the owners of the building.

Houses Still Scarce.

There is still a scarcity of houses in the East End, especially houses to be rented. Of course a large number of new houses are being built, but they will be occupied by their owners. There is ample room for a syndicate to be formed and build a number of houses to rent in the East End. The investment would surely be a paying one.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

A daughter has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Newell, of Erie street.

Walter Suppice today completed the work of grading the yard about his new residence on Ohio avenue.

Jake Smith, of Pennsylvania avenue, left this morning for Columbus where he will remain several days visiting his brother.

A daughter has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Wright, of the East End. Mr. Wright is a conductor employed on the East Liverpool railway.

The third degree will be worked upon two candidates in the East End Thursday evening during a meeting of Ohio Valley Council No. 23, O. U. A. M. At the last meeting two applications were acted upon, and it is expected that several more will be presented at this meeting.

Tubbs Is Released.

Columbus, Aug. 19.—John Tubbs, of Salem, who was sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary for shooting to kill, was discharged yesterday morning. Good behavior reduced the actual time he had to serve to about ten months. He will soon return to Salem. He will not contest the action begun by his wife for divorce.

Nobility Recommends Nervine.

The above portrait is that of Countess Mogelstud, of Chicago, Ill., whose gratitude for the benefit received from the use of Dr. Miles' Nervine prompted her to make this statement:

"It affords me great pleasure to add my testimony to the very excellent merits of Dr. Miles' Nervine. Although I am past 80 years of age I find it soothes the tired brain, quiets the irritated nerves and insures restful sleep. I never feel contented without a bottle of it in the house." Gratefully yours,
CHRISTIANA MARIA,

Fearless and Independent.

The Chicago Record-Herald is a conspicuous example of the success with which the public rewards fearless nonpartisanship in the columns of a great metropolitan daily paper. It is an independant newspaper in which men and measures are invariably viewed wholly from the standpoint of the public good and not from the standpoint of any particular political party. It is the very reverse of neutral—fearless and outspoken on all the great questions of the day, but presenting its editorial opinion upon independant judgment and entirely regardless of political affiliations. Partisanship is barred as strictly from the news columns as from the editorial page. All political news is given without partisan coloring, thus enabling the reader to form correct conclusions for himself. In the ordinary partisan newspaper political news is ordinarily colored to such an extent as to make it difficult if not impossible for the reader to secure a sound basis for intelligent judgment.

Dysentery Cured Without the Aid of a Doctor.

"I am just up from a hard spell of the flux" (dysentery), says Mr. T. A. Pinner, a well known merchant of Drummond, Tenn. "I used one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was cured without having a doctor. I consider it the best cholera medicine in the world." There is no need of employing a doctor when this remedy is used, for no doctor can prescribe a better medicine for bowel complaint in any form either for children or adults. It never fails and is pleasant to take. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

DESERTED MORGAN

JOINED UNION FORCES AND NOW GETS A PENSION.

A Romance of Love And War With Tennessee and Ohio as Ssenes.

An original pension of $6 per month has been granted Jeremiah Gibson, late of the 7th United States Volunteers, through the Steubenville Pension Agency.

Back of this is an interesting story which Pension Agent Donnan has named "Love and War, or the Romantic Courtship and Marriage of Bethia and Jeremiah." Gibson was one of John Morgan's raiders through Indiana and Ohio. While camped for a rest at Criders Mill he met a beautiful young girl with whom he fell desperately in love. He wag ragged and dusty, good looking, kind heatred and jolly. She was only 18, but too patriotic to entertain even the thought of matrimony with a rebel.

He was from East Tennessee and all of his relatives there were Unionists, but being young and full of life, and anxious for adventure he joined with Morgan. After a very short courtship Gibson was induced to renounce his allegiance to the Southern cause, desert his command and return to his home, and if ever able to prove his loyalty to the Stars and Stripes he was to return and she would marry him.

On the first opportunity offering he did desert, but was immediately captured by his own pickets and returned to camp. There he was court-martialled and he was sentenced to be shot to death at sunrise the next morning.

There being so many deserting at this time Morgan found it absolutely necessary to make an example. In the meantime, Shackleford, with his forces, had quietly surrounded the raiders upon Yellow Creek, and before sunrise that morning he had captured the whole rebel outfit. While on their way to prison Gibson eluded the guards and escaped. After encountering many thrilling adventures he reached Cincinnati, where he enlisted and was afterwards assigned to the Seventh Cavalry. During his faithful and honorable service for nearly three years he kept up a regular correspondence with his sweetheart in Ohio, and when discharged from the service he returned to her, proved his lopalty and they were married. At present their home is on a beautiful farm in East Tennessee.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS

For Brooke County With the Wabash Railroad and New Industries.

Wellsburg, W. Va., Aug. 19.—A. H. Elson, of Cross Creek, was in town and stated that the Wabash railroad people seem to be unusually active the past few days. They have been fairly shaking the hills with heavy blasts both night and day. The face of the country will be greatly altered by the change in the creek bed but he will not be seriously affected.

With the acquisition of the Wabash mileage and the Folansbee Bros.' plants to be on the Mahan farms with all the attendant building of dwelling houses, Cross Creek district has forged to the front and so much taxable property has come in of late that the burden of taxation will be lightened and distributed over a larger territory.

Women and Jewels.

Jewels, candy, flowers, men—that is the order of a woman's preferences. Jewels form a magnet of mighty power to the average woman. Even that greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined in the strenuous effort to make or save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her fortify herself against the insiduous consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Boschee's German Syrup. It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles. You can get this reliable remedy at Charles F. Craig's.

Naval experiments with the use of liquid fuel and the probability that it may be adopted for commercial purposes on the smaller classes of ships will probably lead to an investigation of the output of oil, with the view of determining whether it is sufficient to meet the demands that may be made upon it. Oil has been produced in this country for commercial purposes for over 40 years. When the old fields were almost exhausted, new ones were developed. The discoveries in Texas in 1901 increased the world's production of 155,000,000 barrels in the previous year to 720,000,000 barrels, or more than five fold. A few years ago, when petroleum was first investigated for fuel purposes, it was asserted that the Pennsylvania railroad locomotives alone would require more than the total output of oil in the United States at that time. Matters have changed materially, but there is no certainty whatever that the petroleum fields can be depended upon for a constant supply of cheap fuel. The question which the government proposes to investigate is one of the highest importance to thousands of people who have millions of dollars of capital invested in a great industry.

Labor day is near and East Liverpool will celebrate it with even more than the usual zeal and enthusiasm. There is abundant reason why it should be made a joyous occasion. Labor is the mainstay and strength of this city; most of our people work for a living. The workers have prospered during the past year and there is every prospect of abundant work for them at good wages during the next twelve months. The city is steadily growing greater and more prosperous, and it is labor that is making it so. Everybody in East Liverpool has reason to be proud of the city's industrious toilers and everybody should endeavor to help to make Labor's holiday a joyous and successful occasion.

It is said the teachers of a West Virginia district where salaries average $30 a month propose to strike. They would strike out and quit that neck of woods if they were as energetic as educated young people ought to be.

There is a disposition on the part both of Spain and that of the United States to overlook the late unpleasantness. Caprice and Luck.

In gambling one thing is certain, and that is the very large percentage in favor of the bank or the game. Caprice is the only law of chance, and the results are as fanciful as they are unanticipated.

One summer, the last of John Morrissey's life, a party from Washington were making merry in the wineroom of the clubhouse in Saratoga, among whom was a youthful attache of the French embassy, says the Brooklyn Eagle. Without remark this attache suddenly rose, entered the playroom and, going to a roulette table, tossed a hundred dollar bill on ten, black. The dealer politely informed him that he had exceeded the limit. The attache was insistent. Morrissey, sauntering up, nodded to the dealer to let it go. It won. Refusing to accept chips, the attache gathered in his winnings and rejoined his friends. Half an hour later he did the same thing and was again successful. At frequent intervals he repeated his trips, invariably winning, never once losing until he had won $17,500, when his friends carried him off.

As he left Morrissey remarked to a friend, "I never take the limit off that the bank doesn't lose." Nevertheless there was a profit on the night's play for the bank.

Some Nonsense.

CURES FOR TOOTHACHE.

Remedies That Do Not Appeal to the Ordinary Man Today.

The man in dental anguish sometimes curses with Burns "the venomed stang that shoots his tortured gums alang." Sometimes, on the other hand, he prays. St. Augustine in his "Confessions" relates how he once suffered from "dolor dentium" (toothache), apparently in an aggravated form, for he could not speak. Thereupon he wrote on wax a prayer to God for the other brethren to repeat, and as soon as all were on their knees the pain went. "But what a pain!" he says. "Never since my tender age had I experienced the like." Southey in his "Life of John Wesley" tells of that eminent preacher that when his own tooth ached he prayed and the pain left him.

Unfortunately ordinary men do not seem to have such efficacious faith. When the excruciation begins, they must bear it philosophically, and on Shakespeare's authority toothache finds out just the weak place in the philosopher's armor of patience. In the middle ages the devout who were racked with pain had a special patron to whom they could call for deliverance. St. Apollonia, a martyr under the emperor Philip, among other cruel indignities had her teeth pulled out. In consequence she became toothache's tutelary saint, as her emblems—one of which is "holding a tooth in pinchers"—sufficiently testify.

And there would seem to have been yet another martyr, St. Blaize, who took cognizance of the disease. He was honored in the little town of St. Blazey, in Cornwall, where candles offered upon his altar were supposed to be an infallible cure for toothache.—Chambers' Journal.

GOUGH'S QUICK WIT.

A Retort That Silenced an Interruption In the Audience.

An effort of one of John B. Gough's tours of the west was to arouse his converts to a political movement in favor of prohibition, and in several states the politicians began to give consideration to the cry. The distillers and liquor dealers are said to have been so frightened that they employed men to follow the lecturer, sit among the audience and endeavor to confound him with questions. He had worked a Topeka (Kan.) audience up to a fine pitch of excitement and in his effective manner cried:

"Temperance! Temperance! Temperance! It will mean money in your pocket, clothes on your back, happiness in your home and God in your heart!"

Up leaped one of the paid interrupters and shouted to the audience:

"Money in your pockets! Why, fellow citizens, follow this man's ideas and we'll be all in the poorhouse! Think of the fields of tasseled corn that stretch on every side! Whisky is made from corn. We sell millions of dollars' worth of corn to the whisky makers. Stop the manufacture of whisky, and what'll we do?"

Then, turning to Gough, he went on:

"You, Mr. Smarty—what'll we do? Tell us, if prohibition comes, what'll we do with our corn?"

Sympathy.

Ted's mamma had a birthday recently and received as a present from one of her friends a ten dollar bill. Accompanying the money was a note in which the writer, after explaining that she couldn't think of anything tasteful to buy and had therefore sent the cash, made some tender references to bygone days and dear old scenes. While the recipient was sitting with the bill in one hand and the letter in the other and permitting tears to drip down upon both Ted went up to her and, putting his arms around her neck, tenderly asked:

"What's the matter, mamma? Isn't the money good?"—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Proctor's Finest Speech.

Senator Proctor of Vermont once said the finest speech he ever made consisted of only four words. It was in retort to Senator Hoar's sarcastic little thrust in a speech directed at the Green Mountain senator. He said, "No man in Vermont is allowed to vote unless he has made $5,000 trading with Massachusetts people."

Whereat Proctor said, "And we all vote."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Wade Hampton's Slaves.

It is related of General Wade Hampton that on one occasion he was riding along a highway that led through one of his numerous southern plantations when he met a slave of fine build and appearance. He drew rein and said: "You are a likely fellow. Who do you belong to?" "Wade Hampton, sir." "Ah! And who is Wade Hampton?" "Please, sir, master, you mus' be from de norf, 'kase Mas' Wade Hampton is de berry fust gemmun in de souf."

The story used to be told to illustrate the greatness in numbers of Wade Hampton's slaves. His own slaves did not know him by sight—that is, hundreds and thousands of them did not. The slaves he owned numbered 4,000, and he was therefore the largest slave owner of the south or of modern times.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

A Royal Talisman.

For 400 years the Hohenzollern family has possessed a peculiar talisman in the shape of a black stone set in a ring, each head of the house having passed the charm on to the next in succession for many generations. Frederick the Great is said to have found the ring sealed in a package with instructions as to its preservation and transmission written by Frederick I.

Precisely what value or significance attaches to this carefully treasured bit of jewelry it would be difficult to say. Tradition says that a huge toad hopped into the royal presence centuries ago with the stone held in its mouth. As to whether the golden setting in which the stone is now preserved is due to the forethought of the intelligent toad or to the afterthought of the Hohenzollerns tradition fails to enlighten us.

One Definition of It.

"And what is domesticity in woman?"

Saving His Father's Hair.

Lord Charles was often troubled by importunate acquaintances, who begged for some of his father's (the Duke of Wellington) hair. On such occasions he said to an old servant whose hair was like the duke's: "Sit down, John. I must cut off another lock!"

A Genealogical Tree.

Briteman—What do you know about your genealogical tree?

Groucher—Genealogical tree be hanged! The only ancestral timber I know about is the aboriginal forest, where, according to Darwin, my remote progenitors used to swing by their tails.—Los Angeles Herald.

The Flag at Half Mast.

The custom of showing the flag at half mast originated from the way at sea of showing the pre-eminence one ship had over the other in time of warfare. The vanquished always had to lower its flag, while the victor's would be raised as high as possible in exultation. To lower a flag is an act of submission or betokens respect to a superior or is a signal of distress. The hoisting of a flag half mast high came to be used, therefore, as a sign of mourning and respect.

WELLSVILLE

Meeting of Sister And Brother By Accident in Wellsville.

Mrs. M. Story, widow of a once prominent Pittsburg broker, who figured in a romantic meeting here several days ago, is still in the city. She will probably leave for Pittsburg some time today. Mrs. Story is now resident of Kansas City, Mo., where she has been managing a hotel, which represents a part of the fortune which was left her by her husband. She is a daughter of the late Jacob Buttenberg, who died in East Liverpool about 10 years ago and was brought here for burial.

Jacob Buttenberg was related to Homer Laughlin, the East Liverpool potter, who is now in California. Mrs. Story and a brother Bert, now a traveling salesman for a Pittsburg concern, formerly lived in East Liverpool. Their meeting several days ago at the Metropole hotel was the first in ten years. It was purely accidental.

Bert returned last night from Alliance. He will resign his present position and go to Kansas City to assist his sister with the management of the hotel. Mrs. Story was in East Liverpool yesterday and spent some time visiting friends.

Include Parade, Picnic, Dancing Baseball and Many Other Sports.

A special committee of Trades and Labor Assembly held a meeting last evening at the home of F. A. Mcowell for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for the big picnic to be held on Labor day, September 1.

It was decided to hold the picnic in the Aten lots in the West End instead of on the creek bottom. It was also decided to erect a temporary dancing pavilion there to be covered with canvas. An East Liverpool orchestra will furnish the music.

An industrial parade will be held in the morning. Two base ball games will be played and there will be several races for prizes.

SUIT AGAINST CITY

Wheeling Man Wants Lot on Which Wellsville City Hall Stands.

A dispatch from Wheeling states that a suit for $50,000 against the city of Wellsville, O., has been filed by George Wells, of Wheeling. He wants possession of the ground on which stands the city hall, and all accrued rent and interest.

His grandfather gave the town a lot to be used for a market place, with the understanding that it should revert to his heirs, it is claimed.

Police Asked to Aid.

Mayor Fogo is in receipt of a card from the superintendent of the Ohio state reformatory at Mansfield, requesting him to put the city police force on the lookout for a young man known in the reformatory as Henry Edwards, No. 851, alias Harry Howard Enke, a printer 21 years old. He is from Cuyahoga county and has violated his parole.

Former Pastor Wedded.

Word has just been received by East End people announcing the wedding of Rev. W. H. Gamertzfelder, who was formerly the pastor of the First United Evangelical church, of this city, and Miss Edna Kopp, of Ashland, O. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride.

New Position for Spires.

Constable C. E. Spires lot a letter today from the postoffice at Marion, Ind., offering him a position as clerk there. He secured the offer through the influence of his brother, S. E. Spires, who is employed there. Mr. Spires will accept and leave next Monday. If he finds the position satisfactory he will resign as constable.

Want to Remain a City.

That Wellsville will soon become a village again is now taken as an almost assured fact and much regret is expressed. Mayor Fogo and the city solicitor will be in Columbus when the legislature meets and will exert all of their influence to keep Wellsville a city.

No Council Meeting.

Only two or three members of council appeared at the city hall last evening and no council meeting was held.

Sacred Nuts of Japan.

Although well known to travelers and collectors of curiosities, the horse nut, or "sacred nut," of Japan was almost wholly unknown to fruit and nut dealers in this country prior to 1888, when a New York commission merchant received the first large consignment. They are called "sacred nuts" because used in certain forms of Japanese worship, where they are placed on the altar and ignited. Being very rich in oil, they burn with a hot, bluish flame and give off a peculiar odor, the fumes being supposed to rise as an acceptable incense to the gods. They grow under water and have a leaf like an American lily, the form of the nut itself being an almost exact counterpart of an Asian buffalo's head, drooping horns and all. In the raw state they are hard and tasteless, but when cooked the flavor resembles that of boiled chestnuts. They are said to retain their edible qualities for upward of twenty years.

Very Polite.

"Here's an account of a man," said Mrs. Gadsby, "who hasn't spoken a word to his wife in three years."

"That's rather a rigid adherence to one of the rules of politeness," said Gadsby.

"Rules of politeness!" said Mrs. Gadsby in a scornful tone.

STEPPED OUT OF BED

Aged Resident of Chester Severely Injured on a Boat in a Novel Way.

Ralph Marsh, an aged resident of Chester, is lying at his home in Middle run, suffering from the effects of severe injuries sustained in a peculiar manner while on a lake steamer bound from Buffalo to Cleveland.

Mr. Marsh, in company with George Sheckler and Henry Laughley, was returning from a trip to Niagara Falls. The party took passage on a steamer at Buffalo on Saturday evening. Mr. Marsh was assigned to an upper berth. Some time during the night he either attempted to turn over or forgot where he was and stepped out of bed. At any rate he fell from the upper berth, alighting upon the hard floor with considerable force. Two ribs were broken and he was otherwise injured. It is thought he was also internally injured, but this cannot be ascertained at present.

The injured man's companions had much difficulty in making their patient comfortable during the remainder of the trip to Cleveland. At that point medical aid was secured, and Mr. Marsh was brought to this city yesterday. His advanced age is against him, but it is thought he will recover.

Funeral Held Today.

The funeral of Mrs. Levi Gardner took place from the family home in New Cumberland at 10 o'clock this morning. Owing to the prominence and wide acquaintance of the lady the funeral was very largely attended. Rev. W. A. Curfman, pastor of the Nessley M. P. chapel, officiated and the remains were interred in the cemetery at New Cumberland.

School Picnic.

A union Sunday school picnic from Brilliant is being held at Rock Springs park today. The trains arrived on the Panhandle, and it is estimated that 1,000 people are in attendance.

CHESTER NOTES.

A. P. Cunningham was a Wheeling business visitor yesterday.

A forcible detention case is pending in Justice Johnston's court.

A Precedent Established.

A Methodist clergyman in the upper portion of the city encountered a Celt one recent rainy Sunday standing close to the wall of the church in an effort to utilize the coping as a shield from the storm.

"Come inside," said the clergyman cheerily. "You'll be out of the wet, and you can have a seat while you're waiting for it to clear."

"No, thank yez," said the Celt emphatically. "I'll not go into th' house uv me inimies!"

"Well, that's rather harsh," answered the clergyman. "When our Lord was on earth, did he not go among his enemies?'

"Yis; he did that," assented the Celt with growing warmth, "and yez didn't do a ting to him, ayther!"—Philadelphia Times.

Due, Yesterday, Evidently to Inroads Upon the Banking Reserves.

New York, Aug. 19.—A dull and sagging stock market yesterday was the natural consequence of various evidences going to show that the expanding needs of the circulation are making increasing inroads upon banking reserves. The continued transfer of credits to foreign lenders through the medium of the exchange market mitigated the anxiety over the money outlook without entirely curing it. Besides the local money situation, the market was depressed by selling of stocks for London account, owing to hardening money rates there. The net earnings of railroads for June reported showed some decline in the southwest, owing to shortage in the corn movement, and intimations were given of probably similar results for July. The reported retirement of the president of the United States Steel corporation had some influence in the general market, although the stocks of that corporation were but little affected. Offsetting factors in the heaviness of the market were the strength of Louisville and Nashville on supposed progress in the financial readjustment; in Toledo, St. Louis and Western on rumors of Vanderbilt control; in Texas and Pacific on the alleged seeking of control by St. Louis and San Francisco; Chicago Terminal stocks on rumored plans of new tenants, and in a number of minor specialties. The closing tone was dull and heavy.

U. S. refunding 2s advanced ⅛ and the new 4s ¼ per cent on the last call.

French Citizens Opposed Closing of Catholic Schools, but Were Overcome.

Brest, France, Aug. 19.—The attempt made by the authorities yesterday to close the sisters' schools at Ploudaniel, Folgoet and St. Meen, the last villages in Brittany where unauthorized schools were still open, met with determined resistance.

At St. Meen the sisters were expelled and the school was closed after a two hours' struggle, during which a police commissary was wounded.

Later, after a long resistance, the closing of the school at Ploudaniel was effected by the authorities.

The school at Folgoet was also closed.

Paris, Aug. 19.—The Temps says Commandant LeRoy Ladurie, of the Nineteenth infantry, who refused to obey an order to aid in closing unauthorized schools, has been placed under arrest.

WILL SCHWAB RESIGN?

President of Steel Combine to Sail For Europe This Week—Health Said to Be Improved.

New York, Aug. 19.—It was learned last night that Charles M. Schwab proposes to sail for Europe Wednesday or Thursday. His friends stated that he is going to take a vacation and take two months visiting France, England and Austria. There were reports that he will resign, owing to alleged ill health.

It has been reported that the presidency would pass to James Gayley, the first vice president of the corporation. Other rumors have pointed to H. C. Frick.

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 19.—Mr. Schwab, who is staying at Loretto, is said to be in better health than any time since he arrived.

BOER GENERALS PLEASED.

Didn't See Fleet Review, Because Not Properly Dressed.

London, Aug. 19.—Montagu White, the former consul general in London of the Transvaal, has issued a statement, authorized by the Boer generals, as follows:

"The generals are proceeding to the continent for the purpose of greeting Mr. Kruger and Mr. Steyn and attending the funeral of General Lucas Meyer. Their present intention is to return to London at an early date for the transaction of business, but they have not decided on any fixed program. During their brief stay in London the generals have been the recipients of many invitations and kind messages of welcome, which they fully appreciate.

"The report that the decision of the generals not to visit the naval review was due to the influence of Mr. Fischer is not true. Their real reason for declining the invitation Saturday was that they did not consider their attire quite suitable for a ceremonious visit, and the necessarily short notice conveyed to them did not give them the time for necessary preparations. They were, however, glad of the opportunity of paying their respects to the king on the following day, after they had made the necessary purchases, and they are gratified at the kind manner in which they were received by his majesty."

Exploding a Theory.

At the beginning of the nineteenth century the French Academy of Sciences offered to give a prize to the first person who would solve the following problem: If you take a vase full of water and put a stone or any similar body in it, the water will flow over. If, however, you put into it a fish, the volume of which is equal to that of the stone, it will not flow over. Explain this phenemenon.

Learned essays on the subject poured in from all quarters, but the problem was not satisfactorily solved in any of them, and consequently the prize was not awarded.

In the following year the same question was again propounded, and for five years answers continued to pour in to the academy. Then it suddenly occurred to one of the academicians that, after all, the problem might be incapable of solution, and he determined to make a test for himself.

Filling a vase with water he put a stone into it and saw that the water flowed over. Then he took out the stone, filled the vase again with water and put into it a fish, the volume of which was the same as that of the stone, and saw, to his surprise, that the water again flowed over.

He told the academy of his discovery and the result was that the offer of a prize was at once withdrawn.

Misplaced Confidence.

An Irishman once applied for a job on board a certain ship.

"Well," said the captain, "where are your recommendations?"

"Shure, an' I haven't enny, sur."

"Can't take you, then; got a German here with fine recommendations; have to give the job to him."

Pat begged so hard, however, that the captain finally agreed to take him and the German both on a trial trip, the best man to have the permanent job.

They were well out at sea when a storm arose one day while Pat and the German were scrubbing the deck. A big wave came along and swept the German overboard with his bucket. Pat immediately picked up his bucket and started after the captain, whom he found below.

"Well, Pat, what's the matter now?" the captain inquired.

"Faith, sur, ye know that German what had such foine ricommindations?"

"Yes; what of him?"

"Begorra, sur, an' he's gone off with one of your buckets."

Difficult Dentistry.

The nawab of Rampur, whose domain is about 600 miles to the northwest of Calcutta, came down from his home to call on Dr. Smith, says a London paper, and brought 150 people with him to see about his mother's teeth.

She wanted a set of false teeth, and because Englishwomen had two sets the maharima must have two sets also. The nawab of Rampur is a Mohammedan; so of course the mother could not show her face.

Likewise on that account Dr. Smith had to go to Rampur to do the work. Two thousand miles to make two sets of false teeth! It cost the nawab 4,000 rupees.

The old woman lay back with her face covered, and the dentist worked at her mouth through a hole in a sheet.

A Question of Notes.

"Yes, sir," said the man with a frayed collar, "that land is worth $1,800 a foot, and only a year ago I could have bought it for a song."

"But you couldn't sing, eh?" cackled the funny man.

The man with the frayed collar eyed him distantly and haughtily and replied in cold, cutting tones:

"Oh, I could sing, but I couldn't get the right notes!"

And the funny man looked as crushed as an overripe strawberry at the bottom of the basket.—Exchange.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

BOOKS ARE REQUIRED.

This city, with a public library, that cost almost $50,000 and which is rest- ...ets with books of knowledge, con- ...ains not more than 10 volumes treat- ...es on ceramics and even some of ...ese cannot be placed in that class. ...n fact, a statement of the librarian ...s that many calls for books treating ...upon matters ceramic have been made ...or books were not in the library. ...This is to be regretted. If there is one ...department of the East Liverpool ...library that should be kept up more ...than another it is this department, and ...when the fact becomes generally ...known that a good set of books ...treating upon ceramics is kept at the ...library they will be used. There is ...no question of this, as it is admitted ...by both operatives and manufacturers ...that by reading works of this sort, a ...higher knowledge of the pottery in- ...dustry is obtained. There is now a ...movement on foot by the officials of ...the library to raise funds for the sole ...purpose of buying the best books ob- ...tainable on ceramics. This announce- ...ment is a pleasing one, and comes ...from one connected officially with the ...library. Just a few days ago and for ...the sum of $1,000 the Trenton free ...library was enabled to purchase one ...of the most valuable collections of ...books on ceramics that exist. There ...are other works of this character ...about the country, and if the officials ...of the local library have the funds at ...hand, a valuable collection of this ...character is sure to be secured. It is ...to be hoped that the time is not far ...distant when this can be accom- ...plished.

HAD THEM GUESSING.

Thousands of dollars are lost annu- ...ally by the manufacturing potters of ...this city from broken ware, but no ...one has seemed to take advantage of ...this small item, until about a year ...ago. Just a few weeks ago an interest- ...ing experiment was made. Experi- ...ments in the pottery industry count ...for much, and so in this instance. A ...small amount of biscuit ware was ...ground into a perfect pulverized ...state, and with a small amount of ...water a little portion of the pulverized ...biscuit was mixed in a sort of ...clay state. This was then placed in ...the biscuit kiln, then dipped and fired ...in a glost kiln. The effect was little ...less than wonderful and when the ...manufacturer shows this sample, or ...the result of his experiment to another ...manufacturer he has them guessing, ...and very hard at that. The piece that ...was fired is about as large as one's ...hand, and just a day or so was broken. ...Not even the glaze cracked. The ...body, however, showed itself to be ...porous, but with a little doctoring ...manufacturers claim that the porous ...part can be eliminated. Practically ...all the broken biscuit ware in this ...city is sold for purposes foreign to the ...manufacturing trade. The claim is ...now made that it will be but a short ...time until all the manufacturers will ...be grinding up all their broken bis- ...cuit, and working it over again. Some ...manufacturers have contended this ...point for months but it seems that no ...person has ventured to take the in- ...itiative.

MANY ARE IN TROUBLE.

Within the past two months the ...manufacturing potters of this city ...have been having all sorts of trouble, ...and it was so even so late as yester- ...day. The trouble has been the pre- ...dominance of the glaze, and in many kilns ...of glost ware blackheads have been ...thrown out, or else converted into ...thirds, where it should be firsts. It ...seems that the trouble lies in the mix- ...ture of the glaze. Not that the proper ...mixtures have not been used, but it seems that an inferior quality ...of some of the ingredients has landed ...in this city. Glaze is composed of ...boric acid, white lead, oxide of zinc, ...whiting and spar. Some manufactur- ...ers claim they discovered the difficul- ...ty in the acid, while others say that ...the trouble lay in other ingredients. ...Yesterday this trouble was experi- ...enced at the Harford pottery and at 11 ...o'clock in the morning the glost crew ...was sent home, and of course several ...other departments were not able to ...work during the afternoon. A member ...of the firm stated last evening that ...some changes in the glaze had been ...made and that the glost department ...would resume operations this morning. ...Similar trouble at Brunt's was experi- ...enced, and at that plant the difficulty ...lay in the acid. The matter has been ...reconciled. Such difficulties as these ...are to be regretted, but they will oc- ...cur, and no one can help it.

ANOTHER LOCAL.

Word has been sent to secretaries ...of a number of locals in this city by ...employes of the pottery at Tiltonville, ...asking for their transfer cards, and ...that they be forwarded to them not ...later than Thursday. It is presumed ...that the new local at Tiltonville, ...which will be a select one, will be for- ...mally organized Thursday evening. ...This local will be affiliated with the ...National Brotherhood of Operative ...Potters and the charter will be num- ...bered in the "sixties." No request for ...this paper will be made to Secretary ...T. J. Duffy until after the local is or- ...ganized.

MAKING IMPROVEMENTS.

All the clay presses at the East Liv- ...erpool pottery are being repaired, the ...work having been in progress since ...last Saturday afternoon. It was ex- ...pected that all changes would be ...completed by this afternoon. Anoth- ...er change is being made on the third ...floor of this plant, where a number ...of new dry rooms are being built. Car- ...penters have been working on the im- ...provements for a few days, and they ...will not complete their contract before ...tomorrow evening.

BROKE AN ANKLE.

Mrs. Nan Green, a finisher em- ...ployed at the Union, while visiting at ...the home of relatives in the East End ...Sunday evening, fell when about at ...the bottom of a pair of steps and ...broke her ankle. The fracture was re- ...duced at once, but it will be several ...days before Mrs. Green will be able ...to resume her work.

A VISITOR.

Daniel Fitzgerald, formerly a well ...known pottery workman of this city, ...now located at the Tiltonville plant, ...was in the city yesterday calling on ...his numerous friends. Mr. Fitzgerald ...stated that the Tiltonville shop was ...running quite well, and that judging ...from the manner orders were being re- ...ceived the shop would be operated con- ...tinuously.

GOODWIN'S TO START.

According to a statement of a mem- ...ber of the firm, the Goodwin pottery ...will resume operations in full in about ...two or three weeks. Some departments ...of this shop have been working for ...a few days, but the big shop has not ...been running full. The glost kilnmen ...at this shop started to work a few ...days ago.

Left Few Near Relatives.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. BOXERS WERE AGAIN ACTIVE.

Committed Murders and Destroyed Property in Western China, In June.

New York, Aug. 19.—The Methodist mission board has received by mail a number of reports from its agents in China concerning the recent local uprisings in China.

Rev. Joseph Beech, of Chung King, West China, writes under date of June 22, saying in part:

"Word has just been received from the Rev. W. Edward Manly and the Rev. Spencer Lewis, a superintendent of the mission, who are in that neighborhood, that the Red Lantern society, the local name for Boxers, has burned the chapel at Tien Ku Chiae, and killed the preacher and four other members."

Under date of June 30, the Rev. Mr. Beech writes concerning the uprising in West China, saying in part: "In addition to the destruction of the Tien Ku Chiae community, Wu Kwang Tsang has been destroyed, but most of the people escaped. Between Tsicheo and Chentu the extent of the trouble is unknown, but a letter from Brother Cady states there is considerable alarm at Chentu, but that the officials are confident there will be no serious trouble there. Throughout the country, however, there has been widespread destruction already, and it is probable that most of the Christians living outside walled cities, comprising several hundred persons, will lose all they have, if not life itself. There are now very many who have neither home, food nor clothing. Brother Spencer Lewis is doing what he can to assist them, and has secured about 50 taels from the officials for this purpose, and coffins to bury the dead. Brother Lewis telegraphs that the Boxers have been defeated. All is quiet here and the officials seem confident that the trouble will be confined to the country districts."

Bequests to Mission Boards.

New York, Aug. 19.—The will of the Rev. Hasbrouck DuBois, a minister of the Reformed Church in America, who died on Aug. 5, was filed for probate yesterday in the surrogate's office, and bequests to the board of foreign missions of the Reformed Church in America, to the board of domestic missions, and to the board of education of the church, $1,000 each.

FATAL LABOR RIOT.

Anthracite Strikers and Deputies Clashed at Nesquehoning, Pa.

Nesquehoning, Pa., Aug. 19.—In a clash between striking mine workers and deputies here last night Patrick Sharp, a striker, of Lansford, was shot and killed almost instantly by a deputy. The shooting caused considerable excitement for a time, but order was soon restored without any other persons being injured and the town became quiet. A deputy named Harry McElmoyle was arrested, charged with the killing of Sharp, and was taken to the county jail at Mauch Chunk.

Another version of the encounter says Sharp and three friends met the party of five deputies, who were on their way to work, and that Sharp walked up to one of the men, presumably McElmoyle, called him an "unfair worker," and told him that he would "be more of a man if he did not wear a star." He then made a lunge at the officer, whereat the latter drew his revolver and fired at Sharp, who fell to the ground, dead.

After the shooting the five officers made their way to the Nesquehoning colliery, where they were employed.

After the dead striker had been carried home about half of a mob of about 500 that had gathered started on a march over the mountain to Nesquehoning to wreak vengeance upon the deputies. Before they reached there the five officers were spirited away and taken to Mauch Chunk under a heavy guard.

Last night Baird Snyder, assistant superintendent of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company, appealed to General Gobin to send troops to Lansford to preserve order. He said that the entire Panther Creek valley from Nesquehoning to Mauch Chunk was in a riotous state and that serious trouble was feared before morning. General Gobin said that he could not send troops until an appeal had been made by Sheriff Gombert. Up to a late hour last night the sheriff had taken no action in the matter.

Quay Will Try to Settle Strike.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 19.—The committee representing the Public Alliance, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., held a conference with United States Senator Quay at his cottage on New Hampshire avenue last night for the purpose of devising some plan to end the present anthracite coal miners' strike. It was finally decided by the senator to attempt to bring President George F. Baer, of the Philadelphia and Reading railway, and John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, together in Philadelphia, probably next Friday. It is probable that other officials on each side of the controversy will be asked to attend the meeting.

BYERS CASE CONTINUED.

Judge Allowed Defendants 30 Days In Which to Answer.

Pittsburg, Aug. 19.—When the Byers case was resumed yesterday afternoon in common pleas court No. 1 the attorneys for the plaintiff and defendants asked the court to grant a continuance for 30 days in order to give the defendants time to prepare an answer. This Judge Robert S. Frazer did, and the case will not likely be concluded now before the equity trial list in November. No witnesses were examined in the case yesterday.

The plaintiff, Jacob Byers, a wealthy resident of Greensburg, asked the court to restrain his nephew, William S. Byers, and the Fidelity Title and Trust company from opening a box in the office of the trust company without an order of court and in the presence of an officer of the court. The plaintiff charges his nephew with misappropriating $175,000 worth of Mt. Pleasant Coke company bonds and about $50,000 in cash. An accounting also is asked for.

A MINISTER FOR CONGRESS.

Rev. Dr. Wood Announced He Would Be a Candidate.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 19.—Rev. Morgan Wood, D. D., pastor of Plymouth Congregational church and one of the most widely known ministers of his church in the United States, yesterday announced that he would be a candidate for congress on the Democratic ticket from the Twenty-first Ohio district. The Republican nominee is Hon. Theodore E. Burton, the present incumbent.

Dr. Wood has ministered in Detroit, New Orleans and Toronto. He has been pastor of Plymouth church, this city, for several years, and ranks high as a vigorous speaker.

Woman Found Shot After Quarrel.

Bridgeport, O., Aug. 19.—After a quarel with her husband, early yesterday morning, Mrs. Henry Kochnlein was found, after two reports were heard, with the side of her head in. She is dying. Her husband was taken to St. Clairsville jail, at his own request, he fearing violence of the people.

R. R. REMINGTON SUICIDED.

It Is Believed Miss Van Alen Broke Her Engagement to Marry Him.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 19.—Disappointment of a broken matrimonial engagement is believed to have been the cause of the suicide here yesterday of Robert Reading Remington, of New York. He shot himself three times in a club house here.

His engagement to Miss May Van Alen, daughter of James Van Alen, and granddaughter of Mrs. William Astor, has been discussed for some months. At first it was denied and then affirmed, but it is generally believed there was a definite engagement, which, however, was broken some three weeks ago. It is said that Mr. Van Alen was greatly opposed to the engagement from the beginning.

Since then Mr. Remington has been despondent, although when asked about the engagement he steadily affirmed that he was to be married in the fall. He left the city about a week ago, breaking up his domestic arrangements here and sending away all his effects. Last Thursday, however, he suddenly returned to Newport.

Mr. Remington was about 35 years of age and a member of the firm of Remington Bros., New York. He had always been known as a man of very quiet tastes. His death has caused a tremendous sensation here.

Last night Mr. Remington's brother telegraphed from New York to have the body prepared for burial. It will be taken to Pittsburg, the former home of the Remingtons.

DON'T EXPECT LEGAL BATTLE.

Arrival of Mrs. Fair's Relatives Was Being Awaited.

San Francisco, Aug. 19.—Judge Carroll Cook yesterday postponed the hearing of the application of Public Administrator Farnham for special letters of administration over the estates of Charles Fair and his wife until today.

Until Mrs. Hannah Nelson, the mother of the late Mrs. Caroline Fair, shall arrive here from Plainfield, N. J., it is highly improbable that any testament from either of the victims of the accident in France will be filed for record here.

"We are awaiting the arrival of Mrs. Fair's relatives," said Attorney Haggerty, "and don't by any means expect a legal battle, as has been intimated. Beyond that I can say nothing."

"There will be no contest over the will of Charles L. Fair, at least so far as Mrs. Oelrichs and Mrs. Vanderbilt are concerned," said Herman Oelrichs. "We are perfectly willing to let the matter rest as it stands, and if there is any contest it will come from the relatives on the other side."

LEISHMAN ACTS FIRMLY.

Turkey Has Not Kept Agreement With American Minister.

Constantinople, Aug. 19.—The non-execution by the Turkish government of agreements reached long ago on several questions affecting the interests of American citizens had led to somewhat strained relations between the United States legation and the porte. The United States minister, John G. A. Leishman, has informed the porte that he will not discuss other matters until the terms of the settlements already agreed upon are carried out.

Four Injured In a Wreck.

Bluffton, O., Aug. 19.—A Lake Erie and Western passenger train was derailed and wrecked at the crossing of the Northern Ohio and Lake Erie and Western road here yesterday. Charles Peeltner, fireman, of Lima, O., had a leg broken and was seriously hurt internally. A. Laurence, brakeman, Lima, O., had a fracture of the kneecap; W. P. Keptner, bridgeman, Fremont, O., ankle sprained; J. B. Considine, passenger, Portland, Ind., badly hurt.

Cortelyou Visited Mrs. McKinley.

Canton, O., Aug. 19.—Secretary to the President George B. Cortelyou spent several hours here yesterday. He and Judge W. R. Day are executors of the estate of the late President McKinley, which makes occasional visits to Canton by Mr. Cortelyou necessary. He spent most of the day with Mrs. McKinley and accompanied her to the cemetery, where he laid a cluster of flowers on the casket of the man with whom he had been so closely associated.

Alger May Not Be a Candidate.

Detroit, Aug. 19.—When General R. A. Alger was asked yesterday if he was ready to announce his candidacy for the United States senate to succeed the late James McMillan, he said: "Upon mature consideration I have decided to consider the matter a few days longer before arriving at a determination. I shall reach a decision this week." This is taken to mean that General Alger may not be a candidate after all.

Justice Shiras to Retire.

Pittsburg, Aug. 19.—George Shiras III confirmed the report, yesterday, that Justice Shiras is to retire from the United States supreme bench. He said it will be some time within the present year.

Filipino Labor Leaders Arrested.

Manila, Aug. 19.—Isabelo De Los Reyes and four other labor leaders were arrested here yesterday, charged with threatening to assassinate certain striking cigar makers if they returned to work.

THE MOROS REPULSED,

Rebellious Natives Renew Attacks on Outposts and Pack Trains.

General Chaffee, Who Recommended Active Hostilities, Given Permission to Commence a Campaign—This, After President Had Considered It.

Manlia, Aug. 19.—The Moros in Mindanao are renewing their attacks upon the outposts and pack trains of the American column at Lake Lanao, which is under the command of Captain J. J. Pershing, of the Fifteenth cavalry. The Americans have successfully repulsed the Moro attacks and have suffered no losses.

The commanders of the American forces on Mindanao report aggressive action against the Moros to be necessary and ask permission to move against Bacolod and other strongholds of the hostile Mohammedans. There are about 2,000 American soldiers on Mindanao available for the desired aggressive movement. It is believed this number is sufficient to defeat the Moros, although it would possibly be necessary to strengthen their base before undertaking the movement.

Washington, Aug. 19.—A cable dispatch has been received from General Chaffee, stating that in his judgment an active campaign against the Moros in Mindanao was necessary in order to curb the opposition that has been growing against United States authority. The dispatch was considered of sufficient importance to be repeated to President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay.

General Chaffee has been directed to use his own discretion in the matter and will no doubt engage in an aggressive movement against the insurgent Moros. Some time before Secretary Root left Washington the Moro situation was under consideration, and from a dispatch then at hand the secretary was of the opinion that the Moros must be dealt with severely before they would respect the authority of the United States.

CAMPAIGNS AGAINST LADRONES.

Hot Fighting by the Constabulary. Casualties on Both Sides.

Manila, Aug. 19.—A force of native constabulary engaged a band of Ladrones in a sharp fight last Saturday near Calocan, about four miles north of Manila. The arrival of reinforcements for the constabulary won them the victory. Four members of the constabulary were killed and one was wounded. The Ladrones left three of their number dead, but carried off their wounded.

The chase of the Cavite Ladrones through the mountains of that province continues. Forces of native constabulary have had encounters with the bands of Felizardo and Montallon. Several of the Ladrones were killed or captured and a quantity of their supplies was destroyed.

Newspaper Men Found Guilty.

Manila, Aug. 19.—Judge Ambler, who has conducted the trial of Frederick Dorr, proprietor, and Edward O'Brien, editor of Freedom, who were charged with libeling Benito Legarda, a Filipino member of the civil commission, announced yesterday that he found the defendants guilty. The trial of Dorr and O'Brien on a charge of sedition began yesterday.

AMERICAN CLAIM IS RIGHT.

Old Russian House and Monuments Found Which Establish Alaskan Line.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 19.—Skaguay advices say the question of the destruction of an old Russian monument in the disputed territory between Alaska and British Yukon has been settled. S. Weitzman, a merchant of Haines, arrived in Skaguay with the news that Lieutenant Owens had found two monuments in perfect repair and definitely located the place where a third one had been destroyed. One of the monuments discovered is about 19 miles above Rainey Hollow. The other is on the Tahkeena river, 50 miles from the coast.

The third monument has been destroyed within a few months. Owens also found an old storm house on the summit. This was called the boundary house when the Russians occupied the country. This establishes beyond all doubt that the Russians did occupy the territory now disputed and that the boundary line, according to the treaty, is where the Americans claim it to be.

Starved to Death; Money With Him.

Salt Lake, Utah, Aug. 19.—The dead body of Peter Anderson, known as "The Hermit Prospector of Park City," has been found in his lonely cabin near the Anchor mill, in the Park City mining district. Anderson had evidently been dead for weeks. It is believed he died from starvation, though $1,700 in cash was found hidden in the cabin. It is believed that fully $10,000 lies to his credit in various banks. His only known relatives live in Sweden.

Cure all distressing, dangerous kidney ills.
Plenty of evidence to prove this.

Mrs. Caroline White of 225 Railroad street, East End, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and found great relief from the treatment, although I am 70 years of age, and had about given up all hope of ever being helped. I took medicine and my back ached just the same, grew stiff and lame when sitting long or when lying in bed and sharp twinges of pain and other symptoms convinced me my kidneys were out of order. Always on the lookout for anything that might bring relief, when I heard Doan's Kidney Pills so highly spoken of, I got a box at the W. & W. Pharmacy. After using that for a short time I could plainly notice the good effects they were causing. I continued some time longer and gradually but surely improved. I found Doan's Kidney Pills a splendid remedy and advise others to try them feeling confident if they do so they will have no cause to regret it."

Robert M. Douglas, who has been employed as chief engineer by Charles A. Smith, since January 1, 1900, has tendered his resignation, and tomorrow morning will leave for Pittsburg, where he will become associated with a land company which was recently formed in that city for the purpose of developing certain lands, within six miles of St. Louis. Mr. Douglas will have charge of a number of surveyors, and will go to St. Louis about next Monday, where he will commence work immediately. His family will remain in this city until the first of the year, at least, after which they will go to St. Louis.

The company with which Mr. Douglas has been associated himself will locate a number of new factories in a new town that will be laid out, including glass factories, plate glass works, sheet steel mills and iron mills. A street railroad will also be built from the new town to St. Louis.

THE MODE IN SKIRTS.

Tendency to Return to the Graceful Draped Effects.

[Special Correspondence.]

New York, Aug. 12.—Anything would be a welcome change after such a long period of snug habit backed skirts, for while one woman in a hundred looks fairly well in them the rest would do better to wear some other and less trying form. It so falls out as the matter is now that those whose figures are not exactly adapted to these severe lines and close fit find themselves obliged to wear some kind of so called "improver," and no matter how artfully they are made they always show their presence, and though the wearer thinks that no one could possibly tell she wore them they are in full evidence to any one who can see.

I find so many of the new skirts now in course of construction being copied from models that I can confidently assert that before cold weather comes we shall be wearing not only lots of postillons, but also skirts with tabs all around the waist hanging down quite long, and besides these there will be many skirts with the cuirass at the hips, from there the rest being laid in plaits nearly to the bottom; there they will be left to form a flounce. There are also several styles of skirts to waists which will fall from three to ten inches below the waist line. These are called basques, and they are open in front and do not quite close in the back.

Very many of the new skirts show a decided ambition to return to the graceful draped effects of yore. One elegant heavy black silk had a panel on each side the front breadth, and this was trimmed with rows of castle braid passementerie lengthwise. The front breadth was cut perhaps a third of a yard longer than the lining and gathered at the edges and held full so that the center drooped about two inches.

Some of the dresses have a sort of cuirass made of lace laid over the snug skirt and the skirt itself trimmed to give the idea of a specially shaped cuirass. Others are shirred and have trou trou insertion with narrow black velvet ribbon run in. In this case the waist is to be trimmed in the same manner, and the style is suitable only for sheer fabrics or those which fall in soft, heavy lines like crêpe de chine.

I notice quite a number of dresses for fall with the skirt cut on the same narrow flowing lines as those for the past season, but the arrangement of the trimming suggests panels and draping at the front or the sides. I saw one beautiful brown cloth dress, the skirt laid in box plaits from top to bottom, widening out at the bottom, and having three rows of black Hercules braid in gradual widths. There was a deep yoke at the hips, and this had three rows of the same kind of braid, but in narrower widths. The belt was made of one row of the wide and stiffened. This was simple, yet the wearisome monotony of the perfectly plain skirt was broken.

More than I can mention of the new tailored suits are made with basque finish at the waist. Some are made to open down the back and fasten with dozens of small black buttons. When there have trimming down every seam, they become very dressy. One made of fine black broadcloth had six rows of white stitching down every seam all around the skirt and six rows around the bottom, and it buttoned from top to bottom. Many have the front breadth made narrow and left quite plain, while there is a shaped and graduated flounce extending all the rest of the way around. This may be made with clusters of narrow tucks, headed with lace, or it may be left plain. A few clusters of tucks at the top of the skirt to fit it to the figure are often seen, but few of the new skirts are quite plain around the hips.

Irish the Language of Lovers.

The Irish language is above all others the language of lovers. HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature and of Matters About Town.

Homestead Here Next—The East Liverpool baseball team will play with Homestead on the home grounds Friday and Saturday.

Miss House Dying—On account of the serious condition of Miss Bird House, the Junior League social, which was to have been held tonight at the M. E. parsonage, has been postponed. She is thought to be dying at her home on Mulberry street.

The Case Was Settled—George Bumberger was before 'Squire McCarron yesterday charged with stealing a bucket of ice cream from William Feist's confectionery store. The matter was settled, Bumberger paying for the ice cream and costs.

Circus Attached—The Great American circus, which was organized here last month, has gone to the bank at Gallipolis under an attachment. It was towed by the C. J. Reynolds. It is understood the company will be re-organized and enlarged for the coming season.

Excursion to Moscow—The Christian Endeavor society of the Methodist Protestant church will take a pleasure trip to Moscow this evening. They will go to Wellsville on a street car, then to Congo on the ferry boat and will finish the trip in hay wagons.
PERS—

Work on New Sewer—Contractor John A. George began the construction of the Rural Lane sewer this morning. Contractor Rinehart was granted the contract, but for some reason it was never carried out. The present contractors propose to push the work with all possible speed.

Ferrall Family Reunion—The reunion of the Ferrall family of this county will take place August 27 at the old homestead at Columbiana. N. S. Ferrall and wife, of this city, leave tomorrow for Columbiana and will remain there until after the reunion. There will be at least 300 of the family at the reunion from all sections of the country.

Scalded Her Hands—Miss Kate Tullis, residing north of the city, met with a very painful accident yesterday, and it will be some time before she is able to use either hand. While preparing dinner the young lady accidentally upset a kettle of scalding water, the contents of the kettle spilling upon her hands. They were badly burned.

Twenty Made Ten—With the two couples united in marriage by Justice H. P. McCarron Saturday afternoon, the total number of ceremonies performed by that magistrate since July 21 footed up ten. It is thought this is the largest number ever performed by any justice in the same length of time. The 'squire is very proud of the record, and attributes the remarkable circumstance to his extraordinary personal charms and the fact that he is able to guarantee a knot that will stick.

Mor Testimon Needed.

Lisbon, Aug. 19—(Special)—The commission recently issued to take the testimony of Elmer L. Roninger, a witness to the will of the late John G. Beatty, was returned to court this morning, and an effort was made to probate the will of the deceased. It was found however that Ida M. Trotter, another witness, lives in Dixmont, Pa., and is beyond the jurisdiction of the court, and a commission was issued to take her evidence.
